THE LUTHERANS OFF.

An Illinois Church Sect Threatens Political Bolting.

GOING OVER TO THE DEMOCRACY.

Money and Newspapers Must be Used to Check the Break.

STIRRED UP ON SCHOOL MATTERS.

The Vote Lost to Republicans—The Situation Considered a Grave One—Minor Mention.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Confirming the report that 25,000 to 30,000 German Lutherans in this state, who have heretofore acted with the republicans intend to vote the democratic ticket this year, Mr. A. S. Wright, of Woodstock says: "The German Lutheran voters are going over in a body to the democrats and unless something is done to stop the landslide the entire vote would be lost to the republicans. I am not a member of the state central committee," said Mr. Wright, "but if I get a chance I shall certainly insist that something be done at once. I have seen the drift of affairs for a long time, and although I have tried to persuade our friends to remain with the party they have refused to do so. I have found that personal appeals will do no good. We must use money and establish newspapers in various parts of the state and show that we are not opposed to them. They seem to be stirred up over the school question, and their ministers and prominent laymen are going from place to place making personal appeals for votes for the democratic ticket. I have talked with Germans who vote the republican ticket, but they say they are against us this time. I believe the German Lutheran vote in the state is twenty-five or thirty thousand. The situation is a grave one and prompt measures should be taken. I think the Australian ballot will help us, because the German Lutheran ministers under that system cannot distribute the ballots in their churches and see to it that they are cast. But the German Lutherans are getting away from their party and there is no use disguising that fact. There will be an immense number of young Germans who will cast their first votes this year and they seem to be as rebellious as their parents."

Hellgate Broke Loose.

Missoula Star. Saturday afternoon and evening the region drained by the Hellgate river, east of Missoula, was visited by the heaviest rainstorm in several years. The tops of the mountains were covered deeply with snow, and as the rain, which amounted almost to a cloudburst, melted it, the mountain gulches and ravines were soon filled with water and the Hellgate river, which is usually a narrow, swift running stream, became a raging torrent. The Northern Pacific crosses the river a dozen or more times within 50 miles and the bridges were unable to stand the terrible strain, and one after another they were swept away until but a few of them were left in their original position and these were badly out of line. Repairing the damage is almost equal to rebuilding the road.

Dr. Blalock's Position.

Spokane Review. To the question as to whether or not he was a candidate for the governorship Dr. N. G. Blalock of Walla Walla said: "I have never announced myself as one and consequently it is not necessary that I should say I am not. It is a long time from now till the state convention and no one can tell what may happen before that. I am not going to make the mistake Blaine did and resign the executive commission-ership of the world's fair commission before I have announced myself a candidate. Like most other men in the state, if the party choose me as standard bearer, I should be pleased, but in the meantime I am doing nothing one way or the other, about the nomination."

The Gem of the Mountains.

Idaho Recorder. Lemhi valley is at its loveliest. The trees are in full leaf, the fields and foot hills emerald green, while the mountains are capped with glistening snow, all combined to make a scene unsurpassed for beauty in the west.

CHICAGO MOSAIC.

The Usual Speculations—Wigwam Wrangle—Rotten Circus Tent.

CHICAGO, June 21.—There is no mistaking the fact that two-thirds or more of the politicians are confident that ex-president Cleveland will carry off the prize easily. Pretty much the same thing is expected to take place at Chicago as was witnessed last week at Minneapolis and most people here are looking for Mr. Cleveland's nomination on the first ballot. This conclusion has been reached after consultation with some of the brightest politicians on the democratic side of the senate, and is due to the fact that Cleveland will have in the convention a thoroughly organized body of friends.

The Hon. John F. Duncombe, who will present the name of Iowa's noted governor, the Hon. Horace Boies, to the Chicago convention, has been identified with the democratic party of the Hawkeye state for thirty-seven years, during which time he has always been found laboring for the cause of his party. The Boies boom will receive a whoop and a yell from the 300 members of the Cedar Rapids Jeffersonian club. One hundred and fifty of the Kansas City Young men's democratic club and several other western clubs.

Yesterday there were over 15,000 marching club men seeking their headquarters from incoming trains. And this is not one-third of the strength of the organized clubs expected. The Grand Pacific will resound with cheers for Cleveland; Hills praises will be sung at the Auditorium; Boies' name will stir the echoes of the Palmer house, and Palmer's boom, if it appears at all, will revolve around the Sherman house. The Indiana delegates bring with them a promising boom for ex-Governor Gray.

