The Columbia is gradually getting down to its normal condition. It has 17 feet to fall to zero, which means fifty feet above sea level at The Dalles.

dale, P. W. Knowles, J. M. Davis and wife, of Wamie, and D. Bridgefarmer of La Cunas, are registered at the New Fire on the mountain side, about Van Bibbers place last night, furnished The Dalles people a great pyrotechnic display. Mr. Van saved part of a stubble field by plowing around it in the right time.

July preparations were somewhat rich and racy. Col. Sinnott has stored away several new productions in his memory chest, but retired from the field when a guest related how a farmer in Marion county profited by a snake that had swallowed his clock. The snake was captured, and until the clock run down its striking was regular and its ticking could be heard. A short time ago the farmer found some eggs that had been deposited in a hole by the reptile and on breaking them open found that each contained an open faced watch in first class running order. He sold the watches at a big profit and has now given them to the snake as a present in the hope that it will produce enough corkscrews to enable him to start a wholesale drugstore.

AN OPEN QUESTION.

How soon will the Columbia be an Open River?

Special to THE CHRONICLE.]
"THE DALLES, Aug. 2.—If the trunk lines of railroad in New York state, the Central, Erie, Lachawanna, Lehigh and the Reading can earn quarterly dividends of 2 1/2 per cent. when carrying wheat from Buffalo to New York, distance of 425 miles for "2 1/2" cents per bushel, what dividend should the Union Pacific earn when carrying wheat from The Dalles to Portland, distance 88 miles, for "12 1/2" cents per bushel? Possibly the financial editor of the Morning Oregonian, or Maj. Handbury, can figure this out.

"A Branch Custom House."

Since when has Astoria become "a branch custom house," as intended to be interpreted by the following from the Telegram last evening: "Collector of Customs Lotan has received a statement of the branch custom-house office at As-toria for that part of the district, among which are some interesting statistics of other matters not directly pertaining to customs." Beg pardon; Portland is the branch. Astoria has the merited distinction of being a regularly constituted port of entry and departure before Portland was known, even to the oldest inhabitant. In fact the first federal building erected on the Pacific coast was the Astoria custom house. It is still standing in that city. The natural course of events would long ago have made Astoria a city equal to the combined cities of Puget sound, and Oregon would have had a sea port worthy of the great state she might have been—only for similar reasons which are now and have been so long preventing the opening of the Columbia river to free navigation.

THE BERGFELD EXAMINATION.

THE DALLES, August 2.—Court recon-vened at 6:30 a. m.

Mrs. Bergfeld testified: After mother died saw a letter written by Mrs. Spicer, the letter is now probably destroyed or in the possession of Bert Rogers.

Mr. F. Spencer, son-in-law of deceased testified: Defendant and deceased had some trouble about money matters.
Defendant made a proposition to Mrs.
Rogers and both became very much excited. Mrs. Rogers gave defendant money to pay school taxes, which the tax collector said was never paid. Berg-feld said that he had the receipt but could not find it. Defendant called her some hard names did not remember all of them, he called her a "damd old hog."

The defendant, after her death, said that he had no more respect for Mrs.
Rogers than for a dog. Was sent by the defendant to see how Bert Rogers felt about the matter and whether he suspicioned the defendant. The defendant wanted me to get Bert to stand in with him, as Will Rogers would have the matter gone through with, and Bert had great influence over Will. Defendant said that his defense would be suicide, and also that he thought that there was a will made out in favor of the boys, and that Mrs. Rogers had committed suicide to cheat him and his wife. Defendant said that C. Cates and Mr. Crossen spoke with her, and that Mrs. Rogers acted silly telling them that her life had been threatened. She clung to them saying that she was afraid of her life. Bergfeld told me that he had never threatened her life, and that I had heard all the threats made. Defendant said that he would take the administration out of her hands, and that he told Mrs. Rogers that she had the place deeded to her with the understanding that when the mortgage was paid it would be deeded back to the estate, and this was the reason he was going to have the administration taken out of her hands. He said that he would have a lawyer draw up the necessary papers.

On cross examination witness said that Bergfeld was dissatisfied with the management of the estate. During defendants conversation with the deceased there was considerable recrimination between the two, as the defendant claimed that as soon as the property was cleared from debt it would revert to the estate. The deceased claimed that it would become her property absolutely.
I told the defendant that neither I nor my wife took any stock in the stories concerning the death, but I deceived them in this. I told them several times that I had no suspicions.

