LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mr. J. A. Crossen returned from yesterday's picnic on time.
Senator Thos. Hayden returned from Portland last evening.
The plate glass for Printz & Natschke's new building arrived today.
Balf Johnson returned from a flying trip to Oregon City last night.
A new sidewalk is going down on Second street south of Snipes & Kinnersley's.
Mr. and Mrs. Story and Miss Story, spent the day picnicking on Hood River yesterday.
Senator Mitchell expects to devote considerable of his time to the Oregon campaign, after congress adjourned.
P. W. DeHuff, of this city, accompanied Inspectors McDermott and Edwards to Snake river Saturday to inspect the U. P. steamer Almotas.
Elliott Glazier, Mount Hood, commonly known as the black glazier, has moved down fourteen feet annually, by actual measurement, for four years past.
The salmon fishing season will close August 10th. Mr. L. Winans informs us that he expects to remain in The Dalles after the season and prepare for next year.
Parties going to Cloud Cap Inn should provide themselves with colored glasses. The snow and ice on Mount Hood is so fascinating that one must look at it, but it is very trying to the eyes.
In order to put the Regulator in thorough repair it will be necessary to consume the entire week. There will therefore be no trip made until Monday August 1st, when daily trips will be made. W. C. Alloway, agent.
"The only crop that ever failed in this country was something that wasn't planted," is a truthful statement from Mr. Orion Kinnersly, concerning the abundance of the resources of the Inland Empire soil, and particularly this part of it.
Professor John Shackelford of Kentucky state university, who with his family is making a tour of the Pacific coast states, is an eminent elder in the Christian church. He may visit The Dalles. He is said to be a man of ripe learning and a very interesting speaker; it will be a treat to hear him.
A. J. Johnson, the Astoria florist, made a trip to Mount Hood last week, and secured 2,000 new plants. The flora of the highest altitudes in this county produce some astonishingly rare and beautiful plants. Mr. Johnson is stocking up to fill an order for the woman's building at the Chicago fair.
Walter A. Davis, an artist from Bert Townes' gallery, accompanied Jud. S. Fish's coaching party yesterday with a camera; and Miss Lang with the Moody coaching party, has her camera, so it may be presumed there will be an abundant supply of snap shots to cause members of either party to long recollect the many interesting scenes and events of the trip.

Capt. H. C. Coe has just constructed a fine little steam launch for Hood river local traffic, pleasure parties, etc. It is now ready for inspection.
M. T. Nolan, our Nasby, went over to Tacoma last night. We presume he has been vaccinated by this time. That's a way they have of doing things up there.
The boys do not find the sand beach at the foot of Washington street a very desirable place for bathing. It is as soft as mud, and as sticky as a plaster.
The New York democracy have apparently joined hands with the dealers in queer stuff. A confidential circular to a gentleman in The Dalles gives the snap away.
Mr. I. N. Sargent and family have returned from Clatsop. They say the beach is this year very much more active than it was last, with legions of pleasure seekers.
Jud. S. Fish caught half a dozen fine fat grouse on the hill opposite Tucker's mill yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. They ran right into his arms. In consequence of the close season for game he let them go.
Dr. O. C. Hollister, Rev. Mr. Curtis and Geo. Stiles, leave for the top of Mount Hood, via Cloud Cap Inn, tomorrow. Dr. H. will take a blanket along with which to cover the top of the mountain and prevent the snow from wasting away.
Miss Bartlett and Miss Williams, ladies from New York, now at Cloud Cap Inn, expected to visit The Dalles and go from here to Portland by steamers Regulator and Dalles City this week. They have visited many places of interest on the continent but none suit them so well as Cloud Cap Inn.
Mrs. Middleton and two daughters of Vancouver are enjoying camp life at the upper bridge on the north fork of Hood river. They have about as desirable and convenient a camp as any one could wish for, and plenty of company, as the stages meet and exchange horses and passengers there twice a day daily.
Mr. L. D. Brown, a Portland capitalist sought his health at a camp up the north fork of Hood river, sixteen miles above the town. He is doing fine; but thinks as it is about time for another assessment in the consolidated city he must go down this week and be assessed again, after which he will probably again return to Wasco county, where assessments are not quite so frequent.
L. A. McNary and H. U. Cockerline, of Portland, reached the summit of Mount Hood yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. They were piloted by W. A. Langille. It is doubtful if anybody ever reached as high a point, as they shouted to Jud. S. Fish, N. J. Sinnott and Prof. Liscomb who were on the Eliot glacier, on the east side of the summit, only about 4,000 feet below them, and the voices were distinctly heard from both parties.
At the stage station, sixteen miles above Hood River, a monster bear was tracked across the Cooper ditches a few mornings since. L. D. Brown measured the track which was 7 1/2 inches across. The bear was carrying a sheep in his mouth it was supposed, as at every place where he made a leap the prints of a sheep's foot was left in the mud also. Farther up on the grade, 11 miles, a big cinnamon bear came in sight of Cloud Cap Inn. W. A. Langille took a shot at the old fellow, and thinks the bullet hit but didn't kill the monster. Wolves and coyotes are frequently seen about the camps.

