uty prosecuting attorney for Clatsop

Mr. Thos. Hudson of this city is quite an inventor. His latest is a perfect filter, which may be attached to any hydrant.

The body of Mrs. Rogers was exhumed this forenoon, and a coroners inquest summoned to inquire into the cause of her death.

Thanks are tendered to Mr. Easter-

They were excellent.

his inability to leave his business.

The longest canal in the world is the one which extends from the frontier of China, to St. Petersburg. The longest

Hon. H. B. Parker of Astoria, about two years ago built a handsome passen-

The skiff Typo sailed away yesterday with Com. French in command, and J.

THE CHRONICLE having worked up a boom of business for the sheriff's office on the ice water and lemonade lay, County Clerk Crossen is attempting to offset it with a basket of free peaches today. They are cling stones.

Deputy United States Marshal A. G.
Johnson of this city, has a son, H. C., an engineer in the Coeur d'Alene. His place of business is in the midst of the trouble, and as Mr. Johnson does not now hear from his regularly he feels much concerned about the matter.

Will Michell, Frank Shontell, his brother, and Mr. Crum, are in camp on Hermann creek, near the cascades, and having bushels of fun. Pecks of trouble with mosquitoes does not seem to mar the crop of festivities.

Master Harry Parrott submitted man-fully today to the amputation of a leg.
It was taken off about three inches above the knee by Doctors Rinehart and Logan, on account of sarcoma of the bone. Considering his age, only 13 years, he stood the operation well.

Henry Deerkake, a Prineville teamster, is held for larceny of $43 from W.
Odell. Bonds were fixed at $250. His team was taken from Prineville when he was arrested. He is unfortunately addicted, and about two years ago attempted to commit suicide in this city.

Major and Mrs. Dr. Ingalls have returned from Soda Springs. Major Ingalls was considerably benefitted by the trip. He is enthusiastic in praise of the place, and says it can be made one of the most famous resorts in the United States. The springs are only three-five miles from The Dalles, via Blackhouse, on the Big Klickitat river.

A saddle horse ran away up Union street yesterday: was headed off near the frame schoolhouse; cut across to Court street by the alley; took a turn up Court and finally landed on his back clear over the fence into Mr. Houghton's door yard. It was hard to decide which was the most surprised at the sudden termination of the event—Fred or the horse.

Mr. J. B. Havey, of Boyd, was summoned to appear in Portland on the United States grand jury, a few days since, but he surprised his family by returning home this forenoon. When asked how he got off so soon he said business on the farm was too pressing.
He struck a tender cord in Judge Deady's anatomy yesterday and he just pulled it.

The steamer Dalles City made the foot of the canal yesterday from Portland, but it was nip and tuck. The company expect to be running again within two weeks. They have lost heavily from this interruption, but they have figured out the problem, and will never be caught in this manner again. The blame, if any, must rest with Portland who failed to keep any of her agreements when this line was ready for business last year. It is an interesting story, and THE CHRONICLE will tell it all to the public by and bye.

Worse at Coeur d'Alene.

A special train, consisting of nine cars, with government troops from Fort Vancouver, passed through The Dalles at 1:15 p. m. today for the scene of the troubles at Wardner. They expect to get there early tomorrow forenoon.
Trouble is increasing very fast. The mob took possession of Wardner yesterday, and now have possession of the mills of all the mining companies there, and have issued an ultimatum that unless the owners discharge all non-union men employed, before 12 o'clock today, the mills and concentrators would be blown up by dynamite. To protect themselves the mill and mine-owners signed as wished by the strikers. Six hundred strikers after 12 o'clock last night surrounded the concentrators of the Bunker hill and Sullivan, with an armed cordon. Giant powder and dynamite was placed under the buildings and fuses attached. They then demanded of those inside the mill to surrender, which they promptly did. Formal possession was then taken of the mills and the concentrators by the strikers. Three hundred men with Winchester, lay concealed at the mouth of Bunker Hill waiting for the onslaught which never came. When morning dawned the Bunker Hill people learned they had been outwitted. The guards were in the wrong place and $500,000 worth of buildings and machinery can now be destroyed by the touch of a match. In order to prevent the arrival of troops today the strikers are burning bridges along the line of the railroad. Troops are expected from Fort Sherman, Idaho, Fort Missoula, Mont., and Fort Vancouver, Wash. They will be under the orders of Gov. Willey and co-operate with the state militia. The governor says he will mass a regiment of United States troops and 200 militia at the scene of the difficulty. He has also asked for troops from Fort Spokane and Walla. It is feared the strikers will blow up the mills today.

