THE MILITIA RED TAPE BURDENED

The Coal Company Willing to Give up
The Lease of Convicts For the Good of Peace.

St. Louis, Aug. 20.—The latest from the mountains of Tennessee is up to 1:30 yesterday morning. It is very difficult to get into the mines, as the miners have lined the railway tracks with dynamite; and it is equally difficult to obtain any definite news from there as the wires have been destroyed and special reporters in many instances taken captive. In a fight on the 18th, 12 miners were killed and 20 wounded. An attack by the miners was made, with 300 men against 150 troops. A return fire was ordered by Gen. Anderson, and a blaze from every side of the fort belched out. Some were killed outright and many wounded. The miners took possession of the stockade and began to order the convicts to leave, and had them all captured when Gen. Anderson assembled all his soldiers at the side the miners were on, and, moving a howitzer to that side, began to bombard them. The miners stopped in their work of releasing the convicts, and turned to get out of the way of the heavy fusillade of bullets. The miners retreated on double quick carrying 12 dead and about 20 wounded with them.

Gen. Carnes' scouts were compelled to leave the railroad because of dynamite on the track, and marched through the woods from Clinton, where they were fired on by miners. When the main force came up there was a lively skirmish, and in ten minutes the miners were in full retreat, leaving four dead and carrying several wounded with them. General Carnes' loss is four dead and six wounded. The wounded were placed in an ambulance and taken on the forward march to Coal creek. The troops left the regular road, attempting to reach Coal creek by a mountain pass. Nothing has been heard from the Knoxville company since it passed through Clinton Thursday afternoon.

Gen. Anderson was captured on Thursday by five men coming under a flag of truce. They enticed him into the village by promises of safety. On turning a corner they were met by a mob, who took him to a hotel and demanded that he sign an order to his lieutenant for the surrender of the stockade and fort. Though threatened with hanging, he refused to sign, and asked only that he be shot and his grave marked so his family could find it. General Carnes advanced on the depot and captured it without firing a gun. He then moved toward Fort Anderson, and the miners fired on the troops. One soldier and one miner was killed, and three wounded. The miners surrendered unconditionally and promised to deliver General Anderson yesterday afternoon. At Oflets, Gen. Carnes learned that 500 miners awaited him at Knapps summit, near Coal creek, and three cattle-cars were lined with dynamite, so he left the train and went up a narrow valley, and when last heard from was within two miles of Coal creek, awaiting for daylight, when a bloody fight is expected.

The officials of the coal company in New York have telegraphed to the Tennessee state officials their willingness to surrender the lease of the convicts if they can do so, in the interests of peace. The company offered to surrender it at the last session of the legislature. President T. C. Platt pointed out the peculiar law of Tennessee by which the power to call out the militia is vested in the legislature, and not the governor. All that officer could do was to call a special session and lay the matter before it. Tennessee's militia organization was weak, anyway. Mr. Platt said he had no doubt that the governor would do the utmost in his power to preserve law and order.

The Bourbon Usages.

Review. The infamous convict laws of Tennessee and other southern states were passed by democratic officials. The bourbon clings lovingly to old outrageous usages that smack so strongly of slavery.

American Meats in Demand.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—A cable from Berlin, stating that trichinae had been found in American hams and bacon, is positively denied by Sec. Rusk. He says: "We have not been officially notified that any hams or bacon bearing our government certificates of inspection contained trichinae. There have been meats which did not bear the government stamp but were certified by some German consuls in the United States which passed into Germany. They are doubtless those alluded to in the dispatch. We have been unable to meet the demand in Germany for our inspected meats. They sell fifty cents per hundred pounds higher than uninspected. Germany has never refused our inspection. We have no objection to their inspection."

Cheating the Native Sons.

Sheridan Sun. The gobbling up of large tracts of fine timber lands in the coast range is cheating many a native and adopted son of Oregon out of rights under the law to a homestead. No one ought to get government land in Oregon except by actual residence upon and cultivation of the tract selected, according to the law. The law governing the purchase of lands has been grossly abused, and hundreds of men have perjured themselves to secure land for corporations whose aim is to cut off the valuable timber and hold the large tract acquired at speculative figures, thus impeding the settlement of the country, which, if it is done at all, must be by the needy but actual settler.

