CLEVELAND HAS OBJECTIONS.

Recently the public was informed of the organization in New York of a Frances Cleveland influence club, for the purpose of fostering and furthering, by woman's subtle influence, the cause of democracy. Just what the plan of influential campaign was to be was a mystery, though that it would be efficacious no good and gallant democrat had a doubt. But when Mrs. Cleveland was officially informed of the movement she referred the matter to Mr. Cleveland, and the latter, after commending the efforts and general plans of the ladies, writes to them as follows: "It is, however, impossible for us to approve of the use of Mrs. Cleveland's name in the designation of clubs designed to do political work. We trust you will not undervalue our objection, because it rests upon the sentiment that the name now sacred in the home circle as wife and mother may well be spared in the organization and operation of clubs created to exert political influence."

On the whole, most husbands, brothers and fathers will be inclined to agree with the author. Theoretically the processes of politics should be such that no woman might feel unwilling to have her name figure therein conspicuously. Practically the case is otherwise. Refinement and delicacy do not characterize modern politics. If candidate John Smith finds that his campaign is to be supported by the bandying about of Mrs. Jeannette Smith's name or its liberal display in torchlight transparencies he will naturally object. It is an objection of sentiment of course, but the sentiment which prompts a man to keep his wife's name sacred to home uses is not unawful. It is a sentiment which most men will sympathize with.

A newspaper genius in New York has written a letter in which he undertakes to state the wealth of the most noted men of the country. It is generally easy to overestimate the fortunes of wealthy men, but in this case other inaccuracies occur. The list now going the rounds is misleading as to some men well known in Washington. The second name on the list is that of Levi P. Morton, Vice-President of the United States. His fortune is stated at $5,000,000. Mr. Morton is worth twenty millions. Further on ex-Secretary Whitney is put down as having $5,000,000. Mr. Whitney's income is over a million a year, and while it would probably be hard for him to tell just how much he is worth, his property and that of his brother-in-law, Oliver Payne, being very much mixed together, yet it would obviously be ridiculous to put down Mr. Whitney at less than twenty millions. He is probably worth a great deal more. Next to that ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed is put down as having $50,000 he has more than twice as much. He owns a big square mansion in Portland, Me., worth a good deal of money, and he has considerable other property. Then we have Whitelaw Reid's wealth stated at $2,000,000. Two of Mr. Reid's residences have cost more than that amount. It is not easy to define Mr. Reid's fortune otherwise than by saying that he is the son-in-law of D. O. Mills. Mr. Mills' estate is at least $30,000,000, and Whitelaw with his wife and children, will get half of it. Chief Justice Fuller's fortune is said to be $100,000. A single piece of real estate in Chicago owned by him is worth much more than that. Judge Fuller is worth more than $500,000, as everybody knows, who knows anything about him.

Sousa is really going to Chicago as soon as he can master the mysteries of "Hogan Paid My Rent" and other compositions of the approved lakeside variety. He has been informed that "his latin' tootin' don't go, see?"

"Of the cheap edition of 'David Grieve' 11,000 copies were sold before publication, and the first edition of 5,000 copies of 'Budyard Kipling's 'Barrack-Room Ballads' was sold out the day of publication.

The sharp pocket-knife, the soft white-pine goods box and the hot summer sun are the seductive influences that are about to topple over the once proud fabric of American manhood.

At the head of all blood-purifiers is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. But it's different from all of them. Whatever is claimed for this, it's guaranteed to do. The money is refunded in every case where it fails to benefit or cure. It's because it is different that it can be sold so. All diseases originating from a torpid liver or impure blood yield to it. It cleanses and purifies the system, freeing it from all manner of blood-poisons, no matter from what cause they have arisen. For Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Scrofula, Salt-rheum, Tetter, Erysipelas, or any blood-taint or disorder, it is an unequalled remedy. Nothing else can take its place.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol to inebriate, and no syrup or sugar to derange digestion.

It's a concentrated vegetable extract; put up in large bottles; pleasant to the taste, and equally good for adults or children; works equally well all the year round.
