DEAD IN EARNEST.

The Battle for Temperance in Benton County,

From The Oregon White Ribbon.

One of our Corvallis members was disturbed at nearly midnight by a man who had evidently ridden in hurriedly from a small town eighteen miles distant. He was anxious to see her husband, a lawyer, on business. The tired man got up and dressed, curious (not being a doctor) what the business could be for which the day was not long enough. It was to attest the man's signature to a remonstrance petition to be brought next day into court, and so thoroughly in earnest was he, that, having discharged his errand, he was soon hurrying home again to be ready for his next day's work. These people at Monroe are in deadly earnest; the rum party undoubtedly so, who had been discovered to have forged signatures on their petition, and forced others by intimidating threats of rough usage, and who announce their intention of putting an end to the new minister, because he has stirred up all this temperance ferment. They knocked the last liquor seller who tried to introduce a saloon out of court last December. It was the same minister who telegraphed for our national organizer, Mrs. Della Cex, to come and give an address after the Thanksgiving dinner, then to organ-in M^{10} Contraction M^{10 perance ferment. They knocked the ize a W. C. T. U.

A triend of mine, a physician, did a rich manufacturer a vast service in the way of his profession. When the obliged man asked for his account he requested a deduction for prompt payment, and this being declined, grumbled over the amount. The doctor was immovable. "You are at liberty," he said, "to pay nothing or all." "But this is business," an wered the other; "why not discuss it like any other business?" "I am not a business man," said my friend; "I belong to a profession. I sell that which no man can weigh or measure.' Finally the bill was paid, and then the manufacturer, suddenly changing his tone, said, "Well, now that the business is completed, I should like you to accept this as a slight proof of our gratitude." It was a check for thrice the amount of the debt. The doctor said, "No; I never allow a man to overpay me." The next day the check was sent to a hospital in

"I know it will be large, but you do the work and I will pay you for it." "Yes, I know you will," persisted the man; but I think you had better know just what you will be expected to pay. That room at Gramercy park brought That room at Gramercy park brought me $50,000." The statesman got over his infatuation immediately and told the decorator that he would call on him later. - Washington Cor. Cleveland

Bad Blood. Impure or vitiated blood is nine times out of ten caused by some tions out of ten caused by some form of constipation or indiges-tion that clogs up the system, when the blood naturally be-comes impregnated with the el-fete matter. The old Sarsaparillas attempt to reach this condition by attacking the blood with the drastic mineral "potash." The potash theory is old and obsolete. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is modern. It goes to the seat of the trouble. It arouses the liver, kidneys and bowels to healthful action, and invigorates the circulation, and the impurities are quickly carried off through the natural channels.

Try it and note its delightful action. Chas. Lee, at Beamish's Third and Market Streets, S. F., writes: "I took it for vitiated ood and while on the first bottle became convinced of its merits, for I could feel it was working a change. It cleansed, purified and braced me up generally, half mile away, and fearing a collision I told Mayo to get the 'flam' lighted, while I would arouse the crew.

"Before the 'flam' could be lighted the steamer was upon us, striking the Pearl on the port side and cutting her almost in two.

"We began to sink. I cut the lash-ings of the boat, turned her over, but we could not launch her, as Mayo's arm could not faunch her, as Mayo's arm had been broken by flying timber. "We got into the boat and she floated off. I saw the steamer back astern then proceed on her course, notwithstanding that I yelled myself hoarse for aid.

"In a few minutes the schooner sank head foremost, and we came very near being drawn down.

We were alone on the ocean, as not one of our shipmates could be seen cling-ing to the wreckage of our vessel. But, worst of all, we had neither cars, water nor provisions

"The heavy sea that was running at the time broke over the boat, and I tore up the bottom boards, fastened them to the rope at the bow and threw them overboard. These answered as a drag and kept her head up to the sea.

"All that night we huddled together to keep warm, expecting each moment would be our last.

"Morning dawned, but it was a sad dawning, as Mayo, overcome by the pain of his broken arm, lay stretched out in the bottom of the boat gasping for the want of a drink of water.

"Throughout that day many an anxious glance I cast over the waters. There was no sail in sight, and the delirion cries of Mayo was something awful. Then the storm abated. Next morning I found myself clasped in the arms of the corpse of Mayo.

corpse of Mayo. "This was terrible, yet he must be buried. So I raised the body as gently as possible and launched it into the sea. "I watched the body sink, but what was my horror when it rose face up-ward. Having nothing for a sinker I took one of the boards and paddled away from the terrible sight. fact may be, it is nevertheless artificial; mineral coloring matter being used for this purpose. The effect is two-fold. It not only makes the tes a bright, shiny green, but also permits the use of "off-color" and worthless tess, which, worked off as a good quality of tea. An eminent authority writes on this subject: "The manipulation of poor teas, to give them a finer appearance, is carried on exten-sively. Green teas, being in this country especially popular, are produced to meet the demand by coloring cheaper black kinds by glazing or facing with Prussian blue, tumeric, gypsum, and indigo. This method is so gen-eral that very little genuine uncolored green lea is offered for sale." It was the knowledge of this condition of

It was the knowledge of this condition of affain that prompted the placing of Beech's Tes before the public. It is absolutely pure and without color. Did you ever see any genuine uncolored Japan tes? Ask your grocer to open a package of Beech's, and you will see it, and probably for the very first time. It will be found in color to be just between the artificial green tea that you have been accustomed to and the black teas. It draws a delightful canary color, and is so fragrant that it will be a revelation to tea-drinkers. Its purity makes it also more sconomical than the artificial teas, for less of it is required per cup. Sold only in pound packages bearing this trade-mark :
