Green has been held without bonds, for the murder of Wm. Dunn.
One lot of ten tons, 20,000 lbs., of wool, sold today at 16 cents per lb.
Mr. J. J. Cozart, the leading Grant county stock and turf man, is in the city.
Congregationalist church meeting this evening at the residence of Mrs. Patterson on Fourth street.
Winans Bros. yesterday caught fifteen tons of salmon in their wheel. The catch today will be equally as good.
A team ran away at the east end a few days ago and fetched up in a blacksmith shop all ready for repairs.
Sam Thurman's wheel yesterday turned out two finished salmon of the Royal Chinook, besides the usual small fry.
The death of Mrs. Matilda C. Rogers, mother of Mrs. W. Birgfeld, occurred at the family residence on Mill creek, last night.
This is the kind of weather which impels one to the confident belief that there can be no finer location than The Dalles picked out in the country for a summer resort.
Messrs. Ed. Mays and Robert Mays jr., sons of Mayor Mays, are home for their vacation from the Berkeley (Cal.) University. Mr. Walter Hanly, son of ex-Mayor Hanly came with them on a visit.
The Fairfield Sunday school festival last night was a great success. It was for the benefit of the library fund, and was ably conducted by Supt. Lowe. Several persons from The Dalles were in attendance.
There is going up a great cry against permitting several thousand spectators to interfere with the business of a national convention. It can be safely announced that Mrs. Woodhull-Martin's convention will not be trifled with in this fashion.
The family of Mrs. A. M. Williams, have begun preparations for a summer season at Pine Rest cottage, Clatsop, down by the sad sea waves, where the flowing tide comes in freighted with crabs, drift wood, etc. Misses Mae, Annie and Pearl Williams and Miss Matilda Hollister are already there. Mrs. Williams will join them in a few weeks.
With Jud. S. Fish and Billy Harding in the lead, pulling for dear life, and four other bally horses; driven by A. W. Brauner, Catbarr, Thos. Kelly and many others. A Klickitat teamster was enabled to ascend the grade this morning from the Union street ferry, with an overloaded wagon. All the drivers at work failed to make the team pull altogether until Van Bibber appeared on the scene. His persuasion started the outfit and it did not stop till the top was reached and then the crowd dispersed.

Wool is advancing, and holders who are firm will reap the benefit.
The iron work at Prince & Nitschke's new brick is up for the first story today.
If you are discontented with your lot get out and dig in it—and raise something.
Mr. Whitcomb, of Lyle, sheared 3,600 pounds of wool from 535 head of sheep, which is pronounced superior to the best valley.
A high old wind has prevailed all day. Its gait was at one time thirty-five to forty miles per hour. Several signs went down, including that of the D. P. & A. Nav. Co.
The Gazette of Tuesday says: Hon. W. R. Ellis is getting along as well as could be expected under the circumstances, and his early recovery is earnestly hoped for.
A favorite ballet dancer is said to receive over $36,000 a year. If the dancer had brains enough to be president of the American senate or secretary of state $8,000 a year would be ample remuneration.
The wind blew the sign down this forenoon at The Dalles, Portland and Astoria Navigation office. Here's a chance for somebody to rush into the country and spread a new report that they've sold out.
Two Young Americas fleeing from the paternal roof in Portland, with a bird dog and several lies between them, were captured from the last nights east bound passenger on a dispatch, and returned by the early train to their bewildered parents for merited chastisement.
We have samples of spring sown Chili club wheat to day, from an 180 acre field of A. L. Hembree, in Sherman county, near Kent, which is fine. It will average 26 bushels to the acre, and Mr. H. says almost all the summer fallowed and spring sown wheat, in his neighborhood, is equally good.
Eli Ritter, of Indiana, has been chosen chairman, and Sam Small, the evangelist, secretary of the prohibition convention in Cincinnati. Well might Sam say—there's nothing small about us when we get there, Eli. The convention held three sessions yesterday, and is doing lots of work.
The children who have been invited to ride in the liberty car on the Fourth of July are requested to meet at the Sun office, on Court street, between First and Second, at 9 o'clock on that morning. Parents will please see that the children are provided with sashes of the kind previously designated. By order of the committee.
The Sun agrees to the proposition that the seller of whisky to Indians has not heretofore been sufficiently punished. It says: "The utter folly of a law which inflicts the ridiculous penalty of a ten-dollar fine on parties selling whisky to Indians for first offense, is apparent. It is no check to the evil. It is just such laws as this that cause the people to adopt lynch law sometimes in self defense."
Engine No. 390, attached to the second section of the freight going west at 10:45 Tuesday night, says the Sun, must have a worn out spark arrester. The throttle must have been throw wide open while passing the hotels, for such a shower of sparks as enveloped surrounding buildings we have never seen before. Fire was set in two places just beyond the cut. Unless the company has this stopped damage suits will result.