Westminster Refrigerator.

Columbian. The fish refrigerator at Port Essington is a profound mystery to the Indians. They cannot understand how the building is kept cool when sparks, smoke and steam are almost always issuing from the place. This refrigerator is used principally in putting up white salmon, which are shipped in ice filled cases to Italy, where there is a great demand for the fish thus preserved. These fish have hitherto been cast away as useless, whereas they now realize a fair price, and thus afford a new channel through which whites and Indians alike may profit in the future.

A Pull Together.

Condon Globe. Plenty of water has been found in the various new wells which have just been dug in different portions of town, sufficient to supply a town five times the size of Condon. If some of our citizens will now stop their peevish, childish jangling and pull together more harmoniously, instead of encouraging the town to divide up into a half-dozen different factions, we will soon have the leading city of the Inland Empire. No town ever prospered much until its citizens all pulled together for its improvement.

Gasoline Stove Disaster.

Chico, Cal., Aug. 20.—As a man named Wright was filling a gasoline stove, which had been burned out but retained a spark of fire somewhere, it exploded, enveloping himself, wife and 3-year old child in the flames. The house was burned down and the child perished in the flames. Mrs. Wright cannot live and Mr. Wright is badly burned, his arms to the elbow being fairly cooked. One hand will be crippled for life.

Unwelcome Visitors.

Moro Observer. The quietude that prevades the Phelps ranch at the mouth of the Deschutes was somewhat disturbed last week by the presence of a rattlesnake, a wild cat and a gray fox. The trio furnished considerable sport for Fred and his brother, it being the first appearance there of such novel visitors.

LIFE OF THE TRANSCONTINENTAL.

The New York Meeting Will Perhaps be of Historic Note in the Pacific Northwest.

PORTLAND, Aug. 20.—An article on the railway situation in general, and the Transcontinental association in particular, which appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle yesterday and was telegraphed here, has caused a generous smile to play about the features of the officials of the companies mentioned. The Chronicle says the fight being made by San Francisco merchants to have freight rates to and from the east reduced has placed now the Union Pacific in a position to very soon take a hand in the competition for the business, and that company is making preparations to that end. The Pacific Mail Steamship company, controlled by the Southern Pacific company, has always been handled as a club with which to threaten any intending competitor on water. As it is likely that the Transcontinental association will refuse to pay the subsidy any longer, the Union Pacific will be ready for the business by placing a daily line of steamers to Astoria from San Francisco. The new railway line from Astoria to Portland, it is an open secret, is being built by the Union Pacific. The distance between the two towns is 100 miles, and one-quarter of the road is now completed. When this line is finished the Union Pacific steamers will land their freight at Astoria and will then send it direct east. There is no question but the effort to stop the subsidy to the Pacific Mail Steamship company will be made at the meeting to be held in New York next week, but that the Union Pacific contemplates the establishment of a daily steamer line between San Francisco and Astoria is ridiculous. The company is now operating three steamers, which are adequate to the demands of trade, though another steamer might be added. So far as the building of the road from here to Astoria is concerned, Union Pacific people are not trying to disguise their hand, and frankly admit that they are interested in the measure. Every Union Pacific official who has come west during the past year, says the Telegram, has gone down to Astoria, not for their health, but to look after their interests. Apropos to the Transcontinental meeting, and the fight in the Pacific Mail, a well-known railroad man said: "The meeting may end in a collapse. The association boards are dissatisfied because they are compelled to pay an annual subsidy of $850,000 to the Pacific Mail, which is nearly controlled by the Southern Pacific company."

Pay the Price of the Royal for Royal only.

Royal Baking Powder is shown by actual chemical tests absolutely pure and 27 per cent greater in strength than any other brand.

Many grocery stores have recently been stocked with second-class brands of baking powder, which are urged upon consumers at the price of the high-cost, first-class Royal.

These powders cost from 8 to 30 cents a pound less than the Royal, besides being of 27 per cent less strength. If they are forced upon you, see that you are charged a correspondingly lower price for them.
