America's Paper Making Capacity. The United States has a capacity for producing about 15,250,000 pounds of paper annually, not counting the idle mills, of which at present about seventy are reported, out of a total of 1,180. Of this enormous product some 3,785,000 pounds are used in printing newspapers and books, and 212,800 pounds more go to help bind the books printed. It is estimated that 498,000 pounds are consumed by the building trades; 3,176,000 pounds of wrapping paper are used and 590,000 pounds of writing papers. An 590,000 pounds of writing papers. An important item is the production of nearly 1,600,000 pounds of press, straw and wood pulp "boards." The produc-tion of "artificial leather," fortunately for the purchasers of shoes, has been de-creasing since 1884, when 129,000 pounds of this material were produced. The most rigid economy is practiced in pa-per making; hence the high degree of mechanical skill and executive ability connected with this industry as com-pared with the cost of the product.--New York Telegram.

Change of Fifty Years.

The tardy justice done to women in the passing of the women's property act in England and America was the direct outgrowth of the wages system. The fact that woman had no right in her earnings, inherited property, or even in her personal belongings, until recent years, took away all stimulus to active money making effort. Driven to it by the failure of husbaad or father to pro-vide for her wants, she could not hold any possession from the grasp of the selfish, cruel, tyrannical or degraded male relative who possessed legal power over her. The change in these serflike conditions has all occurred within the past fifty years, and it is marvelous.-Jenny June's "Thrown on Her Own Resources.

used to tell a story about Catcher Flint. When the Chicago Ball club called on the president in Washington each mem-ber of course shook hands with the executive. When the president's hand was released by "Old Silver" the president was seen to quickly thrust it into the pocket of his coat. Then he felt about pocket of ms coat. Then he felt about in his pocket a hit, took his hand out and looked at it with some surprise, re-marking, "Oh, I beg pardon; I thought you had given me a handful of wal-nuts."—Chicago Post.

Three Small Trees. Keampfer is quoted as describing a trio of trees he saw in a box 11/2 inches broad, 4 inches long and 3 inches deep, for which the owner asked the traveler the modest sum of $500. The three deni-zens of the box were a bamboo, a monthly blooming plum tree and a blue leafed pine, all perfectly formed and seemingly enjoying their dwarfed existence.—St. Louis Republic.
