ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

Conservatives Afraid to Fix a Date to Adjourn Parliament.

THE LIBERALS ARE WIDE AWAKE.

Dissolution is Considered by all Not to be Very Far Off.

ULSTER MOVEMENT DEVELOPING.

Timothy Healy said to be the Obstacle to a Reconciliation of the Irish Factions.

LONDON, May 16.—It is stated on excellent authority that the real object of the government in making so much secrecy about the date of the dissolution is to catch the liberals napping. The conservative leaders are afraid if they were to set a day the liberals and their friends abroad would at once begin in the most earnest manner to prepare for the struggle. But, while there is no doubt about the dissolution, there will be a disposition to put off active preparations. The most significant indication that dissolution is not far off is the activity of the conservatives and their liberal-unionist allies.

Everywhere an earnest canvass is being carried on with a view to ascertain the strength of the respective parties. The conservatives are well satisfied with the results of their canvass so far. They do not expect the overwhelming majority of 1886, but they are confident of victory. The Ulster movement is developing an importance which causes the liberals much anxiety. The nonconformist ministers, who have been sent as political missionaries from Ulster to the English nonconformists, are meeting with a better reception than they expected, and everywhere the nonconformist liberals are being appealed to not turn over their fellow-religionists in Ireland to the mercies of a Catholic home-rule parliament.

These appeals are being carried into the home and the workshop as well as the chapel, and it is claimed that many of the English nonconformists have already been converted to the side of the Ulster brethren. The weakness of the Irish national cause consists in the bitter antagonism aroused by the utterances of Timothy Healy. While Healy remains prominent in the federation, a reconciliation of the Irish factions seems impossible. Healy continues as bitter as ever in his expressions relating to the Parnellites, and they are as bitter as ever against him. Nothing short of Healy's retirement would be satisfactory to the friends of the late Irish leader, and Healy will not retire. Consequently it seems certain that the Parnellites and the anti-Parnellites will go into the general election opposed to each other, and the conservatives are certain that they can capture several seats as a result of the Irish division.

The anti-Parnellite leaders are reported to be much disappointed at the practical failure of the attempt to raise funds in America, and they are beginning to be convinced that, while some prominent Irishmen in America may contribute to the national cause, as represented by the anti-Parnellite federation, the dollar of the workman, or of the servant girl, which formed the bulk of the contributions in the past for the support of the Irish cause, when united under Parnell, will not be given to the avowed antagonists of Parnell. The scene at Cork Friday night shows that in Ireland, factional hatred is not dying out.

Against Type Foundries.
MINNEAPOLIS, May 16.—An application has been made in the district court for a receiver of the Minneapolis matrix company, on the ground that the directors are trying to wreck it. The company owns patents on a new system of printing valued at $3,000,000, and other assets worth $600,000. The matrix company have a system by which various newspapers scattered over the world, may produce the same matter daily, simultaneously.

Gen. J. B. Gordon, president of the United Confederate veterans, has appointed a committee of one from each of the Southern states to present a memorial before the legislature of each state, asking them to vote a life pension to the widow of Jeff Davis.

Will Apply Every Test.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—It is expected that everything possible will be done that can in any way be trumped up to thwart the purpose of the people to hold in check the vast speculative and corporate influence of the United States. This influence will not allow congress to pass any measure for the relief of the people of the United States if possible to prevent it, hence it is said today that Judge Sage, of the United States district court of Ohio, has rendered a decision which declares the river and harbor act of congress unconstitutional so far as it gives the secretary of war judicial powers. The case grew out of an order from the secretary of war, who furnished the Muskingum county commissioners plans and specifications for constructing a span for the bridge near Zanesville, O., which the commissioners had not the money to carry out. The case will be appealed and made a test case.

A "Royal Wedding" Rowen.

DETROIT, May 17.—Edie Mitchell, once a beautiful girl, whose marriage in 1874 to Count Tinus Eduardus Kooschel, of France, attracted so much notice, and was called a royal wedding, died in a tenement, at her former home in Syracuse, N. Y., yesterday. It is said there is no trace in her face of its former loveliness. The count, as he called himself, came here to study art. He occupied a handsome suite of rooms in a prominent hotel, and had a retinue of servants. After the marriage, the couple enjoyed an extensive wedding trip, and settled in Detroit. The unfortunate bride soon learned that the man was without honor or resources, and that he had another wife in New York. She then returned to Syracuse, and has lived here unnoticed. The "count" was an artist of French or Austrian extraction, and his name was said to be Edward Tinus.

By the Bomb Route.

