

National Republican Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT, BENJAMIN HARRISON, of Indiana.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT, WHITELEW REID, of New York.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS, J. F. CAPLES, of Portland. H. E. MILLER, of Grant's Pass. G. M. IRWIN, of Union. D. M. DUNNE, of Portland.

The Christian at Work puts us in the mood of substituting another word for "Christian." In its work of scandalizing Oregon's sea port. It says: "Oregon has at Portland the only harbor worthy of the name. To reach it vessels have hitherto encountered a dangerous sand-bar at the mouth of the Columbia and traverse 100 miles of that river and 12 miles of the Willamette on which the city is located. * * * Moreover by the construction of the jetties of the general government, the obstruction at the mouth of the river is being removed and there is good hope that also by national aid a ship canal will be constructed around the rapids." This appears in a communication probably from some Presbyterian preacher in attendance upon the general assembly, who knew no better, perhaps, and the Satan who prompted him was somebody living in Portland who undoubtedly knew he was outrageously lying when he dictated the statement. As the "Christian at Work," is a scholarly publication of wide circulation, it ought, in justice to truth, to correct the mistake.

Mr. E. V. Smalley, the veteran journalist and publisher is traveling in his private car in the Pacific northwest, accompanied by his daughter and two sons. Their car is a model of unpretentious, homelike comfort. The culinary department is in charge of a young white woman from Mr. Smalley's home in St. Paul. During the day Miss Smalley operates a typewriter for her father, and at night she entertains him with music and novel-reading. It is doubtful if there is in the United States a man having a broader and more intricate knowledge of the west than that possessed by Mr. Smalley. He has traveled over the country in every conveyance known to civilization and savagery, has gone into the remotest sections, has made an especial study of the resources and capabilities of the country lying between the lakes and the Pacific ocean. Few men are more distinctively American in experiences and convictions. He recently contributed to his magazine a series of personal reminiscences that are delightful in literary style and fascinating historic interest.

A daring bank robber is in custody in Frankfort-on-the-Main, who has been posing in handsome style as Edward Carson, an American millionaire, at Berlin and Baden. The police inspector recognized "Carson" as Hardy, for whom the police of many large cities in the United States and Canada have been searching since December last. He will be held for extradition.

Late reports concerning the condition of Hon. W. E. Ellis, who was so severely hurt some time since, indicate that his improvement continues, and unless something unlooked for happens his recovery will be rapid. His injuries were very serious, and he is to be congratulated if they are to be attended with no worse results than temporary discomfort.

Twelve years ago, Dr. N. G. Blalock bought 400 acres of barren sagebrush land at $2.80 an acre, near Walla Walla. He irrigated it and planted it all with fruit trees, and now it is worth about $400 an acre.

Harvard university has applied for 7,000 square feet of space for a representative educational exhibit at Chicago. This looks as if it were proposed to enter Harvard's foot-ball team.

How dare any one say that Mr. Depew, who has been intrepidly eating heterogeneous dinners for years is a coward? Here is an insult that demands instant retraction.

As Gen. Weaver neither drinks, smokes nor swears, he may experience some difficulty in expressing his opinion of the election returns.

The Old Times are Not in It. While at our other store at Big Island, Va., last April, I was taken with a very severe attack of diarrhoea. I never had it worse in my life. I tried several old-time remedies, such as Blackberry Wine, Paregoric and Laudanum without getting any relief. My attention was then called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy by Mr. R. C. Tinsley who had been handling it there, and in less than five minutes after taking a small dose I was entirely relieved. -O. G. BURROD, Harris Creek, Amherst Co., Va. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.
