THE CHILCAT INDIAN.

Complaint of the Encroachments of His White Pursuer.

PATCHING UP A TRUCE WITH ARMS.

They are the Most Fierce and War Like of all Alaska Tribes.

AN ERROR IN LIBERATING A CHIEF

His Importance Among His Tillamook
Increased and Leads to Further Trouble—Other Notes.

PORTLAND, July 20.—Max Pracht, former collector at Sitka, throws some light on the Chilcat Indian troubles in Alaska, arising from unlicensed and uncontrolled methods of fishing employed by the white cannerymen who have located upon streams previously fished by the natives, which might have been prevented if congress had provided means for carrying out the provisions of its own acts by the appointment of a special agent, now tardily provided for in the senate amendment to the sundry civil bill, to be on the ground to enforce the provisions of the act relating to the barricading and obstruction of salmon streams in Alaska. He could, and no doubt would, by removing such causes for bad feeling, have prevented bloodshed. The absorption of every available stream carrying salmon by the cannerymen is sure to lead to more disturbances unless immediate preventive measures are employed. These Chilcat Indians have a powerful settlement on the Chilcat river, about four miles above its confluence with the Lynn canal, and have for years complained of the encroachments of white fishermen upon their salmon fishing grounds and of the establishment of traps and nets in that part of the canal leading from Pyramid island to the eastern shore, a distance of about three miles. There has been considerable friction, and a few personal encounters. Twice the United States naval vessel stationed at Sitka has found it necessary to go to the head of the canal, and, by its presence and by councils with the chiefmen, has patched up a truce. The Chilcats are, of all the Alaskan tribes, the most fierce, and warlike. Their arrogance was in no wise decreased when, in 1891, after the arrest of one of their chiefs for attempted murder of a United States deputy marshal, his liberation on bail followed. This proceeding was protested against by the government, the United States marshal and other civil officers, his bondsman, being a lieutenant of the United States navy. Not this only, but he was carried back to Chilcat by the United States steamer Pintia. His importance among his tillamook, or tribal family, became so much increased thereby as to lead to more aggression.

A Militia Department.

Oregonian. A movement is on foot to have the adjutant-general of the various states memorialize congress on the subject of the creation of a militia department in the war department, for the purpose of bringing the militia of the states more under the control of the war department and increasing its effectiveness and value. While this could do no harm it would amount to but little. What is needed is a national militia law, giving the organized forces of the states recognition as national militia under the constitution, placing it at the disposal of the general government when needed, providing for uniform organization, equipment and discipline, and appropriating sufficient money for this purpose. Such a militia department as is spoken of would be a necessary part of the bureau work in the war department. The cutting bill, already reported by the committee, provides for this nationalization of the so-called national guard, and efforts to improve the condition of the militia would better be concentrated upon that bill.

The Monterey and Miantonomah.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Irving M. Scott, in speaking of the Monterey, said the coast-defense vessel would not be completed for some time. He said that all of the armor plates for the Monterey had arrived with the exception of one side plate, which was now on the way. Last week the armored ventilators and smokestacks arrived. The finishing plate for the Monterey and Miantonomah was the first lot of armored plate ordered by the government made in this country.

Official Weather Report.

PORTLAND, July 19.—Eastern Oregon. General rains occurred on the 18th, varying from .27 of an inch at The Dalles, to .22 in Morrow county, .31 in Umatilla county, .11 in Baker county and .18 in Harney county. The mean temperature has been from 66° to 75°, which is from two to four degrees below the average. There has been an excess of cloudiness. On the 15th brisk winds prevailed north of the Blue mountains; on the 11th a frost occurred in Klamath county which injured gardens. Harvest is in progress in all of the Columbia river valley counties. The grain is yielding better than was expected. Late grain was greatly benefited by the rains. The grain crop in 1891, in the counties east of the Cascades, amounted to five and one-half million bushels. Corn is doing very well, though would have better growth with warmer weather. Potatoes are not a good crop. There has been an average stock of hay secured and stock growers feel confident that they will have plenty of feed for any kind of a winter. There is nothing especially discouraging in the wheat prospects of the state, though they are not as flattering as they were one year ago, but are more so than they were in July, 1889.

