

The Dalles Daily Chronicle.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF DALLES CITY AND WASCOCO COUNTY.

National Republican Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT, BENJAMIN HARRISON, of Indiana. FOR VICE-PRESIDENT, WHITELEW REID, of New York. FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS, J. F. CAPLES, of Portland, H. B. MILLER, of Grant's Pass, G. M. IRWIN, of Union, D. M. DUNNE, of Portland.

There are 63,000,000 people in the United States, and 62,000,000 of them would like to see Corbett whip Sullivan, at New Orleans on the 7th. The Boston brute is tolerated only because he is a champion. Whatever admiration he exacts is due to his physical superiority over all other men. Destroy that superiority and interest will cease in his movements and intentions. Sullivan seems to realize this. He comprehends that this is a crisis in his unique career, and that the country in general, and his enemies in particular, would rejoice to see him downed. He is, therefore, amenable to the discipline of his trainers, and is doing everything that can be done to place himself in fine condition for the contest. This conviction, coupled with his dogged determination and wonderful powers of endurance, will cause him to fight desperately for continued supremacy. Much as he likes money, and great as are his needs in that respect, he will fight for the belt rather than the purse.

In sporting circles John L. rules the favorite, although Corbett has a great deal of moneyed backing; generally at odds of 70 to 100. Corbett's backers do not pretend to say that their man is the pugilistic prodigy that Sullivan has been. They merely claim that Mr. Sullivan is not the man he once was, a conviction that is shared also by Sullivan's friends; and that the time has arrived for him to be downed and Corbett is the man to do the work. Unless Corbett should give Sullivan a knock-out blow he would have to beat him into slow insensibility before the Bostonian would give up. If he should succeed, however, in displacing the champion, the downfall of the latter would be sure and speedy. Grief, rage and various excesses would make short work of him.

Here is a little gem of real Jacksonian democracy, uttered by Mr. Jackson himself: "We have been too long subject to the policy of British merchants. It is time we should become a little Americanized; and instead of feeding the paupers and laborers of England, feed our own, or else in a short time (by continuing our present policy) we shall be rendered paupers ourselves." The "present policy" alluded to was a purely revenue tariff. Mr. Jackson's views are particularly commended to those democrats who are prating about Jacksonian democracy in one breath and calling for a revenue tariff in the next.

Emma Godman, the anarchist, used to live in Philadelphia, and it is related that once when the house cat captured a sparrow she nearly fainted at the sight. She rescued the bird, tenderly nursed it back to life, and when it died some time afterward she buried it with tears in the back yard. In view of this exhibition of tenderness of heart on the part of the "anarchist queen" it would be interesting to know whether she would jump on a chair at sight of a mouse.

The Douglas County Democrat states that there is every indication that the land along the Columbia now held in abeyance because of alleged errors in the survey may be thrown open to settlement soon. The matter is now under consideration by the treasury department. This tract comprises some of the finest fruit lands in that section.

Gen. Beauregard passed through Tennessee the other day en route to Yellow Sulphur Springs, and while he was in Bristol several men who served under him over thirty years ago, at the time he fired on Fort Sumpter, called to pay their respects. The general is now 75 years of age, but he is in fine condition physically.

The republican senate passed up an amendment providing for the opening of the Columbia river. The democratic house voted it down and refused to appropriate a dollar. How long would it take to open the river at this rate.

Mr. Harrison's letter of acceptance will probably be given to the public tomorrow. And it won't carry joy to the heart of Great Britain either.

By the time the student has mastered all the long words of science his eyesight is too far gone to make many discoveries.

Something is lost when you use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's Catarrh. The worst cases yield to its mild, soothing, cleansing, and healing properties. No matter how bad your case, or of how long standing, you can be cured. Incurable cases are rare. It's worth $500 to you, if you have one. The manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Remedy are looking for them. They'll pay you that amount in cash, if they can't cure you. It's a plain square offer from a responsible business house, and they mean it. It seems too one-sided, too much of a risk. It would be—with any other medicine behind it. It only goes to prove what's been said: incurable cases are rare—with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Other so-called remedies may palliate for a time; this cures for all time. By its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, it conquers the worst cases. It removes offensive breath, loss or impairment of the sense of taste, smell or hearing, watering or weak eyes, when caused by the violence of Catarrh, as they all frequently are. Remedy sold by druggists, only 50 cents.
