LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

Mayor Robert Mays is in the city. Fresh stubble pasture at Sharps, on Three Mile.

Wheat dropped from 66 to 63½ in Salem, Saturday.

The Wasco News entered upon its second year last week.

E. D. Farrow, M. D., deposited his diploma with the county clerk today.

Dr. Rinehart informs us that he now has strong hopes of the recovery of Mrs. Powell.

Mr. J. P. Snodgrass, of Tygh Valley, is in the city today. A pleasant call at THE CHRONICLE office is acknowledged.

The Misses Beall left the city by Steamer Regulator this morning, and will join friends at Collins landing for an outing.

Hon. Van B. DeLashmutt passed through today en route for Boise City. From there to Coeur d'Alene. He is looking well.

Twenty years ago yesterday Dr. Doane, E. B. McFarland, Jesse Blakey, C. C. Grimes and Oscar Miller, (since deceased), climbed to the summit of Mount Hood.

Mrs. J. L. Story, Miss Auburn Story and Mrs. J. P. Clark, left this morning by the steamer Regulator route for Portland and Lafayette, on a visit to relatives and friends in the valley.

Rev. Joseph Nouri, D. D., who claims to have discovered the remains of Noah's ark on Mt. Arrarat, has been decorated by the czar of Russia and the shah of Persia, and bears upon his breast the rare order of the Star of Bethlehem.

Mr. S. L. Brooks, who was with the few who made the trip to Cascade Locks Saturday, by steamer Regulator, says the Columbia, below Hood River, was the roughest he has ever seen it. Waves ran fully eight feet high, and from crest to crest of wave was fully sixty feet.

It is reported that the corps of topographical engineers looking for the most feasible route for an extension of the Oregon and Washington railroad from Pendleton to a junction with the Oregon Pacific road have reached Steen mountain, and have been very successful in finding easy grades.

When you hear voices ejaculating "We demand," "We condemn," "We point with pride," and all that sort of thing, you may know that you are in the neighborhood of a political meeting; only that, and nothing more. There is no danger in the vocal explosions. Everything will quiet down in November.

The Regulator broke the record for speed Saturday. Running under a cut off she beat the trial trip record two minutes to White Salmon, 22 miles, in one hour and six minutes. The run to the Cascades was made in two hours and thirty-six minutes. From Hood River they had to run under slow bell on account of strong head winds.

Watermelons will soon be in The Dalles markets.

Ripe tomatoes appeared in The Dalles markets on the 19th.

Musk melons and cantaloupes have been in this market since the 23d.

Campaign hats today at 129 Second street. See the new ad of John C. Hertz.

A new threshing for D. P. Hertz arrived on the steamer Regulator Saturday.

The Regulator brought the boiler Saturday for the opposition steamer built by Mr. Kennedy.

Max Blanks new kiln of 250,000 brick will be ready for the market now pretty soon. This will make 400,000 burned by him this year so far.

All hands, and the superintendent, were cashiered at Cascade Locks last week. Now there isn't even "a gang of stone cutters at work," whittling down the appropriation.

Much more smoked salmon might be preserved with profit annually. A market can be found for tons of smoke salmon right here about home; besides car loads which might be sent east.

Wendell Hall, a brother-in-law of Wm. Bergfeld, is here from Spokane attending the examination. He says he has confidence in the innocence of the accused, and came down to render any assistance to the defendant that he could.

Destruction of the badger is one cause of the great increase in squirrels. If the farmer would only realize the fact, the badger is one of the best friends of the farm. He is as great an enemy of the squirrel as Will Crossen's dog, Rex.

Squirrels have taken to watermelons on Mill creek with the fascination of a plantation darkey. They have no judgment, however, and the green melon goes along with the ripe ones. It is feared they will cause a shortage in the supply.

The Glacier suggests that a boy with a dozen steel traps can keep the squirrels under subjection on a forty-acre tract. They make good food for chickens; but do not supply energy for the boy with the traps.