CHICAGO, May 17.—Several times the false Messiah Teed has been threatened, and yesterday a bomb was discovered under his house, at Washington Heights. An examination, it is said, revealed it to be of a very destructive character. The discovery was accidental and it is believed to indicate that the threats of the residents of the suburb against Teed are not of an empty character.

Senator Barbour's Funeral.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Yesterday, at the funeral of Senator Barbour, for the first time in the history of that body, a priest of the Roman Catholic Church conducted the religious portion of the ceremony, the deceased being a member of that faith. The eulogy was delivered by Senator Kenna, and the customary resolutions were adopted.

Flood News by Telegraph.

The Bowman dike, at East St. Louis, Ill., which protected a large section of land north and east, has broken, and hundreds of acres of land are submerged. The Bonnet Carre levee, eighteen miles above New Orleans, on the east bank of the river, broke on the 16th. The opening is 100 feet wide and fifty feet deep.

The Missouri river continues to rise, but the swell is not so great at St. Louis. Another foot will cause untold damage. Such a rise is entirely probable, as both the Mississippi and the Missouri rivers are still rising.

The waters of the Kaw and Missouri, at Kansas city, are receding, and the panic in Argentine and Armourdale is subsiding, and people are returning to their homes. In the latter place all the big packing houses have resumed business.

Commencing at Happyville, eight miles west of Whitehall, the Illinois river extends from bluff to bluff, a distance of four and a half miles. The area of overflowed land in one county is fully 75,000 acres. No crops can be raised on this land this year. The water is still rising.

Recent storms in California have caused the Sacramento river, at Sacramento, to rise until it has reached a height of twenty-four feet and six inches. The new levees on both sides are holding all right, but if there should be a rise of three or four feet more, some of the farming districts would likely be flooded, and possibly some of the reclaimed islands down the river.

GEARY FOR PENNOYER.

The Venerable Rep. Holman Thinks Geary Should Come In.

A HEAP OF GOOD POLITICS TALKED.

But Perhaps it Was Mr. Holman Himself Who was Guileless.

THE MINING DEBRIS BILL PENDING

And the California Democracy to Meet. An Old Compound of Gorseberry Anyhow.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—During a call upon Rep. Holman of Indiana, yesterday, Rep. Geary and others, upon questions propounded by Mr. Holman, freely discussed the vice-presidential nomination of a man from the Pacific coast. It is no longer Pennoyer, as he and the democracy have split, so Mr. Holman made the Californians sit down and talk over the whole situation, himself mentioning and discussing all the other men who have been named in connection with the second place on the democratic ticket. He concluded by saying: "There is a heap of good politics in this. The Pacific coast has never had a place on the national ticket, and it might make a big change out there if those states were recognized in this way. I know of no one more available if the first place goes east of Ohio, than you, young man." And the old watchdog of the treasury shook Geary's hand and heartily wished him good luck.

Holman Handled Gingerly.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The mining debris bill was yesterday the subject of interviews between Representatives Geary and Caminetti, and Holman, Dockery and Sayers and others, of the ways and means and appropriation committees. Mr. Holman said California was deserving of much at the hands of congress, and he would do everything he could to advance its interests. He set up the democratic plea of economy, but gave an assurance that he would be as fair and liberal as possible. He wanted to know the smallest sum that would answer the purpose, and was told $450,000, the amount asked in the bill, was about right. He declared this was too large. He promised, however, to study the bill over and give his answer early this week. It is conceded that these interviews have something to do with influencing the California democratic state convention today.

More Than Eminent.

New York, May 17.—A Paris special, referring to the return of Paul Deschanel, who was recently in the United States on a mission of the French government and is an enthusiastic admirer of Blaine says: "He expected to find Blaine an eminent statesman, but was hardly prepared to find him a statesman of such extraordinary caliber which he is now convinced Blaine possesses." Deschanel adds: "Blaine is diametrically opposite to the old European notion of American political men." He places Blaine on the first plane of living statesmen.

The German steamer Lakesbayne, from Antwerp, on Friday afternoon noticed a fisherman's dory directly in the path of the vessel; off the banks of Newfoundland. A boat was sent out and found the occupants of the dory almost dead from starvation. They were members of the crew of a fishing schooner and had been lost fifty-four hours, having drifted away in a fog.

Civilizing the heathen Chinese has received a setback in Brooklyn, N. Y., through the disappearance of Miss Grace French, a pretty brunette about eighteen years old. According to rumors prevalent in the neighborhood, she has eloped with Tom Lee, a Chinaman, whom Miss French and her mother were attempting to Christianize.