Miss Annie Lang has taken some superb views of the wool product in The Dalles this season as it was unloaded from the teams at the warehouse, as it was baled and shipped. The views express to some considerable extent the magnitude of the operations, and Col. Lang has accompanied a set of them with a letter, to a leading and influential eastern journal in behalf of this great interest and what congress should do to protect it.
M. A. Brown, who resides about twelve miles from The Dalles, near Irwin Butte, brought the scalp of a monster gray wolf to that place Wednesday. The animal had begun the work of killing a band of sheep, and some poison placed in the remains of one finished his wolf ship. Mr. Brown states that this wolf was of extraordinary size, and measured two feet and eight inches between the withers. His body was gray and the tip of his tail black.
Notwithstanding the close season for grouse Newt. Campbell takes to game all right. H. J. Maier and Jos. Bonn secured a fine brace which they presented to Newt. He put them on ice till he could get time to take them to Haights—then he set up the ice cream for the boys, and the cigars, at parting. When the grouse turned up at Haights, the cook protested, said they were swelled head grouse, and Newt. was called in to explain. The boys had put off a pair of hooter-owl upon him.
Mr. Rowen, whose fearful slide down the mountain into Hood river was recently recounted, is again in the city. He begins to think that this wild and woolly west is a great country. Going over to Tacoma one day last week, before the train reached that city a physician (said to be) entered the car, and compelled every passenger, male and female, to submit to vaccination unless they could show an effective scar. He bared his arm and took the medicine, but he says there was some vigorous protests entered, especially from some of the ladies.
New Masonic Lodge.
Hood River Lodge, No. 105, A. F. and A. M., was instituted at Hood River, Saturday evening by W. S. Myers, acting Grand Master, assisted by Bros. R. F. Gibbons, Hobart and Burret. Hon. E. L. Smith was installed master of the new lodge, which starts out with a good membership. A large delegation of sojourning brothers from The Dalles and Cascade Locks were present. Among those from The Dalles were Bros. Marden, Liebe, Phirman, Story, J. A. Crossen, Judge Blakeley, Horn and others.
Fads in Jewelry.
More turquoises are seen than any other stone.
New card cases are covered with fine silver tracings.
None of the novelties in silver commend themselves more than the tooth-brush stands. They are both simple and pretty.
A new mourning brooch is oval, slightly concave and lusterless. In the hollows is a spray of lily-of-the-valley, double hearts or leaf branch in pearls.
Large services in cases of individual salts, peppers, butter plates, salt spoons and butter knives are now lavishly presented. The daintiness of the gilt-lined salt spoons and the lovely little knives make them desired as wedding presents.

A Wasco County Resort.
So many people are absent from The Dalles, at the coast, in mountain camps and elsewhere, that if society people were inclined to be merry these days they couldn't do so on a large scale. Out of town amusements began early this year. The devotees of the camp fire and the lovers of wild woods and babbling streams are legion. Sliced bacon and pheasants, mountain trout and had coffee, seasoned with the spice of novelty, piles high the festive boards. Wasco county, as has been remarked before, has not all the summer resorts in Oregon, but we claim all that any of the others have, of a fascinating character, and much more besides. Cloud Cap Inn, from which the writer has just returned, is certainly the finest spot on the Pacific coast for a summer outing. Mr. Moody's coaching party reached there, direct from The Dalles, at 8:45 last evening. Mr. Jud. S. Fish's coaching party met them about three hour's drive (up the grade) this side of Cloud Cap at 6 p. m. Having experienced the pleasure of being one of Mr. Fish's party, readers of THE CHRONICLE will in due time be furnished with a detailed history of Cloud Cap; its picturesque and lovely surroundings, 7,000 feet above the sea level, at the edge of the timber line, where the cooling breezes from the perpetual snow capped summit of Mount Hood; just at the back door; invites you to a seat with field glass in hand to take in the marvels of nature in all her intense moods of majestic grandeur. The road is the finest in the world, and the merry talk of the coach, as we spin along, told a story which will bear repeating.

A. Hudson, general agent, The Dalles, Or. 7.25tfw
To The Public.
I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the public, as I do to my friends and patrons. I need it myself after other well-known remedies had failed, and it cured me in a few minutes. I recommend it candidly and cheerfully upon its merits, not from a financial stand-point, because I have others in stock on which I make a larger profit, but because Chamberlain's is the best remedy I know of for bowel complaints. There is no doubt about it, it does the work—JAMES FOSBY, Druggist, McVeytown, Penn. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. d&w

Don't read! Don't think! Don't believe! Now, are you better? You women who think that patent medicines are a humbug, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the biggest humbug of the whole (because it's best known of all)—does your lack-of-faith cure come?
It is very easy to "don't" in this world. Suspicion always comes more easily than confidence. But doubt—little faith—never made a sick woman well—and the "Favorite Prescription" has cured thousands of delicate, weak women, which makes us think that our "Prescription" is better than your "don't believe." We're both honest. Let us come together. You try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If it doesn't do as represented, you get your money again.
Where proof's so easy, can you afford to doubt?
Little but active—are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.
Best Liver Pills made; gentle, yet thorough. They regulate and invigorate the liver, stomach and bowels.

The Old Times are Not in It.
While at our other store at Big Island, Va., last April, I was taken with a very severe attack of diarrhoea. I never had it worse in my life. I tried several old-time remedies, such as Blackberry Wine, Aregoric and Laudanum without getting any relief. My attention was then called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy by Mr. R. C. Tinsley who had been handling it there, and in less than five minutes after taking a small dose I was entirely relieved.
