LOCAL BREVITIES.

If you want the news. You want THE CHRONICLE.

The Oregon state grange resolved in favor of the free coinage of silver.

J. W. Moore, J. P. Moore and Polk Butler of Nansene, were in town last night.

The Oregon State grange has decided to hold its next annual meeting in the Dalles.

M. P. Isenberg of Hood River, is billed to speak at Wapinitia tonight, on the political issues of the times.

H. S. McDaniel, republican candidate for joint senator for Wasco and Sherman counties, was in the city last night.

Mr. and Mrs. William Holder were in the city last night on their way home from the meeting of the state grange.

Two drunken hobos occupied the city jail last night. They were this morning fined in the usual sum of $5 and costs.

P. P. Underwood of Boyd, who was a delegate to the state grange meeting at Albany, arrived in the city today on his way home.

W. D. Moody, who has been in the employ of Hon. Robert Mays, for three years past, leaves today with his family for Merced, California.

Mayor Mays came in from his Antelope ranch yesterday. He says he never saw crops look so promising, as they do all over the country between the Deschutes hill and the Dalles.

The steamer Regulator will make an evening excursion to Hood River and return Monday evening. The Dalles brass band will furnish music, and a pleasant time may be expected. See advertisement, in another column.

George Washington Childs, the well-known editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, arrived in Portland yesterday morning. At 6:30 last evening Mr. Childs was tendered a cordial reception at Hibernia hall by the printers and newspaper men of Portland.

President Harrison gives his support to the national Columbian public school celebration, which plans to give the public school the leadership in all the local celebrations of the 40th anniversary of the discovery of America on October 12. He urges its value as an object lesson to the rising generation.

Williamsburg county, South Carolina, was visited by a series of terrific tornadoes on the 26th and 27th, accompanied by heavy rain and hail. Houses were unroofed and blown down, trees uprooted and crops of all kinds almost totally destroyed. Hail drifts were three feet deep in fence corners. A number of persons were injured.

Brother Shatt of the Moro Observer will soon sever his connection with that paper and remove to Antelope to manage a new paper soon to be started at that place. It is understood the new paper is intended to advocate another division of the county. Poor Wasco! She will soon be in the same fix the man's dog was after his tail was cut off behind the ears!

The Portland Dispatch objects to the present silver policy which enables the government to buy 70 cents worth of silver, coin it into a silver dollar worth 100 cents and pocket the 30 cents. The Dispatch would prefer that the silver miners and speculators should pocket the 30 cents. Of course the Dispatch is opposed to class legislation.

Owing to the heavy importation of silver from Spain, over $10,000,000 having been received since the commencement of the year, another monetary conflict has arisen in Havana. The majority of the retail tradesmen accept the dollar only for ninety-five cents because of the discount on silver as against gold. In some parts of the interior Mexican silver is only accepted at seventy cents on the dollar.

Congress wants to adjourn early in June the appropriation bills will now be ahead of everything else.

The national conventions are to be held in Minneapolis, Minn., and Chicago, Ill., June 7th, and 20th, respectively. Mr. Fulton is now on his way to Minneapolis.

If the people of this city want a celebration on the 4th it is high time something were done. Will somebody call a citizens' meeting? Gentlemen get a move on yourselves.

Governor Penoyer is reported to have said that Rorke, of the people's party, will be elected to congress instead of Hermann or Veatch. The wish seems to be the father of the thought.

The annual tournament of the Sportsmen's association of the Northwest will be held in Seattle, June 16th, 17th and 18th. A rate of one and one-fifth fare for the round trip has been secured over the Northern Pacific and a large attendance is expected.

L. P. Dorais has a kick against the board of school examiners and against the manner in which examinations are made. Mr. Dorais writes a fine Italian hand, so as to speak, as it were. In fact, Mr. Dorais uses italics so numerous that his whole article is emphatic.

Several years' experience in the newspaper business has taught us that Mr. Dorais has mistaken his remedy. What he should have used was the powerful and the sarcastic? "That's what knocks!"

Uncle Jammy Benson said to a CHRONICLE representative to-day, "I saw an article in THE CHRONICLE a short time ago that said fruit would be short on Five-mile this year. Now I want you to come out to the creek some of these days and if we don't show you more fruit than you ever saw in your life I'll treat. Why I have been living on the creek for 20 years and I never saw fruit trees of every kind loaded down with fruit as they are this year." Said Joel W. Koontz, republican candidate for county assessor, who overheard Mr. Benson's remarks, "If you come out to my place in a week I'll fill you up with strawberries to the throat, or picket you on a two foot and a half rope, and you'll be able to reach at more than you can possibly eat. All kinds of crops on Five-mile never looked as good as they do this year."