Black woodpecker is the enemy of apple orchards, and this year nothing less than a shot gun will keep them off when they put in an appearance. Here is a chance for Young America to display his bird shooting abilities with profitable effect.

THE CHRONICLE acknowledges a real good old-time social call today from Mr. J. C. Campbell, late of Ohio, "a McKinley man from McKinleyville." Mr. Campbell has been sojourning in Wasco county about a year now; and he fully agrees with a prominent democrat of The Dalles in one thing: "That the only crop that fails here is something that has never been cultivated."

Thomas Richmond, once a pioneer of The Dalles, met with an accident on his farm in Polk county, which resulted in his death last week. He was assisting a surveyor, and was about to climb over a high five-board fence when the board gave way and he fell on his head, breaking his neck. Richmond was a prominent man and a member of the state board of agriculture, having recently been reappointed by Gov. Penneyer.

UP MILL CREEK.

The Beauties of Nature Developed by Cultivation.

How many people are there in The Dalles who know anything of the advancement made in orchard cultivation by the Columbia River Fruit company? The writer, and county clerk Crossen, and James A. Crossen, plead guilty to the charge of ignorance in this respect until yesterday.

At the invitation of Mr. Crossen we of THE CHRONICLE took a seat in his carriage yesterday morning, and went bowling up Mill creek to Ned Weeks' retreat, just below the falls. Ned went up there several years ago, and took up two eighties, which he is making to blossom as the rose. He had no intention whatever of locating there, but he had actually broken down in health, and the change proved so beneficial to him that before he realized the situation he was digging up stumps and planting fruit trees. Soon Mrs. Weeks joined him, and the place became known to them as home. Both have worked industriously, and to show for it the home is well stocked with comfortable surroundings, and what may be classified as the beginnings for one of the most agreeable resorts in the mountains. Picturesque mountain walls of solid basaltic towering on one side and white sandstone on the other, with a circular granite wall of 110 feet at the upper end, over which pours a lovely sheet of clear water, form the environment. The soil between these high cliffs is rich, and the garden, the meadow, and the orchard attest the bountiful returns of labor. Mr. and Mrs. Weeks are never lonely in their chosen home. They always have company. Yesterday, besides the party of which we were one, Mr. and Mrs. Garrettson called, Mr. G. seeking the speckled beauties of the stream, of which he secured quite a number. Mrs. Fitzgerald was a guest of the home, with her children, and was enjoying her outing equally as though at the coast. She expects to return to The Dalles this week. Mr. Ed. Martin and Will A. Crossen have been there nearly a week, and will probably not return before Wednesday.

Returning we stopped at the Wilson ranch of the Columbia River Fruit Co., to pay respects to Mr. Higby, by invitation. Passing these ranches, on either side the high state of cultivation calls forth admiration from anyone. Once inside the gate and meandering through the rows of trees, around the blackberry patch, etc., ones admiration is struck with a great big exclamation point! then follows questions? which we will proceed to publish and answer at an early day, of interest to all.

No one doubts that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy really cures Catarrh, whether the disease be recent or of long standing, because the makers of it clinch their faith in it with a $500 guarantee, which isn't a mere newspaper guarantee, but is one that is "on call" in a moment. That moment is when you prove that their makers can't cure you. The reason for their faith is this: Dr. Sage's remedy has proved itself the right cure for ninety-nine out of one hundred cases of catarrh in the head, and the World's Dispensary Medical Association can afford to take the risk of you being the one hundredth.

The only question is—are you willing to make the test, if the makers are willing to take the risk? If so, the rest is easy. You pay your druggist 50 cents and the trial begins. If you're wanting the $500 you'll get something better—a cure.

Examination of Bergfeld.

Justice Schutz convened court at 9:30 a. m.

Witnesses from Portland were unable to leave last night, but would arrive on the noon train.

