Everybody knows the agricultural exhibits at our last two district fairs cut a sorry figure in the pavilion. Everybody knows that the farmers took little interest in the fairs and that very few of them were in attendance. The question is, will the exhibit and attendance be any better this year? And if not, is it really worth while to try and hold any more fairs, or work for an appropriation from the state for their support? If the farmers won't take an interest in the fairs, then is it not better to abandon the farce of an agricultural exhibit altogether, and let the trotting association—which is an entirely distinct institution, and which has kindly given the grounds, free of charge to the agricultural fair, for the past three years—have their trials of speed at whatever time is most convenient to them. But if the country has taken little interest in the fairs the city has taken less. There was undoubtedly good expense for this last year; the fair happened immediately after the fire, but there was no excuse for the year before, and it is even doubtful if the fire stopped one single exhibit from the merchants of the city last year. We firmly believe we never will have successful fairs unless the city goes to work and helps to make them so. Let the business men and others do, as they are doing in La Grande and Island city, namely, offer special premiums for special exhibits, separate and apart from the cash premiums offered by the agricultural society. These premiums would, in most cases, operate as the most effective kind of advertisement, and their value would come back to the donor in increased trade. As a sample of the character of the La Grande and Island city premiums, we find in the La Grande Chronicle, that a furniture firm gives a $40 bed room set for the best display of jellies; a clothier gives a $25 suit for the best stallion; another a $25 suit for the best colt; Knapp, Burrell & Co., give a Deering mower for the best exhibit of potatoes; a saddler gives a saddle or single harness, worth $40, for the best saddle horse; a stove dealer gives a $55 range for the best display of canned fruit; a dealer in musical instruments gives a $25 guitar or mandolin for the best exhibit of worsted embroidery; a stockman gives a $40 half-breed colt for the best pure-bred sucking colt of draft bred; a nursery-man gives $25 worth of fruit trees for the best general display of fruit grown by exhibitor in the district; a groceryman gives 25 pounds of tea for the best display of butter; Michell, Lewis, Staver & Co., give a $60 road cart for the largest and best display of vegetables; a patent fence company give $25 worth of fencing material for the best milk cow; Frank Brothers give a $40 set of harness for best span of carriage horses owned by exhibitor; a dry goods man gives a $25 silk dress for best quilt, plain patchwork; another dry goods man gives a pair of $30 portieres for best exhibit of silk embroidery; another a pair of $20 blankets for something else, and so on. Would it be any wonder if the La Grande fair should prove a success? With such liberality it could not be anything else and the same results would follow the same causes here. Will our business men and capitalists take the hint? Then we'll have a fair and, possibly, not till then.

The finger of destiny points with steady aim towards Governor Penneyer as the standard bearer of the people's party in the coming national campaign. One by one the obstacles that have stood in the way of his advancement to this proud position have been removed. The last obstacle, the existence of the confederate brigadier, L. L. Polk, who only a few days ago became a convert to the principles of the people's party, but whose three years' service as president of the farmers' alliance would have assuredly given him the nomination, has been removed by the hand of death. The way is now clear for Penneyer.

The Walls Walls Union, referring to the nomination says: "Whitelaw Reid is the first newspaper man ever nominated for an office as great as that of vice President." Has Schuyler Colfax and his South Bend Register, been so far forgotten?

The Minneapolis convention has demonstrated that lung power cannot nominate presidents.

The people's party in Portland are making vigorous preparations for capturing the offices in the coming city election. They have issued a platform containing eleven planks the first of which demands that no employe of the city shall receive less than $3 per day, and that eight hours shall constitute a day's labor. Another plank demands that all city work shall be done by the day, instead of by contract. Another demands municipal ownership of the entire street railway system to be operated at cost for the benefit of the people; another demands ownership of lights and water, to be furnished at cost and another free bridges, to be located by popular vote. It is not surprising that the last plank should demand free quarters, at the expense of the city, for all bums and tramps who may be willing to congregate there of nights, too lazy to work for means to provide lodgings at their own expense, or too shiftless and imprudent to take care of any wages they may have earned. The people's party ought to succeed. They are wonderfully magnanimous—with other people's money.

Everyone knows, says the Spokane Review the influence that his fatalistic superstition had over Napoleon—his implicit belief that the fates had willed his destiny thus and thus. No matter how free from superstition, one cannot help feeling much the same in regard to Blaine, and to agree with weird credulity that Henry Watterson stated the case rightly when he said: "Blaine will not be nominated; if nominated he will be defeated; if elected, he will die the day before his inauguration. Fate has decreed that Blaine shall never be president."

All special agents of the general land-office have been granted a furlough without pay, from June 13 to 30 inclusive. This is the polite way of putting it. The plain, unvarnished English of it is, congress has not signaled itself by any supreme act of economic reform since it effected a saving of $50 on West Point soap, so Brother Holman, in a fit of desparation, has cut down the appropriations below the actual sum required to fulfill existing obligations. Great economist is Holman!

A Pointer.
"I am very much pleased with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says H. M. Bangs, the druggist at Chatsworth, Ill. "During the epidemic of la grippe here it took the lead and was very much better liked than other cough medicines." The grip requires precisely the same treatment as a very severe cold, for which this remedy is so efficient. It will promptly loosen a cold and relieve the lungs, soon effecting a permanent cure, while most other medicines in common use for colds only give temporary relief. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. d&w

Rheumatism Cured in Three Days.
Miss Grace Littlejohn is a little girl, aged eleven years, residing in Baltimore, Ohio. Read what she says: "I was troubled with rheumatism for two years, but could get nothing to do me any good. I was so helpless that I had to be carried like a babe when I was advised to get a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I got it from our druggists, Mr. J. A. Kumber, and in three days I was up and walking around. I have not felt any return of it since and my limbs are limber as they ever were." 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. d&w

NEW TO-DAY.
TO THE PUBLIC.—It having come to our knowledge that a party in The Dalles in selling lime has made the assertion that he charges more for other brands than the "Oregon" because they are better, thereby implying that the "Oregon" is an inferior article, we desire to state that the "Oregon" is the strongest lime on the market; that it will work more plastic and leave the work when set stronger and firmer than any other lime at present manufactured in either Oregon or Washington. Wm. Butler & Co., Agents at The Dalles for the "Oregon" lime, are instructed to furnish, free of charge, any and all Oregon lime, which does not fully come up to the stipulations above set forth. The object of this notice is solely to defend our goods against the false imputations and statements of any person whatsoever. The Or. Marble and Lime Company, by T. F. OSBORN, 5-24d1m General Agt.
