Hon. C. W. Cartwright returned from Hay creek yesterday. He found the road pretty hot and dusty.

Mr. J. W. Berry, warden of the Oregon state penitentiary, is sojourning in The Dalles, at the Umatilla house.

The Herald says Henry Steers, in lower Antelope, has a hay stack measuring 100 feet in length, 16 wide and 30 high.

Among the passengers for the north today via Goldendale stage, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Egan, of A. M. Williams & Co.

There is one beauty about The Dalles fruit. You can eat it after dark, without the aid of a candle. There are no worms in it.

Chicago and Dubuque are represented in The Dalles today by a couple of gentlemen who seem to be interested in what is to be seen.

Mr. Phil Brogan, sr., is building a residence on Third street, between Washington and Court, which will be quite an ornament to that portion of the city.

Mrs. Powell, the lady who was so badly injured by the runaway accident near Dufur, and was carried to this city for treatment, is very low, and hopes for her recovery indeed are faint.

The Guard says it was Messrs. L. A.
McNary of Portland and H. N. Cockerline of Eugene, who carried on the conversation with The Dalles party from the summit of Mt. Hood on the 24th.

Mr. Chas. Qualman, representing H.
S. Crocker & Co., of the Railroad Gazetteer, is taking in The Dalles. Mr.
Qualman feels quite at home at the Umatilla house. Years ago he was one of the clerks in a large establishment carried on by a brother of Mrs. Sinnott.

Sam Cline's patent fan Rucker, a real uxury, in which the recliner fans himself (or herself) by a rotary fan, worked by the action of the chair, was in operation in front of his store this morning.
County Clerk Crossen suggests that it should be taken to Chicago, as a representative of Oregon genius. We second the motion.

Chas. O'Neil informs the Antelope Herald that the land and live stock company have 23,000 sheep which yielded in average clip of 8 1/2 pounds this year.
This immense number of sheep requires the employment of forty men the year round and some parts of the year it takes no less than fifty or sixty men to manage them. Grass is fine in the mountain ranges.

Campbell Bros. soda fountain has a

This is what the truck farmer calls his tomato weather. It is indispensable to ripening—so it may be seen all seasons have their own.

The schooner Wasco, Capt. Donovan, left yesterday for Chenoweth. She will be back to port on Tuesday, and will then make a trip to wind river.

The board of trustees of the M. E.
Church say that if the new minister arrives services will be held at 11 a. m., and 8 p. m., tomorrow. Otherwise not.

Sam Thurman is in correspondence with some friends in the east, and it is thought another cannery will be established at The Dalles in time for next season's salmon fishing.

Jaakey Kamm says it's a poor rule that will not work both ways, and if the U.
P. R. Co., don't let him land his steamers at their dock, they shan't land their steamers at his Ilwaco dock. Kamm is all right.

We never tasted a green fig until today, and the beauty of this fig was its ripeness. It grew in Mr. E. Schanno's Dalles City orchard; and certainly no fig could be better flavored nor more perfectly matured in any country.
Good for The Dalles; figs of the white Adriatic variety.

The Regulator made a special trip to Cascade Locks today, to try her machinery. Since repairing she looks fine and sits on the water better than when she was launched, having had her chains tightened up and other exterior improvements made; not saying anything about the new and artistic paint work; is much improved.

The Oregon Pomological Society is in session in this city today. The subject of San Jose scale, which infests nearly every orchard in The Dalles, was the principal topic of discussion, and owing to the difficulties in the way of a general subject spraying, it was suggested that the city authorities be invited to assist in the work. It is a matter which we are confident the council would take a hand in if proper representation of the facts is officially made to them.

EXAMINATION OF BERGFELD.

Considerable Interest Taken in The Case
By The People.

Justice Schantz' court room was filled to suffocation last night at 7:30, by an anxious crowd to listen to the testimony taken in the case of the state of Oregon against Wm. Bergfeld, accused of the poisoning of his mother-in-law, Mrs.
Matilda Rogers.

The prosecution opened by calling Dr.
Hollister, the physician who had been called to attend deceased on the morning of her death. He reached the house about 6 o'clock, or a little before, and found the woman dead. There were no unusual appearances to indicate that death had resulted from poisoning. Considerable time was taken up by questions relative to the action of poisons on the human system. Conversations between witness and Mr. and Mrs. Bergfeld, regarding the funeral were detailed; and the condition of the body was described, as the witness found it. There was nothing apparent by which he could tell the cause of death, and all that he knew respecting the case he had learned from Mrs. Bergfeld. It was ascertained that the poison Rough on Rats, and some laudanum, was in the house. Witness sent an undertaker to the house by request of Bergfeld. No further instructions. There was no glass nor nothing in the room to show that deceased had taken a dose of any nature. No signs of frothing at the mouth. Body appeared natural for a corpse. Telegrams and messages were prepared to notify friends at a distance of the death. The time necessary to keep the body until these could arrive was discussed. Conditions of the stomach in cases of poison were explained by witness. Had never heard of a case of death from taking chloride of zinc.