Mrs. Bergfeld said that she thought if her mother was poisoned it was done with her own hand. Witness said that he did not remember whether Mrs. Berg-feld said that it would be a horrible thing to have her mother suspected of poisoning herself. The defendant said that he did not have the $2,000 but would pay in the fall in time to be applied on the mortgage. He complained because she sent money to Will Rogers.
Witness said that Mrs. Rogers had a pretty vigorous tongue when angered, and said mean things to Bergfeld. She once called him a thief. She became excited and I told Mr. and Mrs. Rogers that I thought she was crazy at times.
I also said that Mrs. Rogers had trouble enough to drive her crazy. She alluded to her troubles in her conversation with Bergfeld. Mr. Bergfeld charged Mrs.
Rogers with trying to separate him and his wife. Mrs. Rogers said that it was not so, and Mrs. Bergfeld said that it was a lie, you have.

Court took a recess 'till 1 p. m.

THE PORTLAND EXPOSITION.

How Oregon may be Practically Represented at Chicago.

From the Pacific Farmer.] A visit to the Portland exposition and an interview with Superintendent Mitchell demonstrates that everything is progressing rapidly toward the completion of one of the best exhibits ever held in the state. Mr. Mitchell says that he intends dividing the floor of the floral into as many spaces as there are florists who wish to exhibit, and let them draw for their choice of plot on which to place their flowers. From indications at present there will be more county exhibits than ever before. Mr. Morgan is kept constantly busy with collecting grain, grass, wool, etc., and Mr. Sargent has been placed in charge of the horticultural collection. It was found that the west gallery was too warm, so that the horticultural display will be transferred to the eastern gallery where the green fruits will keep better. This will throw all the carriage and similar exhibits on the west side. The building will be thrown open probably about the 25th of August if all arrangements can be made that visitors and strangers passing through the city can view the fine horticultural exhibit.

One of the finest exhibits will be the wool. There are already something like 100 fleeces on hand, of which W. H.
Wythycumb of Hillsboro sends ten Marino and ten Cotswold. D. C. Stewart sends seventeen fleeces, Ladd & Co. ten, Mr. Chas. E. Ladd sends in three fleeces, one buck weighing twenty-two and one-half pounds, and two ewes each weighing eighteen and one-half pounds.
Mr. R. Scott, of Milwaukie and others expect to send in fleeces. One of the most encouraging features of this wool exhibit is the fact that it is all full blood. The fleeces, or rather pelts, furnished by C. E. Ladd will be thoroughly washed, combed and mounted.

The exposition officials will act on a suggestion that the produce shown here will be carefully preserved and forwarded to the world's fair, at Chicago. Under these circumstances it behooves every farmer to exert himself and send something to the exposition.

No one doubts that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy really cures Catarrh, whether the disease be recent or of long standing, because the makers of it clinch their faith in it with a $500 guarantee, which isn't a mere newspaper guarantee, but is one that is "on call" in a moment.
That moment is when you prove that its makers can't cure you. The reason for their faith is this: Dr. Sage's remedy has proved itself the right cure for ninety-nine out of one hundred cases of catarrh in the head, and the World's Dispensary Medical Association can afford to take the risk of you being the one hundredth.

The only question is—are you willing to make the test, if the makers are willing to take the risk? If so, the rest is easy. You pay your druggist 50 cents and the trial begins. If you're wanting the $500 you'll get something better—a cure!

To The Public.

I have no hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the public, as I do to my friends and patrons. I used it myself after other well-known remedies had failed, and it cured me in a few minutes. I recommend it candidly and cheerfully upon its merits, not from a financial standpoint, because I have others in stock on which I make a larger profit, but because Chamberlain's is the best remedy I know of for bowel complaints. There is no doubt about it, it does the work—JAMES FONEY, Druggist, DALLES CITY, July 6th, 1892.

The Old Times are Not In It.
While at our other store at Big Island, Va., last April, I was taken with a very severe attack of diarrhoea. I never had it worse in my life. I tried several old-time remedies, such as Blackberry Wine, Paregoric and Laudanum without getting any relief. My attention was then called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy by Mr. R. C.
Tinsley who had been handling it there, and in less than five minutes after taking a small dose I was entirely relieved.