Western Oregon. The mean temperature has ranged from 60° to 70°, which is from three to five degrees a day below the average. The weather has been partly cloudy and the average sunshine has not prevailed. Showers occurred on the 17th and general rains on the 16th, except in parts of Jackson county where no rain fell. The amounts of rainfall are, Clatsop county 0.83, Multnomah county 0.57, Marion county 0.50, Douglas county 0.27, Josephine county 0.11, northern Jackson county from a sprinkle to 0.05 of an inch. The rain was of great benefit, especially to late sown grain; to corn and garden truck; while in portions of the coast counties it did some damage to hay. A continuation of the present weather will prove of great value to the late sown grain. Early sown wheat is being harvested and it is generally turning out better than was expected. The oats crop is just beginning to be cut in a few localities. The wheat crop of 1891, in the counties west of the Cascades, amounted to eight and one-half million bushels. Haying is about over and a good crop has been secured. The first shipment of peaches was made from Ashland on the 16th, which was ten days later than usual.

Profitable Fish Dealing.

Telegram. A gentleman, just returned from the fishing grounds on the Columbia, says that quite a lucrative business is carried on by some fishermen, or rather fish buyers, who sail down around the mouth of the river and buy salmon by the fish and sell it to the canneries by the pound. A fisherman receives but $1 per salmon when working for a cannery, but the fish buyers will give him as high as $1.75 for large Chinook salmon, according to weight. These fish are brought to the canneries and sold at 4½ cents per pound. Steel-head salmon, which are not taken at the canneries, are bought by these boats at 20 cents each and shipped to this city, where the fish are sold to the fish markets at 25 cents each. The quantity consumed makes up for the small profit realized on one fish.

Wilson The Demon.

Oregonian. Wilson is evidently employing the leisure and quiet of his sojourn at Salem in careful development of his theory of defense. It does not appear that he has been given the benefit of legal council as yet; but he could hardly lay the foundation for the defense of insanity more cleverly, with aid of the advice of the sharpest trickster that ever followed the trade of cheating the galleons out of its lawful prey. His conversations and confessions, contradictory and meaningless as they are, show a plain thread of design running all through their intricate web; the design is to convey the impression of unhinged wits and to prepare the public mind for the formal plea of insane irresponsibility when he shall be put upon trial.

A RIVAL SWEETNESS.

Combination to Compete With the American Refinery.

COVERING A BROOKLYN BLOCK.

Towering Ten Stories to Skyward for Their Working Area.

ITS IMMEDIATE DAILY CAPACITY.

Will Start With 2,000 Barrels Which
Will be Greatly Increased in the Future.

BROOKLYN, July 20.—The combination of wall street capitalists and wholesale grocers that are to compete with the American sugar refinery, has been completed in accordance with the resolution to double the capital stock. The promoters of the project have proceeded with the work from the first and have nearly completed an immense establishment in the eastern district of Brooklyn, covering an entire block. The main building will be ten stories high. An extensive system of piling is being constructed for docks and wharves. At the start two new refineries will have a capacity of 2,000 barrels a day; but now that the capital stock has been increased several millions, it is thought the output will be greatly increased in the near future. Speckles are in no ways interested in this combination.

Yellow Fever Rages.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Reports say the yellow fever scourge continues unabated at Vera Cruz and the rate of mortality is alarmingly large. Hundreds of people are leaving the city. Among the former residents there have been many deaths, and those who could escape quarantine regulations have left their homes and escaped to the city of Mexico or other interior parts of the republic. W. W. Apperson, United States consul at Vera Cruz, is among these. He has just recovered from an attack of yellow fever. The terrible mauling is having a serious effect on the business and commercial interests of Vera Cruz. Every precaution is being used to prevent the fever from spreading, the government having established strict quarantine regulations. There is no yellow fever thus far at Tampico.

In Abeyance.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—The provision in the fortification bill introduced by Senator Felton and adopted by the senate, authorizing the appointment of a board to examine and report upon the best location for a gun foundry on the Pacific coast, and appropriating $2,500 for that purpose, is now being considered in conference committee. What the result may be cannot be stated definitely, but there is a good chance for its acceptance by the conference. It carries no appropriation for the foundry, the appropriation of $1,000,000 having been disagreed to by the senate.

Portland Politics.

Hillsboro Independent. Hon. Joseph Simon did not take his European trip, but has returned home. Now what's up?

Ben Norden for captain of police! Well that beats all. The pure citizens' reform party of Portland need not say anything more about a "boss" or a "ring," or Sam Parrish, or Joe Simon, or Jim Lotan.

And so the whole of the citizens' reform movement in Portland has resulted in the exchange of Joe Simon and Jim Lotan for Ben Norden and Barney Goldsmith. Verily the world at large, or at least that part of it called Portland, loves to be humbugged.
