FIENDS IN BUFFALO.

Property Destroyed and Life Sacrificed by Another Union.

SWITCHMEN STRIKE IN BUFFALO.

They Burn the Cars, and Throw Trains Off by Turned Switches.

JEERING DEMONS AT THE WRECK.

Perched Upon Cars they Smoke and Enjoy the Result of their Lawless Work.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The first dispatches sent out from here yesterday regarding the devilish work of the strikers, was a tame affair. They set the fires which destroyed more than 200 loaded cars, at 2 a. m. yesterday. They turned the switches which threw passenger coaches off the track at great loss of property, and the imminent peril of life; they clubbed and sandbagged non-union men wherever found; they stole all the switch-lights on the Erie between Smith street and the Western New York and Pennsylvania target, and the switches could not be seen in the darkness. A wrecking train left this city to bring the passengers from Erie train on the other side of the fire, and Lehigh train from Philadelphia. The trains were both late as they reached the city, and were thrown from the rails by the turning of the switches. At 2:40 o'clock the Erie passengers were brought into the city, tired and disgusted. They were not molested by strikers, but the ladies and children were considerably frightened by the rioting and fires of the freight-cars. Lehigh Valley train arrived at Erie station at 3 a. m. It lay at Williams street five hours. The strikers had an impression that an extra train which was filled with actors, was carrying trapeze artists to take the places of the strikers. The strikers searched it, but failing to find any non-union men, they withdrew without injuring anybody. Members of the theatrical company stated that the confusion and the fire just beyond Williams street was appalling around the burning cars. The strikers and their sympathizers were enjoying the result of their lawless work.
Perched high on box cars, they smoked and jeered at the railroad men working at the blazing wrecks. At 4:45 a. m. the situation was improved somewhat and the prospect favorable for car passage.

Freight Conductor Martin Nevils, of the Erie, died this morning from the result of his injuries. Nevils was hit on the head, it was supposed, with a slung-shot. Union men were assaulted where-ever found. The Lehigh Valley lost seventeen cars, and the Erie twenty-four.
Railroad men are unable at present to fix an estimate of the loss. A claim will be made against the city and county for damages, and the amount, of course, has not yet been figured up. Forty-seven special deputy sheriffs left for Cheektowaga and more will be sent out during the afternoon. If the sheriff finds he cannot enforce order he will appeal to the government for military aid. The strike has spread to Waverly, and will probably go to Hornelleville and Bradford where the switchmen are dissatisfied. It will not spread to any others in Buffalo, because, "Grand Master Sweeney" says:
"We have come to an agreement with the Western New York and Pennsylvania on a 10-hour basis, and will have no trouble with that road. A conference with the general superintendent of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg has been arranged for today. I expect a settlement also to be made with that road." Sweeney claims that the Erie and Lehigh switchmen have been treated badly, their advances being spurned by those in high authority, and offers an apology for the unions, at whose secret meetings the incendiarism was enthused; by emphatically condemning the acts of lawlessness, and stating that it was the work of irresponsible individuals who could not be controlled, and not of the strikers. In the ruins of one of the cars burned last night the police have found the remains of an empty kerosene can, showing the manner in which the fire was started by incendiaries. The car department claims the work of the men at the freight-car department was much impeded by the cutting of hose by unknown parties. Twelve lengths of hose were cut and rendered useless during the night. It is estimated that from 100 to 200 cars were destroyed by the incendiaries.

Waste of Salmon.

Astorian. A letter from The Dalles in the Oregonian refers to the waste of salmon at the locks which The Astorian mentioned at the time. Adds: "I would like to have a few words so say in regard to the method of taking the royal chinook, the king of all fish. I think precisely like the governor does, if fishwheels and traps are not done away with immediately, the fish industry of Oregon will be a thing of the past, and that in a very few years. I have lived in The Dalles for a number of years, and in the past four or five years have noticed the salmon getting fewer each year, and more wheels being built each winter. I have read the laws of Oregon on taking salmon, and as it is so strict against foreigners engaged in such, why are the half dozen Chinamen a few miles above The Dalles, allowed to own and operate a fishwheel unmolested?
Where are the fish commissioners' eyes?
Of course Chinamen will engage in any business where there is the color of a dollar in sight. I say, down with the fish-wheels and traps, and let the state set a fair price on the cost of building such wheels and traps, and pull them out of the river, and give the salmon a chance to increase as of old. Seines and gill nets are the only true ways of fishing."

Lost Art Discovered.

Quebec Press. One of the most wonderful discoveries of recent years is that made by a blacksmith of this city, Ferdinand Allard. It is the long lost art of hardening copper axes and other edged tools made of hardened copper. These, which are exhibited by him, rival the best steel of the present day. A piece of Allard's prepared copper has been tested at the government rifle ranges.
A shot was fired from forty yards distance and the bullet was shivered into a thousand fragments. Another shot was fired and the missile striking more squarely, was completely flattened. This is claimed by experts to be vastly superior to anything the best steel could do under like circumstances, and the matter is to be brought to the immediate notice of the British lords of the admiralty.

