LOCAL BREVITIES.

Frank Malone left The Dalles yesterday for Antelope.

Judge Condon returned from Arlington this morning.

Grover Cleveland writes his letters on pure Irish linen paper.

F. P. Sargent, of Terre Haute, Ind., is registered at the Umatilla house.

Temple lodge No. 3, A. O. U. W., meet at K. of P., hall this evening.

Mr. A. S. Baty, one of the popular young men of the road, is again registered at the Umatilla house.

Mrs. S. R. Babcock, of Berkeley, Wash., is at the Umatilla house, visiting her sister Mrs. C. H. Brown.

The directors of the Wasco Independent Academy have secured the services of an able principal from the east.

A model market is to be opened at No. 39 Second street. Workmen are now employed putting in a modern front.

Justice Schurz, contemplated a trip to his Camp Watson ranch. Jas. Blakeney has let him have an extra pair of horses for the drivesaw horses.

The yard engine of the U. P. R. Co. at The Dalles had a test of her strength last night. A string of cars, six blocks long, were sidetracked at one push.

There is a chance for a combination between Athena and The Dalles. The ladies of both places threaten to organize hammer brigades and drive the nails down in the side walks.

Conductor Fowler came in two hours late with the early passenger today, bound west. He took the train four hours late, but he is something of a flyer, and generally gets in at the terminal on time.

A fine job of painting on the Regulator attests the skill of a Dalles artiste, who, while not a professional, is about as handy with the brush as any one trained to dexterity in the art by years of experience.

Mr. John Mespie has 15 acres of wheat on his Mill creek ranch which will thresh 30 bushels to the acre. It is a fine berry, plump and clean. He cut some wheat for hay recently which went a ton and a half to the acre.

The variation of the compass at The Dalles, which is given at 29° 15', is an evidence of the existence of material hereabouts to enable The Dalles to become a second Pittsburg, as well as a leading Minneapolis.

Mr. W. R. Menefee, of Dufur, was in the city yesterday. He came in with his daughter, Mrs. S. W. Emerson, of Baker city, who was leaving for her home, after a very pleasant visit with the family, including her brother, Recorder Frank Menefee, of this city.

Mr. Lord returned from Ilwaco yesterday, but expects to remain only a few days. The Dalles colony is doing fine on North beach. The number of visitors is legion. Some of the finest steamers in the waters of the United States are making regular trips on the route, but there has been as yet no cut-in rates.

Paymaster Boire and his assistant Dunn, came in last night, and the boys of the U. P. R. Co. are correspondingly happy.

Next Wednesday is the day fixed for steamers Dalles City and Regulator to connect again, on the through Peoples line between Portland and The Dalles.

Mr. D. M. French, whose imprisonment at Ilwaco is mentioned in another place today, is out on parole. He came up to The Dalles last night on a visit to the few of us who are left at home.

The excursion this morning was an unusually large one by the Regulator. Amongst the number was little Miss Helen Hudson, and a host of young friends, accompanied by their parents and guardians, the occasion being the celebration of the anniversary of her birth.

R. H. Norton, formerly of The Dalles is in Tacoma. He positively denies the allegation of having skipped to Victoria, as intimated by the press of Portland. The work he mapped out here, if carried to completion, would be a good thing for the whole Inland Empire, and particularly for The Dalles.

The famous painting of the "Voyage of Life" was yesterday exemplified realistically by a large boat floating on the Columbia past The Dalles, from the Indian village above Grand Dalles to the Memorial Indian burial grounds laden with the living relics of a once powerful tribe, and the remains of a corpse for sepulcher.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Stacy Shown and Miss Bernice Floyd were united in marriage, at the residence of the brides' parents on Ten-Mile, and left on the evening passenger for a bridal trip. The parties are well known and highly respected in this city, and they will receive the heartiest congratulations of the community on the assumption of their new relations in social life.

Messrs. G. W. Jackson, Wm. Montague, Gus Bonn and Fred Pundt returned from an outing to Clear creek, thirty miles from The Dalles, last night. They were well stocked with dust, experience and trout. All report a jolly good time and fun galore. They lost a horse which rolled down into a fathomless crevice with a bare lashed to its back. Which one of them shot the bare reporter failed to ascertain. They report dears abundant.

From last weeks News of Canon city, we find an account of the celebration of the 10th near Dayville, and from private letters learn that it was one of the most successful and enjoyable occasions of the kind ever held in Grant county. There were about four hundred people, present and all enjoying themselves to the utmost. One man donated a beef and another gave two, besides making lemonade by the barrel-full, a regular old fashioned 4th of July and barbecue.

As the schooner Perhaps, Capt. W. S. Cram, was hauled out into the stream last evening preparatory to taking her departure from the port, a photographer chanced to come along. A bright idea struck Capt. Cram. Says he "I'll be Robinson Cruso," so he went to an island near by, and while the deck hands, Charley Phillips, L. Brown, A. S. and Jim Davis remained on board carrying out the instructions of the Captain, the photographer got a fine negative. Phillips says that if they could have secured a full view of the scene he intended to have the picture blown into the glass as a trade mark for his soda and sarsaparilla works—it would be so fresh and nice.