The Washington special correspondent of the Oregonian, under date of May 27th says; "The Blaine boom is sagging in the middle and bagging at the knees. The group of politicians who are determined to defeat President Harrison at any cost, seemed to have failed in their mission. The Blaine boomers have not at any time had any assurances that the secretary would accept the nomination. Their sole idea in bringing forward Blaine was to defeat the president, and then if possible land the nomination on someone else. This effort has failed, and the president appears more popular than ever. The schemers have never given up the attempt to bring about the president's defeat, but the opinion of the best republicans is that the nomination of Blaine, if he would accept, would be full of peril, while that of President Harrison would be safe and a practical assurance of victory."

Monday will be decoration day, and according to the time honored custom no paper will be issued from THE CHRONICLE office Monday evening.

Memorial Services. The Methodist church will observe memorial Sunday, with services tomorrow at 11 a. m. All old soldiers, their wives and children are cordially invited, and will be given the Post of Honor with seats in the south-east corner of the building. Everybody is invited to participate in the patriotic services. At 8 p. m., the pastor will review the decision of the supreme court on "Religion in America."

Circuit Court. The case of W. H. Butler vs. D. Gillespie, involving the price of a certain piece of land occupied the court all this forenoon and was not ended at the time of going to press. Judge Bradshaw expects to get through with the docket this afternoon.

J. E. McCormick of Pleasant Ridge left at this office today a sample of fall rye, grown on his ranch, that measures seven feet.

An Old Pleaser Mine. About a dozen Chinamen have been engaged for some time in working the old placer fields on the Columbia above Umatilla. They evidently have quite a snap, and are very suspicious of white people, refusing to talk or to show the amount of gold taken out to parties who visit their camp. They are believed to have secured considerable fine gold. High water permits active operations just now, and the miners are busy, working near the edge of the river. They use quite an elaborate and ingenious cradle process, and seems to have a dry process, also, of a curious nature. The placers where the Chinese are mining were abandoned by white miners about twenty years ago. They are some two miles above Umatilla. In 1862 this mine was "worked out" by Col. D. S. Dow, and associates, but the deposits from up the Columbia since then have again made it good diggings.

A Bovine Excitement.

Talk about your wild steers. A mother of steers, on the streets of The Dalles today caused more excitement than a whole band of ordinary bovines. This cow was raised over in Klickitat, and was sold to a citizen of The Dalles as a thoroughly domesticated milker, at a fair price, and our fellow townsman arranged to have her delivered today.

The hired man, and an Indian from the farm, brought the cow into the city at one o'clock p. m., and were proceeding up Union street from the ferry to deliver the goods according to contract, when Bossy suddenly took a notion into her head to go back. After considerable cavorting during which it was impossible to tell which one of the party, including man, Indian, horses and cow, was uppermost, the cow dashed away down Union street, thence up First street, and down to the river front to the water's edge. Here she deliberately waded in, opposite the depot, until wading was impossible, when she boldly struck out for the Washington side. She swam finely until she struck the current, which swept her with full force down the stream, and the last seen of her by our reporter she was headed for the Cascades with Regulator speed.

Later, the cow sank about 80 rods below the Rockland landing.

LAMPREYS AND SEAL.

Sportiveness of the Latter in Feeding Upon the Former.

It is remarked by fishermen that they have never before noticed so many eels. The rocks of the narrow channels at the Dalles through which the water rushes swiftly are lined with lampreys, which in their efforts to ascend the rapids fasten themselves to the rocks as high above the water as they can reach by their sucker-like mouths, and by a vigorous blow on the surface of the stream with their tails propel themselves along "step by step." There are also many seals disporting in the river, on the lookout for the fat salmon. These seals appear to derive a great deal of amusement from catching the lampreys. They will wiggle along up on a ledge of rocks till they find a place where scores of the lampreys are clustered, and then flop off into the water and seize a mouthful of them, and swim gaily down the stream with their heads elevated above the water and their prey writhing and squirming about their jaws. The seals seem to think this great fun, and call to one another and sport about in apparent delight. Lieutenant Taylor, in charge of the work on the Cascade locks, says that there are many seals in that vicinity. They haunt a big eddy opposite the locks, and amuse themselves by swimming up to the head of it and then dodge out into the swift current and are swept down, their sleek heads bobbing around in the torrent. They appear to enjoy this sport as much as boys do sliding down hill. In the wheels at the cascades, in addition to the bluebacks, many chinook salmon and numbers of salmon trout are taken.

Card of Thanks.
