CANAL CONVENTION.

Permanent Organization Effected and Work Begun.

THE SACRAMENTO HIGHBINDERS.

Peaceably Disposed Celestials Driven From the City.

A TERRIBLE TORNADO ABOARD.

The Birkenhead Mine Disaster—Dynamite in Chicago—Want Our Birds—Other News.

St. Louis, June 4.—The convention came to order at the appointed hour. The permanent organization was effected by choosing Hon. George L. Converse of Ohio, president; Horace Davis, of California, senior vice-president, with an additional vice-president from each state, and an executive committee on the same basis; and secretaries D. H. McAdam and J. C. Broadwell. Mr. Converse, on assuming his duties, thanked the convention for the honor conferred, and then, reverting to the objects of the convention, declared the building of the Nicaragua canal was as necessary as the casting of the cannon or the building of ships in the time of war, and for that reason, as well as being a commercial necessity, the government should have control of so great a waterway, which, it is felt, should be constructed at once. These remarks were received with great applause. The report of the committee on resolutions indorsed the canal as feasible, and recommended government assistance, with protection secured to the government interests. It recommended investment in the canal company's securities to the American people, and directed the appointment of two committees, one to visit each of the great national conventions of political parties to secure the indorsement of government control of the canal. The report was adopted. Then, after an address by Rear-Admiral Ammen, and the usual resolutions attending the closing of a gathering, the convention adjourned.

Want the Pheasants.

COLFAX, Wash., June 4.—Several sportsmen of this city are at work upon a proposition to introduce Chinese pheasants into Whitman county. The plan is to secure several pairs of these birds from Oregon, and build a yard for them where they will be cared for and allowed to increase until a sufficient number is secured, when they would be turned loose and protected by law until such time as it was thought they were thick enough, when they would be protected in their season, the same as other game birds are. They are very numerous in Oregon and are one of the finest of birds. The pheasants are as large as an ordinary chicken, with very white meat. It is estimated that the cost of procuring enough of the birds to make the start and making a yard to take care of them in would be about $150.

A Terrible Tornado.

VIENNA, June 3.—The Agram-Brod mail train was wrecked by a tornado near Nowka station last night, and the passengers had a fearful experience. Suddenly complete darkness fell upon the train. The engine and fireman crouched upon the floor of the engine. A terrific gust lifted the engine, weighing 70 tons, and five carriages, and threw them over an embankment into a cut half full of water. The station at Nowka was converted into a hospital for the injured, 23 in number.

The Birkenhead Disaster.

PRAGUE, June 3.—The frightful roll of casualties in the disaster in the Birkenhead silver mine increases. It is now known that fully 400 miners lost their lives. Many bodies were burned beyond recognition. The accumulation of gas in the mine greatly interfered with the work of removal of corpses, and it is believed that the work of rescue will not be completed inside of a fortnight.

Dynamite in Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 3.—A morning paper says the police have discovered a carefully-devised plot to blow up the McGregor boiler factory, whose men are on a strike, with non-union men filling their places. Wires were strung to a point at the rear of the factory running to a room recently taken by three men. In this room were found a large quantity of dynamite and an electrical apparatus for exploding it.

A Raid on Sacramento.

SACRAMENTO, June 3.—Excitement runs high in the Chinese quarter. Yesterday a crowd of peaceable Chinese informed Chief Rogers that 40 highbinders were enroute to this city from San Francisco, to avenge the murders of Tuesday night. They left San Francisco by steamer and are expected to arrive this morning. From a reliable source it was learned that the self-constituted avengers are members of a big high-binder society, and have sworn to kill the promoters of last Tuesday's murders. The peaceable Chinese are leaving the city, fearing violence at the hands of the new comers. The local highbinders are arming themselves and are preparing to give battle to the intruders.

Fruit Shippers Complain.

YAKIMA, June 4.—The Northern Pacific railway company complains that Yakima fruit shippers are not particular enough about the packages in which they ship their fruit and other products. To this a shipper replies that last year he shipped a crate of watermelons to friends in Montana. He paid several dollars for the melons, had a new and strong shipping crate built, put up the balance of his money and mortgaged several years of his life to pay the transportation charges, and then waited patiently to hear encomiums on the admirable qualities of the Yakima watermelons. One lone watermelon arrived at its destination. There was no crate to it and it was cracked, and passed by the brakeman and railroad employes on account of being unwholesome, and so, in line with the officers of the Northern Pacific, he would advise shippers to use more precaution. They should thoroughly investigate the good qualities of the various safes, procure a time lock, and then take their chances.

Strike in Okanogan.

