Two Kinds of Courage

In some of the everyday occurrences of life women exhibit much more moral courage than men. You can see that on the "L" cars if you use your eyes. When a man retains his seat while a woman endeavors to maintain her balance by hanging to a strap in front of him, he generally makes a pretense of not seeing her. If he has a paper with him he will appear to be absorbed in its perusal. If he cannot avail himself of that convenient screen, he will pretend to be engaged in such deep meditation as to be oblivious to all that is going on around him. In one way or another he will betray the fact that his conscience is making a coward of him and that he is trying to cheat it.

It is very different with the average woman. Who that travels much in the "L" cars hasn't seen her often drop her child into a seat that has just been vacated, while women in various stages of ess are standing up all around her? She has paid no fare for the child; she could very well continue to hold it in her lap; she knows that she is making some woman stand who would otherwise get a seat. But is she abashed? Does she act as if she were ashamed of herself? Does she seek to avoid the glances that are bestowed upon her by hiding her face benind a newspaper? Not a bit of it. She doesn't let her conscience make a coward of her. She looks the people about her square in the eyes without flinching. She says, or rather seems to say, "Well, I know that you don't like it; but what are you going to do about it?"

If this isn't moral courage what would you call it?-New York Herald.

A Good Day's Find. Some years ago a plowman at work in Cornwall had the good fortune to strike a kind of urn and scatter a number of coins, which on examination proved to be Roman, many of them of the time of the first emperor. They were of various sizes, and generally in a state of good preservation. The man collected about 1,600 of them, and, as he was ignorant of their value, disposed of them at a penny apiece; but undoubtedly at that rate he would be well satisfied with his day's work.—London Tit-Bits.

How the Gadfly Lays Its Eggs. An insect known in the west as the gadfly attacks horses, laying its eggs on the animals. The horse licks itself and conveys the eggs to its stomach, where they are hatched, the worms clinging to the stomach walls. Very often they bore through the stomach and kill the horse.—Washington Letter.

The Place for Wicked Boys.

The bad little boys will relish this: "Henry, you are such a naughty little fel-low that you are not fit to sit with those good boys on the bench. Come up here and sit beside me," exclaimed an exaspersted teacher. -Once a Year.

TOWERS RICHLY LINED WITH GOLD.

Wealth in the Old Chimneys Where the Bonanza Ores Were Refined.

For nearly a quarter of a century two tall towers have stood at the foot of Hyde street, near Leavenworth, almost on the edge of the beach. One rises to a height of 110 feet and the other reaches more than fifty feet in the air. They are both very broad and thick, and they have brick enough in them to construct several buildings.

They are relies of the flush old days of the Comstock mining era, when Flood, O'Brien, Fair and others banded together and erected the famous Selby Smelting and Refining works. There, from the bonanza days of 1860 to as late as 1885, the great chimneys belched forth fire and smoke. They never stop-ped. Wreaths of flame and volumes of soot circled in the air over the domes at night time, while hundreds of men toiled in and about the works, cutting and shoveling ore and slag, molding bars of bullion and refining it to pure silver, gold, lead and copper.

In 1885 the Selby company concluded to move its works. It was known that the old underground five that connected the furnaces with the chimneys, as well as considerable of the ground all about, was permeated with gold and silver set-tlings and solid metal. On the advice of a skilled European expert the com-pany dug up the ruins as well as a large amount of soil to the depth of five or six feet and transferred it by tons to the new works at Port Costa. There the stuff was run through the works, and it is said realized not less than $500,000. Selby & Co. did not dream that in the towers which were left standing and in the million tons of slag and mineral permeated soil much wealth remained. The ground was sold and nothing was thought about it for a long time.

Some time ago W. B. Cluff, the well city, acquired the ground on which the old works and the present slag pile and chimneys remain. It consists of five fifty-vara lots, or 2½ acres. Meantime he had several experts well. he had several experts make examina-tion of the brick towers and the surroundings. They reported that the metal and black dust of the towers was a veritable mine of wealth, and that the grimy matter that filled the interstices and in one form or another permeated the brick reeked with valuable minerals. Also that the gray slag which had been carted away from the blazing furnaces in primitive days contained large quantities of gold and silver and should be worked over. Promptly thereupon Mr. towers and the debris. He is said to have paid $40,000 for the allowers. have paid $40,000 for the chimneys alone. His object is to work them up and get the money out of them.