A MATTER TO CONSIDER.

A Suggestion to The Dalles Board of Trade.

The committee of citizens from Portland, who are to hear a conference today in Washington city, it is said are prepared to show the secretary of war that Maj. Handbury, the United States engineer in charge of works in Oregon, is in the private employ of the Port of Portland commission, and is receiving a salary of $250.00 per month from the commission, for the use of such information as is on file in his office and belonging to the government. That his policy is against the wishes of the people, and is unwarranted. In the event that these charges are established it will go a long ways toward confirming the suspicion of very many people that perhaps the principal reason why the cascade locks and canal have not been completed, years ago, may be attributed to similar influences on the part of some of the corporations which have used every effort to prevent construction. And this leads to the suggestion; inasmuch as some, who are known to be pronounced enemies of an open river, yet declare that the canal and locks "will never be finished;" that perhaps it would be a wise move for the people to insist upon having a major of engineers secured for the work under the contract system, upon whom the breath of suspicion could never rest. We had him, once; and he should be returned to the work. The Dalles Board of Trade can name him.

Jacobson Recovers His Buggy.

Last evening as Mr. E. Jacobson was dining at Haight's a couple of tramps came along and drove off with his horse and buggy which had been left hitched at the post. As soon as the meal was finished he was kindly loaned Mr. Freeman's horse and buggy, and taking Con-Howe with him started post haste after the tramps. They came up with them out about Three-mile. Judge of Jacobson's surprise when he discovered the tramps to be a couple of his best Dalles friends. He cooled off a little, but was yet pretty hot in the collar, until the full force of the intended joke struck him, then he concluded that as the joke had gone at least two miles and a half too far, he would sit as judge of the court and imposed as a penalty that the jokers walk home. All parties were feeling pretty well over the joke this morning.

THE MAGNATES VISIT.

Experiences of a Party From Portland at Trout Lake.

Special to THE CHRONICLE.
TROUT LAKE, Wash., July 11.—Thinking you would appreciate a few items from the vicinity of Mount Adams, especially at this time when the people from all parts of the country are spending their vacation with us, I have taken the liberty of constituting myself your correspondent for this one time.

Trout Lake is the favorite camp grounds, and it certainly is a beautiful spot, but no doubt the grand opportunities offered for trout fishing is the main attraction. During the last week we have had quite a number of well known fishermen from The Dalles and Hood River, among whom we noticed Messrs.
Thornbury, Haight and Cates. These gentlemen caught upwards of 500 speckled beauties, besides helping to save the lives of three tenderfeet, from the city of Portland, who claimed to be railroad men. I understand that they expected to be brought to the lake in a special Pullman, but on reaching Hood River found that they would have to either make the rest of the trip by dead-axe wagon, or walk. But as there was only one of the party, Mr. Casey, who was equal to the journey by foot, he having made quite a record for himself in his famous walk around lake Washington, the party concluded to go by wagon.
Unfortunately they forgot their fish rods, but Mr. Henline, who represents the C.
P., had a reel. I believe it was formerly used for reeling barbed wire. However, Messrs. Haight, Thornbury, and Cates loaned them their fish tackle, with which they caught a few trout. But the climax was reached when they discovered that Casey had furnished mosquito netting instead of blankets, and the thermometer liable to fall to freezing point before morning. But here Mr. Thornbury came to the rescue and loaned them a heavy pair of blankets. The next morning Casey swore he was going back to Portland, if he had to walk, but the whole party having come to the same conclusion, it was not necessary to put his threat into execution. FARMER.