Mr. N. M. Eastwood, coroner, was the first witness called by the prosecution. Testified, was present when the body was disinterred; saw stomach after removal. After autopsy held by Drs. Logan, Doane and Rinehart took charge of the viscera, sealed them up and took them to J. H. Fisk, Portland. On account of odor was compelled to use disinfectant at the inquest.

Pined the examination of witnesses in the hands of E. B. Dufur.

Dr. Hollister was recalled and questioned concerning the poisonous properties of different compounds of zinc. Chloride of zinc was unquestionably a poison. Sulphate of zinc may possibly produce death. Made one trip to the Rogers' farm on the day of the death, did not see the deceased alive when I arrived. My judgment as to the cause of death was based on the information of Mrs. Bergfeld. Decided apoplexy to be the cause. Accidents to workmen resulting from zinc poisoning often caused by arsenic. Chloride of zinc is a corrosive poison, caused by the chlorine in the compound. It is a common preparation, is often used in the arts. Sulphate of chloride of zinc do not produce the same effect. Chloride of zinc causes an ulceration, sulphate a congestion. Did not consult with Judge Bennett concerning the case.

Bert Rogers, son of the deceased, and brother-in-law of defendant, was next summoned. Reside at Antelope. On receiving news of his mother's death came to town. Signed the paper demanding an inquest. Talked with defendant. He said that it would be the dearest paper I ever signed, and that he would have both me and my brother in the penitentiary, called me a—; further said that he further expected that I would feel cheap when it was found out that my mother committed suicide. My sister said that it was a hypocritical way we acted. Bergfeld said that he would have signed the paper asking for an inquest if it had been brought to him. Witness did not know whether his mother was troubled with dyspepsia or not; she was subject to headaches; also was subject to pains in the chest so severe as to compel her to go to bed; at times she could hardly breathe; never knew her to have any heart trouble.

N. M. Eastman was recalled, and having sprayed and disinfected, illustrated the manner in which he used them.

Attorney for the defense asked that a portion of the liquid be given him for analysis, court granted permission. The prosecution having no other witnesses present court adjourned to 2 p. m.

At 2 p. m., court convened pursuant to adjournment. At the time of going to press the testimony of Prof. Fisk, the expert chemist is being taken.

Warm Springs Agency News.

An Indian policeman from Warm Springs agency, passed through Friday to Yakima to arrest another Indian who abducted a girl from one of the Warm Springs schools. He expects to get his man today. The Indians at this agency have pluck, and while there are renegades in all tribes, the most of these believe in law and order.

There are now 923 Indians on the reservation.

The two missions are conducted by the Presbyterian board of missions. They are located twenty miles apart. One of them is in charge of Rev. Mr. Spear, and the other by Rev. Mr. Allen. Two nations of Indians the Warm Springs and the Wasco, patronize them.

Rev. M. Spear is now engaged in constructing a new school house, and a parsonage.

The new saw mill at one of the Warm Springs Indian missions now cutting lumber, and affords work for numerous Indians. It was put in by the Womans board of missions, and cost $1,800.

Prof. Mann, of Tiffin, Ohio, and Prof. Hertzog, of Seven-Mile, Ohio, are daily looked for here. They come to teach at the mission at Warm Springs.

The Governors are Right.

Oregonian. Governor Pattison is credited with having said that there are $6,000,000 in the state treasury, and that he will spend it all and mortgage the state besides before he will permit mob rule to dominate in Pennsylvania, and that he will keep the militia at Homestead a year if necessary to uphold the law and protect property and life against unlawful violence. Governor Willey seems to be of the same mind, and has decided to continue martial law in Shoshone county indefinitely, though, having the regular army at his service, he will not need to mortgage the state of Idaho. Both are right in the position they have taken, and should keep troops in the field so long as violence is threatened.

Beginning with Aug. 1st I will give a valuable premium to every person who orders one dozen cabinet pictures. Photos to be as good as the very best. Premium on exhibition after Friday next. Call and see them. Only good for a few days. Hunt, the photographer.