"I do not think I will have any trouble in getting the gold, silver and other mineral out," he said yesterday. "It was on the advice of an English expert that Selby & Co. took a lot of the debris to Port Costa, and I am informed they got over $500,000 out of that. Several skilled mining men have come to me lately and offered to buy me out or work the chimneys, slag and soil on a percentage. I have not closed with anybody and do not think I shall. There is an immense amount of slag there. In some places it is 200 feet deep. It all contains gold, silver and lead, with some copper. I have had the ground assayed around there, too, and it all shows up well. In some places it is very rich."

Mr. Cluff's intention is to tear down the great fowers which have a classification. A DVENT CHRISTIAN CHURCH.—Presching an in-the Y. M. C. A. rooms every Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school mediately after morning service. J. A. Orchard, pastor.

A Judge's Jocose Retort.

"I think the late Judge Devens," said Mr. Arthur Macy to me the other day, "was the greatest after dinner speaker I ever heard. I remember a striking instance of his readiness in jocose retort. He made a five minute speech at a club dinner, and in the course of his remarks he established his claim to his place at the dinner by instancing his authorship of a large volume that was made up of tragedy and comedy and of many startling phases—some dramatic, some ludi-crous, some pathetic—of human life and "The book was the 142d volume of Massachusetts laws. Immediately a member was on his feet and thanking the judge. He had been on a jury once, and the justice who was trying the case said that a verdict should be rendered unhesitatingly in accordance with a decision that was contained in that very volume of which the judge had just spoken. The verdict was rendered impodiately and the increase a proposed a spoken. The verdict was rendered immediately and the juryman secured a good night's rest, for which he was thankful to Judge Devens and his book.

"Without a moment's hesitation, Judge Devens replied, 'If the gentleman will imitate the example of the justice of whom he speaks, and peruse the entire volume that I have spoken of, I assure him that he will secure many a good night's rest."—Boston Globe.

A Rich but Unapproachable Country. There are said to be five counties in Missouri and eleven in Arkansas, ex prising a strip of country 125 miles square, that have no railroad communisquare, that have no railroad communi-cation with the outside world, and are yet wonderfully rich in zinc ore. This section of the country lies south and west of the Memphis railroad, north and west of the Iron Mountain, south and east of the St. Louis and San Francisco and north of the Arkansas river. The zinc carbonates of this region yield 88 per cent, and the "jack" 60 per cent, of pure sinc ore.

A traveler, Mr. W. E. Winner, Cansas City, says that he found in the Kansas City, says that he found in the mountain a cave even larger than the Mammoth cave. The manner of life of the people is extremely primitive. They live in log houses without windows. Bacon is their main staple of diet and tobacco their only solace. They seldem work as long as they have food and tobacco in the house. But they are virtuous, peaceable and kindly disposed to the stranger.—Pittsburg Dispatch. PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

Radical English Fashlous Don't Go. The recent refusal to sanction with the customary prompt enthusiasm several of the most radical changes in the regime that have been made of late years by London swells has had a decidedly by London swells has had a decidedly discomfiting effect upon our English consins. Their confidence of leadership has received naturally a severe shock in consequence. From all accounts the London swell mob is passing through a period of experimentalism. As a result men's fashions abroad have not been so unsettled in fifty years.

The heavy swells continue groping aimlessly after the clusive innovation. For their independence at this time, therefore, Americans have cause for self congratulation—the more particularly so on account of the very divergent character of some of the foreign ultra speculations. Advanced copies of the recent London fads in coats and top coats, had they been tried suddenly on the New York public, would have created almost a riot in the streets. The English swell, be it known, can dress him-self up as his fancy dictates and the yeomanry makes no outcry.

Now that we have thrown off the shackles of slavish emulation and blithely accept or reject what we want, or what does not appeal to the sense of the fitness of things, the English fashion framer will come down from his oracular eminence and in the future pose with ameliorated despotism in the light of guide, philosopher and friend. I am aware that the sentiments above set forth would have been regarded a few years ago as rank heresy, but they veri-fy the aphorism of Brer Rabbit that "the world do move."-Clothier and
