SHE IS NOT A CONVENTION CITY.

Soldiers Not Safe in Wyoming—Another Ulster Meeting—Kavachol Must Hang.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The last dispatch to reach the world yesterday afternoon, while the clerks were making the footings of the vote for vice-president read as follows: "The routine is completed. Terrible storm here. Dark as night, 3:46 p. m. Thunder and lightning. Rain coming down in streams. Dam Chicago." It is possible that materials such as might turn the stream were not convenient, but brimstone must have been abundant. Not a delegate nor a visitor to the Cleveland convention this year, will ever vote again for a convention in Chicago. It is not true that "Chicago is in every sense a convention city," but quite the reverse; and if better arrangements are not provided for the accommodation of people at the Columbus world's fair, Uncle Sam will regret that he ever invested a dollar in the scheme, and those who attend will join in the refrain with those whose experiences of the past week impel thoughts of a blasphemous nature even though they rode in the band wagon at the head of the most joyous processions of successful people.

Another Ulster Meeting.

LONDON, June 24.—A crowded unionist meeting was held to support an appeal of the protestants of Ulster to England on Thursday. Many titled and prominent persons were present. Sir George Chubb presided. The duke of Argyll delivered a speech in which he declared it was a slanderous falsehood to say the people of Ulster were aiming at religious ascendancy of the "village ruffian and the parish pope." The resolution commending the appeal of Ulster to the British electors was unanimously carried.

Soldiers Not Safe in Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, June 24.—The sheriff of Sheridan county has made a demand on the military authorities to surrender the soldiers of the Ninth cavalry who attacked the town of Suggs last Friday, and killed a citizen. Gen. Brooke of the department of the Platte, has refused to turn over the prisoners to the sheriff until he can hear from Washington. He says the state of feeling in Wyoming is such that he does not consider the lives of the soldiers safe in the hands of the civil authorities.

Kavachol Must Hang.

NEW YORK, June 24.—A verdict of guilty has been found in Paris against the anarchist Kavachol, and he has been condemned to death. Belean and Sobere were acquitted.

The Democratic Platform.

The democratic platform begins with reaffirming the allegiance of the party to the principles of Jefferson and solemnly declares "that the need of return to these principles was never more urgent than now, when the tendency to centralize all power at the Federal capital has become a menace to the reserved rights of states." It warns the people that "the policy of the Federal control of elections, to which the republican party has committed itself, is fraught with the gravest dangers, scarcely less momentous than would result from a revolution, practically establishing monarchy on the ruins of the republic."

It denounces the republican protective policy as a fraud upon the labor of a great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few. It declares it to be the fundamental principle of the democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties, except for the purpose of revenue only, and demands that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the government honestly and economically administered.

It denounces the "sham reciprocity" of the republican party; recognizes in trusts and combinations the natural consequence of prohibitive taxes which prevent free competition and demands a rigid enforcement of the laws made to prevent and control them. It denounces the republican party for giving away the people's heritage to railroads and non-residents aliens and claims credit to the democratic party for having restored to the people 100,000,000 acres to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens. It denounces the Sherman act of 1890 as "a cowardly makeshift; holds to both gold and silver as the standard money of the country and to the coinage of both, but holds that the dollar unit of the coinage of both must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value or adjusted through international agreement or by such safeguards of legislation as shall secure the parity of the two metals. It recommends that the prohibitory 10 per cent. tax on state banks be repealed. It reaffirms the declaration of the democratic national convention of 1876 for the reform of the civil service and calls for an honest enforcement of all laws regulating the same.

It claims that the democratic party is the only party that has ever given the country a foreign policy consistent and vigorous.

It favors the maintenance of a navy strong enough for all purposes of national defence and to properly maintain the honor and dignity of the country abroad. It condemns the oppression practiced by the Russian government upon Jewish subjects, and tenders profound and earnest sympathy to those lovers of freedom who are struggling for home rule in Ireland.

It approves all legitimate efforts to prevent the United States from being the dumping ground for the known criminals and professional paupers of Europe, and demands a rigid enforcement of the laws against Chinese immigration and the importation of foreign workmen under contract, and condemns and denounces all attempts to restrict the industrious and worthy of foreign lands.

It favors just and liberal pensions for all disabled union soldiers, their widows and all dependents.