Senator John M. Palmer is not pushing himself for the nomination. He says that he does not think it material to the success of the party in Illinois that he should be nominated for the presidency. The letter bears date of June 7, and is written to exonerate Congressman Frank Lawler from charges of disloyalty in the senatorial contest when the 101 went on record in Springfield.

The Wigwam muddle, because of strikes, storms, etc., caused the local committee to secure a circus canvas from Cincinnati. It was rented for $300, paying $100 down, and was brought in by express at a cost of $70. Before it was unloaded from the dray it was seen to be rotten. It was taken back to the railroad and billed back as freight, "charges collect." This, however, had an effect to bring the wigwam committee and the National committee together.

So far as the attainment of the presidency is concerned, Mr. David B. Hill stands about even chances with Andrew Jackson. To be sure Andrew Jackson is dead. But that makes the betting on Hill no safer.

It is evident that several dark horses are beginning to feel their oats. One of the Illinois dark horses is kicking his stall like a regular man-eater.

There is a soulfulness about the way in which Gov. Bois saws wood that is simply captivating. A big wood-pile speaks louder than stump eloquence.

Mr. Gray of Indiana is not going to let his features be concealed from public gaze by his blushes.

John M. Palmer looks and acts and talks much like a man who has a cinch on something in the future.

There is trouble to pay among the democrats of Ohio, and there is no pitch hot. The same faction that beat Campbell last fall is greedy for gore, and Campbell goeth forth like a young David to meet 'em. The only significance in all this powwowing is that it removes Ohio from the column of doubtful states.

The Man Hydrophobia.

Evening Telegram. General Bragg, of Wisconsin, is reported as saying that Cleveland doesn't need New York next November, that he will carry Illinois and Wisconsin and be elected without New York. This is the way a man talks when he gets the hydrophobia. If Cleveland does not carry New York, he will be defeated, and Mr. Bragg will be a false prophet.

NO SIGNS OF PEACE.

The Anti-Parnellites Raided and Driven Away.

REINFORCED RETURN AND FIGHT.

Clubs And Stones Were The Weapons Used With Effect.

MILITARY AND POLICE CALLED.

A Force of Four-Hundred Charged The Mob, And Finally Cleared The Place.

New York, June 21.—Dispatches from Dublin give accounts of the Parnellites and Antis fight yesterday. The Antis tried to hold a meeting in Killorglin. While the audience was assembling a party of Parnellites descended upon them, wrecked the platform and drove off the band. The anti-Parnellites got reinforcements and put them to flight. After the meeting had been called to order the Parnellites returned in double numbers and tried to shout down the chairman. Efforts to drive them away failed, and the parties fell to fighting. Clubs, stones and pieces of the broken platform were the weapons. The chairman was knocked senseless. While four of his friends were trying to carry him away from the fight, they were set upon by a party of Parnellites and knocked down and beaten.

The chairman was trampled upon and seriously hurt. Two hundred military and police were summoned, but they were unable to stop the fighting. While awaiting reinforcements they were roughly handled by the mob, and compelled to fall back, taking with them three constables who had been disabled with stones. When 200 more soldiers arrived the force of 400 charged the mob, and after a 15 minutes' fight cleared the place. Eight men were found lying unconscious on the ground, where they had been trampled upon by rioters. Three are so severely injured that they may die; the others had sustained fractures of the arms or legs, but will recover. The number of seriously injured is reported to be twenty-five or thirty.

If the Columbia Were Open.

Spokane Spokesman. It is said on good authority that the wheat acreage within fifteen miles of Waterville promises a yield of over 1,000,000 bushels. It will be harvested within 20 miles of the Columbia and will naturally find shipment out of the country over the Great Northern to the Sound. That wheat and all the other products of that country would be brought to Spokane if the Northern Pacific would lay 75 more miles of track.

Evening Telegram. And if the Columbia river were opened not only this but many other million bushels would come down the natural great highway of the Northwest to be shipped at Portland or Astoria.

The Loan Bureau.

Pittsburg Dispatch. Senator Peffer wants a national loan bureau established to lend money to Tom, Dick and Harry. This would save some work on the national emblem. Instead of forty-six stars we could use three balls. Immediately upon his explanation of his money-lending bill various parts of the country are visited by cyclones. And thus the close connection between hirsute eloquence and meteorological phenomena is once more established.

Congress expects to adjourn in time for the 4th of July celebrations at home.