SPOKANE, June 4.—News of a rich free gold strike on the Similkamen river, about a mile and one-half south of the British line, has reached this city. The mineral is found in quartz ledges which stand out like huge reefs against the side of the bluff trending north and south and being exposed, showing the ledge to be 300 feet wide. H. Ballard of Concoqually, a well known engineer, arrived in the city last night and gave an account of the discovery. He said that the ledge was bonded to F. W. Dunn about 30 days ago, but the reports of value did not reach Concoqually until a few days ago. Seventeen claims have been located and large numbers of men are going to the scene of the strike daily. Mr. Ballard said that he has often driven over the ground, and about a year ago broke out some rock from the ledge and carried it to Concoqually, intending to assay it, but he thought that the ledge was too large. "If it had been a ledge three feet wide," said he, "I should have tested it." The property is easy of access and is the subject of much discussion.

The President's Strength.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 4.—Thirteen states have instructed their delegates to cast their votes at Minneapolis for the renomination of President Harrison. These are Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, South Carolina, Nebraska, South Dakota and Texas. These states will cast 290 votes in the convention. The president would lack 155 of a majority if he had to depend on them alone. But in the 31 states that have given no instructions there are Harrison delegates as earnest and as firm as those from Indiana and Illinois. The uninstructed delegates number 598. It is gratifying to find that the custom of instructing delegates has so far fallen into disfavor that nearly two-thirds of the delegates are free from such dictation. All schemes to stampede the convention for Secretary Blaine are now practically abandoned. The promoters of these plots admired Mr. Blaine, but they admired themselves more. They hoped to promote personal aims by creating confusion in the republican ranks. They desired to create enmity between the president and Mr. Blaine in the hope that an open quarrel might ensue which they could turn to account. The sincere friends of Mr. Blaine accepted his letter of declination in good faith, and bestowed their support on the president under whom he has served with so much distinction. Mr. Blaine has done well to respect this course, and in so doing has followed the dictates of honor as well as courtesy.

WHOOPIING UP BLAINE.

As the Contest Nears the End it Deepens in Interest.

FACTIONS BECOMING EXCITED.

Some Very Harsh Things are Being said by Men on Both Sides.

NON-PARTISANS FEAR RESULTS.

Blaine's Friends Have Forced Him Into the Position of a Passive Candidate.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 4.—If another letter is not forthcoming from Blaine within thirty-six hours it is impossible to predict what the convention will do. The intensity of the situation may be understood when it is stated that representatives of the associated press are questioned every hour by anxious party leaders as to whether any declaration has been made, or is expected, at Washington from Blaine. The contest is growing in interest hourly. Men are becoming unduly excited. Factions are beginning to say harsh things. Non-partisans are beginning to fear the results of the campaign, which ever wins. Either by or against his will Blaine's friends have forced him into the position of a passive candidate, and the Harrison people are not unreasonably saying many caustic things about the secretary's position, insisting that good faith will compel him to write another letter of declination.

The Blaine leaders are working hard to bring about a break to him from Harrison instructions in hope that it will be accepted as a precedent by other instructed delegations, with the result of further breaks to the man from Maine. Wherever possible this will be helped along by the argument that Harrison instructions were only given on the supposition that Blaine would not be a candidate, and that the strong Blaine sentiment in their state will now justify them in ignoring the instructions given under these misapprehensions.

Among the conspicuous figures in the Harrison headquarters this morning were those of Powell Clayton, of Arkansas; R. C. Kerens, of Missouri; W. O. Bradley, of Kentucky; H. Clay Evanson, and ex-Governor Warmoth, of Louisiana.

There is a contest as to the right to seats at the national republican convention, in the third North Carolina district, where two factions have chosen delegates. This makes contests in three districts.

A Farmer Found Dead.

ALBANY, Or., June 3.—Daniel Houck, a well known farmer, living near Tangent, was found dead this morning about 8:30 o'clock, lying in a barnyard, where he had been milking cows. No marks of violence were visible, and it is supposed he died from heart failure.

Robbed the Stage.

BILLINGS, Mont., June 3.—The Billings and Great Falls stage was held up by masked men yesterday, and the treasure-box and mail taken. The passengers were unharmed. The robbery occurred on Painted Robe hill, near Mussel Shell river.

Tammany for the Candidate.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Richard Croker, Tammany chieftain, says the Tammany delegation to the national convention will work for Hill, but that if Cleveland is nominated, Tammany will give him loyal support.

Blaine Says Nothing.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 4.—A Washington dispatch says Secretary Blaine yesterday told an associated press reporter that he would write no more communications in regard to the presidential nomination.
