HOW GREAT THE FALL.

A Philadelphia Fugitive Returns Shattered in Mind and Body.

FIVE YEARS AN EXILE FROM HOME.

Cursed by the Greed for Money, Wandering About the World.

SACRIFICE FOR FILTHY LUCK.

So Afflicted is the Victim That he Never can be Brought to Trial for his Crime.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—In the summer of 1887 James Hunter, of Philadelphia, started the financial world by a precipitate flight from the country after putting out forged papers to the amount of $106,200, was today held in $10,000 bail to answer, having returned unexpectedly on Sunday. When the steamship Segurance arrived in New York yesterday, it had on board the fugitive, broken in health, his mind shattered and bearing but a faint resemblance to the once honored business man who was head of the extensive mill firm of James and John Hunter. John Hunter was receiver of taxes and the firm was recognized in business circles as one of the most reliable in the state. The money raised by James Hunter is supposed to have been lost in western land speculation. Physicians examined James yesterday and had no hesitation in pronouncing him incurably afflicted mentally. Subsequently all the facts were placed before District Attorney Graham and he accepted bail. The return of Mr. Hunter was so quietly conducted that some members of the family will have learned of it through the newspapers today. There is no doubt in the minds of those who brought him back that he never will be in a condition to stand trial.

Refreshing For Allen.

Review. When Senator Allen reads the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of recent issues he will grit his teeth with rage and vexation. The trouble with the Seattle paper is of the "fond and foolish" variety. In its zeal to prove that Allen is King county's man it reprints everything it finds in the state papers charging him with neglecting the rest of the state. The Review, for example, printed an article declaring that Mr. Allen was elected by entering into a combination with Hunt and McGraw and their Seattle crowd. The Seattle paper hastens to fasten the collar by reprinting the article with approval and without denial. Elsewhere it was charged that Seattle was the open foe of the Columbia river, and this was also reprinted with approval. It looks as if the Post-Intelligencer had an idea that King county elects the senators for the state of Washington, and that Mr. Allen had only to carry the King county primaries to be returned to the Senate. That has been true in the past; but it is now time that the rest of the state were asserting its rights.

Nursing the Vipers.

Grants Pass Courier. Evidence multiplies daily to prove that this country in throwing her doors open so wide to the "oppressed of all nations" has put her foot in it and has cast pearls before a whole lot of pigs. Wherever foreigners have been allowed to concentrate in any great numbers, Americans have had to move. American liberty has been trampled upon, bigotry and intolerance established and open anarchy has reigned in its stead. The late assassination of Frick by a nihilist shows the kind of stock the "refuge of oppression" has been harboring. Yet, when will congress be brave enough to restrict our immigration laws in such a way that paupers, criminals and anarchists may be kept out? After the steed of liberty and equality has been replaced by anarchy, oppression and intolerance, there will be very little use of trying to lock the door. The doors will be locked on the lovers of true liberty themselves and they will have to find some other clime where property rights will be respected, and murder in all its forms condemned.

The Tariff—Money.

Review. Money is loaned in England at 2 per cent. The proprietor of the Spokane Chronicle loans his at from 12 to 15 per cent. What has the tariff to do with this.

A RAPACIOUS DISPOSITION.

The Position of Spokane on the Subject of an Open River.

From the Review Aug. 3.]

Some of the reasons brought forward by the railroad agents here to support their hostile attitude against the Spokane mills are amazing. "We want the long haul on everything," said one of these agents, "and if we don't get it we lose revenue that rightly belongs to us. Why should we build up your industry when you dispose of a considerable proportion of your flour to the local trade and thereby deprive us of the money we could earn if it had been hauled to Tacoma or the east?" For a hot day that is cool enough to be refreshing. We are even begrudged the bread we eat, and are pronounced unreasonable because we are unwilling to ship our wheat to Liverpool and buy our flour in Dakota. Henceforth the public must ever bear in mind that in eating bread or consuming any of the various products of this section it is "robbing" the transportation companies of money that they ought to have for hauling them to distant markets.

Spokane and the inland empire will be at the mercy of this rapacious disposition until the Columbia has been opened and an independent railroad has been built down to the Snake. Railroad men and railroad influences will ridicule this proposition, but it is nevertheless a fact that the water haul and independent lines of road have brought the transportation companies to terms elsewhere, and the same influence feared in this case. Until we can command this key to the transportation situation of the Pacific northwest, our industries will rise and fall at the caprice of distant railway officials who are manipulating their systems for all there is in it, and who will not hesitate to strike down the interests of investors and the hopes of the people whenever by so doing they can add a little to their revenues. This is a short-sighted policy, but it is the policy that frequently controls the management of the transcontinental railroads in their treatment of the industries of the cities through which they run.