Law and Order Man.

Oregonian. John H. McGraw, republican candidate for governor of Washington, was sheriff at Seattle when the lawless attempt to expel the Chinese from that place was made. He did his duty in suppression of riot and enforcement of law and order—a fact which shows that he would make a good governor. But it is just a bit dangerous to nominate such a man, or a man with such a record, in a country where the suffrage is in the hands of the great numbers who detest those who would put upon them the restraints of justice, authority and law.

Better than a Libel Suit.

Review. The attention of belligerent individuals who feel aggrieved over the publication of personal articles in the newspapers, is directed to the growing custom of challenging the editor. A few days ago the Marquis de Mores challenged the editor of the Chicago Tribune and now the editor of the Denver Republican has been called out by Dr. Carver, the famous rifle shot. In some respects this is better than a libel suit. The belligerent receives quite as much notoriety —the editor is more badly frightened, and attorney fees are saved.

The Prohl. Combats.

Review. One by one the presidential and vice presidential candidates are officially notified. The last to receive this startling bit of intelligence was the prohibition candidate for vice president, who appropriately enough lives in Texas.
With Bidwell to fight the wine and brandy interests in California, and Cranfill to antagonize the tarantula juice industry in Texas, the prohibition party ought to make decided advances this fall.

Would Like to Try It.

Commoner. It is said that Queen Victoria takes great pleasure in gardening. She does not herself get down on her hands and knees and dig and pull weeds, but she walks about and admires those who are doing such work. If we could only run farms that way in the Palouse we'd never get horny-handed.

ALL ABOUT TWO WILLS

A Somewhat Tardy Defense of Dr.
Henry M. Scudder, Jr.

AN ALMOST FORGOTTEN CASE.

A Stern Fight Coming in Court Over Two Wills of The Estate.

WHICH ONE IS THE LEGAL HEIR?

Charges Due to a Desire on the Part of Mrs. Duntton's Side to Secure the Property.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—When Dr. Henry Martyn Scudder, Jr., died in his cell in the county jail last June, probably from the effects of poison administered by his own hand, the public supposed that the remarkable case would sink into oblivion. But the family of the dead man, who so long as the prisoner lived said nothing in his defense, have chosen now to defend his memory. The first statement from the family is a long communication from a brother, Dr. Doremus Scudder. It is a remarkable production, and states for the first time the views of the nearest relatives of the man who is generally believed to have murdered Mrs. Duntton, his mother-in-law, to have tried to poison Mr. Duntton and to have forged a will in order to obtain possession of the property of Mrs. Duntton. It is a strange defense. Doremus says Henry was insane before Mrs. Duntton's death and showed homicidal and suicidal tendencies. He was insane after her death, says this near relative, tried to kill his own father, and in all probability deliberately poisoned himself. Yet it is the claim of his family that Henry Scudder did not kill Mrs.
Duntton, did not try to kill Mr. Duntton, did not forge the will that is believed to be a forgery. This will, Dr. Doremus says, is valid. The charges against his brother, he says, were due to the desire on the part of Mrs. Duntton's relatives to obtain Mrs. Duntton's property. But in making these harsh statements in regard to the mourning relatives of the dead woman what does Dr. Doremus Scudder reveal on the other side? The second will, he says, is no forgery.
Therefore it is apparent that the first document will be contested in the interests of Mrs. Dora Scudder. This is rendered more certain by the silence of Dr.
Doremus Scudder regarding the circumstances surrounding the making of the will or wills, and the attempt of Dr.
Henry Scudder to remove the tin box containing Mrs. Duntton's papers. So it is fair to conclude that a stern fight is coming in court over these two wills.
The strange case is yet full of interest for the public.

Billiard Tournament.

New York, Aug. 16.—Billiard players from all over the world are interested in the great tournament in Paris, where Frank Ives, the young Balk line champion of the world; ex-champion Jacob Schaefer and George F. Slossen, the famous "Student," are to try conclusions with the French experts and with one another.

Parisians are great lovers of billiards.
Nearly every one plays well, and even those who do not are very good judges of the game. Very naturally all the French experts go to Paris, and at present a formidable array of famous players, among them Vignaux, Garnier, Piat, Gibelin, Coffart, Beau, Paige, Rudolphe, Cure and Fournil, are in the French metropolis to meet the Americans. The foremost billiard player in France is Maurice Vignaux, who is 50 years of age, and the hero of many a remarkable game on the green table. He is equally strong at balk line or cushion caroms, and Vignaux's Academy, which is run in his name, but is not his property, is probably the most popular resort in Paris.