Mrs. Clarence Lane, of Antelope, is visiting Miss Cassie Cheese in the city.
The rains which so cooled the temperature at The Dalles last night—began in Portland last evening.
The Elete shaving parlors and bath rooms is supplied with another bath room in readiness for use today.
Two fine thoroughbred Irish setter pups were shipped on the Prineville stage Monday for Mr. Osborn. They came from Omaha.
The general inquiry today for materials with which to decorate, shows that people are moving throughout the city for the Fourth of July.
An umbrella surgeon in The Dalles would find numerous broken ribs to mend. Why don't somebody open an umbrella hospital?
The Kings daughters will meet at the residence of Mrs. W. S. Myers this evening at 7 o'clock. Important business to be attended to and a full attendance is desired.
R. C. Fleck & Co. have moved into their new store room today. It is much more convenient than the old place, and gives them room to entertain according to capacity.
County Clerk Crossen gives due and timely notice that unless the owners of certain county warrants call for the same within 60 days, they will be cancelled. These are of a series issued prior to July 1st, 1885.
Judge Schutz has removed the seat of Justice for West Dalles precinct to the Michaelbach brick, corner Union and Second, and is now in the rooms formerly occupied by H. Wentz, the cabinet maker. Here he can be found ready to administer even handed justice, whether the thermometer is above or below zero.
A man was found lying prone upon the sidewalk in the East end apparently in the last stages of a most d. d. d. A bucket full of ice water failed to revive him; then he was conveyed to the cooler, where a bottle of laudanum was found in his pockets, and a case of suicide was thought of. The stomach pump, however failed to show that he had taken anything stronger than tangle-foot, and the ordinary charge was booked against him.
Eight or ten young men, college students from abroad, are now with their parents, or will be by the 3d, in The Dalles. This is a subject which affords a few suggestive thoughts. The Dalles is better located for university and college purposes than most any institution of the kind in America; healthy, available, and surrounded by natural attractive advantages for the student beyond an estimate in the value of a thorough course of study. Why can't The Dalles have a superior educational institution of its own?
Whatever the reason, the weather machines in connection with soda fountains and ice-cream counters segmed infallible thirst-provokers yesterday, but a mackerel sky overhung the city last night, and this morning at 4:15 the thermometer showed a falling of several degrees in temperature, which cast a shade of gloom over soda and ice-cream works, with a corresponding smile over the face of the fashionable mixer whose labors for four days past have been in answer to calls for lemonades, punches, juleps, etc., requiring considerable physical energy.

THE WISE AND THE FOOLISH.
The Dalles Boat Railway and the Lake Washington Canal.
From the Astorian.
The house and senate are in accord on the river and harbor bill, except as regards the appropriation for the dalles ship railway and that for the canal to connect lakes Washington and Union with the sound at Seattle. As the president has intimated that he will veto the bill should it exceed the sum appropriated by the house, Senator Dolph may have to abandon the ship railway at the second conference which has been ordered. If he does it will be some consolation that the job to impose a tax to build the Seattle canal at the public expense will also be defeated. In defiance of the wishes and interests of the people of Washington, a small minority in Seattle excepted, Senator Squire has sought to bring ridicule on the river and harbor bill by promoting the purely local project on public grounds. The scheme is entirely indefensible as a government measure. If fresh water anchorage is needed for any United States ships, they can find it at Astoria, which is readily accessible from all points on the coast. It is unfortunate that the wise and the foolish scheme should be combined. Oregon may, however, feel confident that the ship railway will follow as a necessary engineering sequence to the works at the jetty and the cascades. Nature has provided a great river with one great barrier, for the dalles and cascades are so linked as to form a single obstruction. It is not possible that this country, with its immense wealth and engineering resources, will allow the facilities of the great river to waste for lack of the ship railway which Senator Dolph has so ably advocated.

Surprise Social.
Last evening as the shades of night began to draw near, a large number of the members of the Epworth League of the M. E. church congregated at the residence of Mr. Randall on the bluff and together they wended their way to the residence of Mr. Lee, where a genuine surprise awaited the family. The evening was pleasantly spent as a farewell surprise in sociability, mirth, games and music. The piano duets of Misses Edith Randall and Lorene Lee were worthy of special mention, and were heartily applauded. It was a justly fitting close, to the helpfulness of Mr. Lee and his family to the M. E. church, the Sunday school and the Epworth league of this city during their stay among us. Our best wishes accompany them to their new home.