A Very Important Fact.

Review. There is one fact that the wage-earners are overlooking in discussing the tariff. Laying entirely aside the question of wages as affected by the tariff, it is yet a matter of overpowering importance that the workingmen of this country should have continued employment. If the United States is to adopt a policy that will permit Europe to throw her manufactures into those markets; if the workingmen of Great Britain are to be maintained, fed and paid by the people of the United States; how can the American workingmen hope for steady employment? If we are to order half our shoes, half our clothing, half of this manufacture and that from another country, how are we to find employment for as many workingmen as under a policy that contemplates the preservation of the American markets for American industry?

A New Valley Pest.

Salem Journal. During the past year a number of cherry trees have been destroyed in this vicinity by a small insect which was entirely unknown to the fruit growers here. J. H. Albert has sent a specimen of this pest to the government entomologist at Washington, and has received the following reply: "The insect which has killed your cherry tree is one of bark beetles known as Monarthrus scutellaria. Other things being equal, this insect seems to prefer trees which are unhealthy rather than thrifty, vigorous growers. Very few observations have been made of this particular species and I am not aware of the exact time of egg-laying, but should this be ascertained the trees can be protected to some extent by washing them with soft soap reduced to the consistency of thick paint by the addition of washing soda and water."

Protection As Is.

Review. The Portland Telegram says "it costs $21,000 a day to keep the militia at Homestead, and this is another kind of protection the laboring man pays for." The militia is there by order of a democratic governor, and the labor troubles followed a reduction of the tariff.

HOMESTEAD AFFAIRS.

Carnegie People Charged With Murder and Conspiracy.

HUGH ROSS THE COMPLAINANT.

Report That Carnegie Will Withdraw His Pittsburg Donation.

MAD AT THE UNION RESOLUTION.

Secretary Lovejoy Denies the Report, and Says Mr. Carnegie Would Not Think of Such a Thing.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 4.—Secretary Lovejoy, of the Carnegie Steel company, when seen by a reporter this morning made an official emphatic denial of the story to the effect that Andrew Carnegie withholds his gift to the city in event of the city council's taking official notice of the protests from trades unions. Lovejoy said there is not one word of truth in the story that Carnegie is angry and will take back his gift. "Such talk," he said, "is the veriest nonsense. It has not been talked of here, and I am confident the author of that story did not get the statement from any one connected with Carnegie."

Hugh Ross, the strike leader, this morning swore out a warrant for the arrest of H. C. Frick, chairman; S. F. T. Lovejoy, secretary; J. A. Potter and G. Leishman and H. M. Curry, officials of the Carnegie company; J. A. Potter and G. A. Corey, superintendents at the mill; Robert A. and William Pinkerton and half a dozen of their men who took part in the fight at Homestead, charging them with murder. It is probable information will be made later against them for conspiracy to deprive the wages of the workmen, and to incite a riot by bringing armed men into Homestead. The suits were delayed on account of the shooting of Frick, and it is not the intention to arrest him at present. The attorneys for the strikers held a long consultation after the informations had been made, with the result that it was decided to serve the warrants only on Lovejoy and Potter. It is understood Lovejoy will surrender, waive hearing, and ask the court to fix bail.

A Late Discovery.

Moscow Mirror. Quite a number of union miners arrested for contempt and complicity in the Coeur d'Alene murders and other crimes have all at once discovered that they are not citizens and can not be held by the authorities. However, they deprive true born Americans of their rights, life and property, and it appears that they will be punished in proportion to their crime. They were citizens enough to commit murder and other crimes and they are surely citizens enough to suffer for their crimes.

Waking up at Last.

Review. Seattle knows where to throw her political influence in order to delay the opening of the river and hasten the digging of the ditch. It is a pity that more of the politicians of eastern Washington are not modeled after the mold of the Seattle politicians. It is time that we were looking out for our over interests; too long we have played the puppet for the overbearing and selfish forces that are determined to rule or ruin the state.

Congressman Ellis Improving.

Heppner Gazette. Hon. W. R. Ellis came up town for the first time last Thursday. He made another visit Saturday, though on both occasions he was unable to walk, even with crutches, but was brought up in the bus. Even this is a treat to a man who has been in doors nearly sixty days. From the way he is improving it will not be long till he can use his crutches, with no fears of re-breaking his game leg.