The Columbia is now too clear for general fishing, but up in the rapids Winan's large fish wheel continues to scoop 'em up pretty liberally.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Floyd are spending a few days in the city. Mr. Floyd has just returned from the east, where he has been engaged in the horse business. He reports a failure of crops in Iowa on account of too much rain.

The story from Ilwaco that Mr. D. M. French of this city was a prisoner over there, is explained by the statement that he was one of many who had taken the regular steamer from Astoria, which is now the opposition; and was in the warehouse on the wharf with his family, looking after his baggage, when the door was shut against him with a bang. After a somewhat forcible demand he was liberated. With the exception of the annoyances incident to the squabble between the Ilwaco and the Union Pacific companies, things are moving along in the even tenor of their way about Ilwaco and the beach.

Mr. Linus Hubbard of The Dalles, never leaves a stone unturned if he suspects there is a worm under it to entice another early bird to enlist in the cause of an open Columbia river. As an old-time friend of Ex-President Cleveland, he recently sent him a photo of the whalebacks coming to The Dalles, and solicited the use of his influence toward opening the river. Among other things in his answer Mr. Cleveland says he is fully appreciative of the benefits to the farmers of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, resulting from convenient and cheap transportation of their products to the markets of the world, and that everything which will bring about that end is of great interest to him.

THE DALLES MILLING INTEREST.

The Site for Enterprises upon the Minneapolis Plan.

Mr. H. J. Russell, of Valley City, Dakota, paid us a cheerful visit today. He is looking for a location for a flouring mill business. After inspecting the mill we have here, and the flour it turns out, he concluded that the field at The Dalles was too well filled now for him to attempt to start in competition. He is a thoroughly practical miller himself, and his opinion on such subjects is worthy of consideration. There is no better flour in the world than the flour manufactured by The Dalles Diamond Roller Mills. Everybody knowing anything about flour having tried The Dalles article must admit this. It would be useless for any one to think of taking any of the business of Mr. A. H. Curtis; nor should a mill of similar capacity be thought of. The mill to establish in The Dalles must be of sufficient capacity to enter largely into competition with the present merchant mills of Portland, Oregon City, Tacoma, etc. The arguments advanced for such an enterprise here cover the scope and magnitude of the business of Minneapolis. Here, within 186 miles of the ocean; with an open river tributary to which, last year, twenty-five million bushels of wheat was marketed; is the place for grander possible achievements in the milling interest than have ever resulted from like investments at Minneapolis, and it is to such we look for the future developments of the Inland Empire with mutual advantages to the producer and the manufacturer. Here is to be obtained a great saving to the purchaser, and equal advantages to the producer in a hundred different ways.

No Encampment This Year.

At the meeting of the board of officers held Monday evening it was decided not to hold an encampment of the O. N. G. this year. This, however, was the first official decision in this respect, and up until within a few days of the meeting the committee appointed for that purpose was still endeavoring to devise some way by which the encampment could be held. To the last it had been hoped that the state military board would do something to assist them financially, but that body is overwhelmed with financial difficulties now, and does not feel like incurring any additional expense. The companies at Salem held encampments, it is true, but did so by the financial aid of the citizens and going into their own pockets. This lack of funds, together with the lateness of the season and the indifference which the members have at last come to feel, was the reason of the final decision.

A HOME INSTITUTION.

What a Building and Loan Association Does for Astoria.

People in The Dalles who think favorably of a local building and loan association, are not obliged to leave Oregon to seek a reference as to the benefits conferred by it upon the community in which it is located. The model of an association for The Dalles to pattern after exists in Astoria. It is a young but vigorous institution, about which the Astorian says: "The building and loan association held a meeting, Friday evening, and resolved to submit to the stockholders a proposal to build a brick building with the surplus funds. If the stockholders authorize the directors to do so, it is their intention to erect a spacious building that will do credit to the city and yield a good income to the association. The indications are now that the plan will be ratified. The association has positive offers which ensure that it can rent the proposed building on good terms. The public are likely to regard the project with approval for it will put money in circulation and the building will improve the appearance of the city. The association is now flourishing and is well managed. It pays as high as 14 1/2 per cent. on investments, and even agrees to return deposits with profits if people have other use for their money. The association has already obtained options on several lots that would do for the building which is to be erected in the business portion of the city. In one instance the directors have been offered a lot for $15,000, which, the owner said, he would not sell to any one else for less than $20,000."

The only fish wheel about The Dalles doing anything today, is the upper Winan's wheel, in the very edge of the rapids. It is a magnificent wheel, too, and it cost something. There is 100,000 feet of lumber in this one wheel, and the cribs supporting it are filled with 200,000 tons of rock. The wheel that first occupied that site cost $2,500, but before a salmon had been caught in the wheel the swift water of the Columbia washed it away as if it were a mere toy. Then Messrs. Winant concluded to put in one that would stand. They calculated right—it has been a profitable investment.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other cough medicine I have ever sold." There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventive and cure for croup; no other affords so much relief in cases of whooping cough.