D. L. Cates was called by the prosecution. Witness had a conversation with defendant on the street the day of the funeral. In his capacity as sheriff he had previously served some papers on deceased, and Mr. and Mrs. Bergfeld, in a suit of the First National bank. Mrs.
Rogers told him that she knew nothing of the cause of action; that she was living in dread of Bergfeld; that he had threatened her life; that he had drawn a revolver on her son, etc. These things witness told to defendant that day; defendant said if deceased said she didn't know of the suit she was a old liar; said his family was wealthy and would prosecute any one circulating damaging reports about his character.
Told the coroner what Mrs. Rogers had said, and told others who asked him about it.

Joseph Nitschke was called by prosecution. Arrived at the house at 7:30 a.
m. as undertaker. Found the body in the bed, covered over, and a handkerchief over the head and under the face to keep the chin in place. After talking with Mr. and Mrs. Bergfeld about keeping the body four or five days, proceeded with an assistant to embalm and prepare the body for keeping it. Used 3 1/2 quarts of embalming preparation. One quart was placed in the stomach. Found the corpse natural; no signs of froth at the mouth; arms and legs natural for a corpse. Had taken a sample of the fluid from the same bottle used that day and gave it to the coroner. The fluid comes in bulk, 5 gallon kegs, and is drawn off in bottles for use.

After the testimony of this witness had been taken court adjourned until 9
a. m. today.

On reassembling this morning awaiting witnesses J. H. Fisk, and L. V.

Hampton, from Portland, and F. N. and Eve Spicer from Antelope, the court admitted defendant to bail in the sum of $2,500, with the understanding that he is to report to the sheriff twice a day, morning and evening, and court adjourned until 2 p. m.

Pursuant to adjournment court met at 2 p. m. Witnesses having failed to reach the city, the case was again postponed until 9 a. m. Monday.

The Royal and the Soldiers.
Army and Navy Journal.

During the last year, including the March contracts recently awarded, the Royal Baking Powder company has supplied over 212,000 pounds, or 106 tons of baking powder for the United States government and its army and navy officers.

For many years the government has given its orders for Royal Baking Powder in preference to all others, it being found superior to all others in strength and purity by the official examination, and the only baking powder that will keep and retain its strength in the various climates to which it is sent by the department.

Greeting.
The Dalles CHRONICLE under the management of Oregon's pioneer journalist D. C. Ireland, is one of the best exchanges that comes to this office.
D. C. has seen the rise and fall of hundreds of newspapers and newspaper men, but through all the vicissitudes of an unusually eventful life, his facile pen has lost none of its cunning, and he is still doing yeoman duty in agitating the open river question. Like Banquo's ghost, he will not down, and we are glad of it.
Stay with 'em old man. We are with you heart and soul.—Vancouver Register.

Dr. Vandenberg at Home.
Buffalo Courier. Chemist Frank P.
Vandenberg has returned to Buffalo from his western trip, and is again at work in his laboratory. His mission in Oregon, it will be remembered, was to make assays of ores, and to study geologic formations. Somewhere on the road between the Pacific coast and this city are three big boxes of rock specimens, aggregating perhaps a ton, which on arrival at his laboratory he will reduce in his crucibles, and report upon their value to those interested in the lands inspected. Dr. Vandenberg is looking well and hearty and reports a pleasant and profitable western journey.

To Cloud Cap Inn.

cumigrating arms and legs enabled us to mark his course. The professor, regardless of all consequences to his Prince Albert could not resist the novelty of a toboggan ride in July. Soon all joined in the exhilarating sport, unmindful of any damage to wearing apparel.

The dark shadows cast by the mountain reminded us that the sun was sinking fast, and not relishing the prospect of a nights experience in snow and ice, we left the scene of our late toboggan slide.

The sight of a large gray wolf disappearing behind a bank of snow recalled to minds the stories of George Kennan's Siberian adventures. But before we had gone far, we heard the sounds of a human voice, as if it came from the very clouds above us. Looking up we saw on the extreme summit the minute forms of the two climbers who had left Cloud Cap Inn early that morning. We shouted to them and received answers from their lofty position some 2,000 feet above us.

On returning to the Inn supper was already prepared for us, and we soon succeeded in overcoming the almost ravenous appetite caused by our climb.
The stage stood before the door, and bidding good bye to all, much to the evident pleasure of our ancient maiden friend, who, learning of our departure cancelled her orders for the driver to call the next day, we left the snow banks of Mt. Hood, feeling well repaid for our trip. The drive homeward was uneventful. We met Malcolm Moody's coaching party from The Dalles. Mr. Moody, among his other acquisitions being very adept with the ribbons, had driven from The Dalles in remarkably fast time.

As the grade was now down hill we very soon reached Hood River, arriving in time to get aboard the 10:30 p. m. train thus making the round trip the same day.

Cloud Cap Inn is bound to grow in favor as a summer resort, and it will not be long before it will acquire a national reputation. Within a few hours ride from the railroad it is by no means unaccessible. The scenery there is pronounced by all artists and connoisseurs, far superior to any afforded by the mountains of Europe. Lovers of the beautiful in nature need no longer seek the Alps to gratify their desires for mountain grandeur. A trip to Cloud Cap Inn will not disappoint the most expectant.

T. A. Van Norden, the expert watch repairer at No. 106 Second street, The Dalles, appears to have a happy knack for holding the confidence of his patrons.
The secret, of course, is the usual one—skill in repairing even the most complicated watches. 7-13-1m