It favors the improvement of the Mississippi river and other great waterways of the republic and holds that such aid should be extended on a definite plan for continuous work until the permanent work is secured. It recognizes that the early construction of the Nicaragua canal and its protection from foreign control is of great importance to the United States. It holds that congress should make the necessary financial provision for the world's fair. It recommends to the several states the most liberal appropriations for public schools and opposes state interference with parental rights and the rights of conscience in the education of children. It approves the admission into the Union of New Mexico and Arizona and the early admission of all territories having the necessary population and resources and holds that while they remain territories the officials appointed to administer the government should be bona fide residents of the territory or district in which their duties are to be performed.

It favors legislation to protect the lives and limbs of railway employees and those of hazardous transportation companies.

It favors laws for abolishing the sweating system and convict contract labor and for prohibiting the employment in factories of children under 15 years of age and opposes all sumptuary laws as interference with the individual rights of the citizens.

On this statement of principles it asks for a change of administration and a change of purity and order that there may be a change of system and a change of methods, thus assuring a maintenance unimpaired of the institutions under which the republic has grown great and powerful.

All States Represented.

Astorian. The Episcopal convention has brought here many observant, intelligent gentlemen, who will go away favorably impressed with Astoria and its bright future. While our people are intent on money making, the visitors must observe that they are in sympathy with the intellectual progress and the moral advancement of the country. Nearly all the states are represented in the busy, aspiring population, which inhabits the noblest location on the continent for a great city.

THE OLD HOME OF KING GEORGE IV.

The Price and Yearly Rentals Computed Would be a Snug Sum For New York.

LONDON, June 24.—William Waldorf Astor has purchased the crown lease of the splendid residence on Carlton house terrace which until a few weeks ago belonged to the Murieltas. Mr. Astor has secured a great bargain, for the price which he paid for it $275,000. Muriette purchased it seven years ago from the late earl of Granville for the sum of $350,000, and then spent another $150,000 in decorations. The house occupies one of the finest sites in London, being situated at the extreme east end of Carlton house terrace, commanding a view of the whole St. James park. It is held on a lease direct from the crown for an unexpired term of seventy years at a ground rent to the crown of $2,350 per annum. This house constituted formerly part of the palace occupied by King George IV., both as prince regent and as king. Its first tenant since the conversion of the block into private residences was the late duke of Hamilton, who sold it to the duke of Newcastle, from which it was purchased by the late earl of Granville. The house has a large terraced garden, which overlooks Birdcage walk and the horse guards' parade. One of its features is a gorgeous elevator, all in white and gold. Among Mr. Astor's near neighbors are the American duchess of Marlborough, Mrs. MacKey, and the German ambassador, Count Hatzfeldt, whose wife hails from the west side of the Atlantic.

IRRIGATION IN IDAHO.

A Magnificent Water Storage System at Mountain Home.

Last week an epoch in irrigation matters in the Inland Empire was marked at Mountain Home, Idaho, on the completion of the magnificent water storage system inaugurated by the Elmore county irrigation company, under the management of A. W. Hager, by which more than 40,000 acres of desert land are reclaimed for agricultural purposes, adding a large empire to the already great west. The event was celebrated in a most impressive manner with a parade, music, oratory and flowers. The little town was wild with excitement on the completion of the scheme. Over 300 buggies and wagons filled with people went over to the reservoir and saw the immense system of storage. Water from four large rivers is running into the reservoir, and held in store against a dry spell by a gigantic dam sixty-two feet high and 200 feet thick at the bottom, with a wing 4,000 feet long. It stores 5,000,000,000 gallons of water. The system as completed so far has 20 miles of canals. The outlet from the dam into the canal is tunneled through 450 feet of solid rock, there being no other outlet. The pressure of water at the lower gate is 3,000 pounds to the foot. No work of a like character has ever been attempted. It practically solves the problem of irrigation for Idaho, Mr. Hager demonstrating beyond doubt that the proper system is that of the storage of water. The celebration was participated in by hundreds of outsiders and was presided over by A. B. Clark of Chicago. W. E. Borah delivered a masterly oration, in which he paid a fitting compliment to the genius and unconquerable zeal of Mr. Hager. Speeches were also made by Silas W. Moody and others. All agree that the system is a marvel of mechanical and engineering skill. The exercises concluded with fireworks and a grand ball at night.
