THE CHOLERA IN NEW YORK.

Hamburg dispatches report the present cholera epidemic the worst that has ever visited that city, and every hour the situation becomes worse. People are dying off like sheep and the plague is spreading. Bitter imprecations are heaped upon the authorities for their piggheadedness in letting the victims lie unburied to scatter contagion among all, while they hunted for papers to show the age, occupation, etc., of the dead person. A reign of terror prevails, and every person who can possibly do so is fleeing from the city. In many parts of the city groceries, bakeries and butcher shops have been closed by the police, the owners and their salesmen having been stricken down while attending to business.

The imminent and immediate dangers to the port of New York, from arrival from Hamburg has increased the past two days by arrivals from Germany notably, and the infected passengers have been landed on Hoffman Island. While there is cause for alarm it is said the quarantine regulations in the United States are so perfect that our health officers have great confidence in their power to prevent the spread of the disease. Time alone will tell. With the utmost precaution cholera may cross the continent to this coast, even to this city. With our daily railway traffic such a thing is more liable to occur than in 1850, when it last visited this coast in its worst form, when thousands of emigrants were buried in lonely graves along the trail, victims of a disease of which little was then known beyond its deadly character. Some of these graves are not far from us, a number being in the Blue mountains and on the sandy wastes along the Columbia river, while more are to be found on the high plateaus about Fort Hall, Idaho. Cholera is a fifth disease, partaking in this of the nature of the various forms of typhoid, scarlet and kindred fevers, and is attended with some of the same premonitory symptoms, hence that cleanliness which is akin to godliness, should be elaborated upon with profit to the human family.

The members of the La Conner party arrived home the other day, says the Puget sound Mail, after a twelve days' expedition to the snow-crowned peak of Mount Baker. On the morning of the 6th the party left for Mount Baker. After traveling through an almost impenetrable jungle for four miles they struck a river and traveled a few miles more and camped for the night at the snow line of Mount Baker. While the boys were busy preparing supper a herd of wild goats ran close to the camp, and all hands fired, but none were killed. After breakfast on the morning of the 7th the party started for the summit of Mount Baker traveling over snow, ranging from four to 200 feet deep, reaching the crater, within 500 feet of the summit, about noon. One member of the party went within 150 feet of the summit, and said he could easily have made it were it not for a crack in the snow. They found an acre of ground full of little holes, through which fumes of sulphur escaped. They pried into one with a stick and it soon began to burn and the lava flowed down the hill in rivulets. It was pure sulphur. Then began the descent, which was accomplished in the short space of time of one hour and a half. Mr. Gray says he had always deemed it impossible to go to the top of Mount Baker, but is now satisfied that it can be done and without much difficulty.

The work of surveying the Colville reservation will be begun in about two weeks, or as soon as final instructions from the treasury department are received. The Colville Republican says: "It is thought that only the base line will be run this year, and possibly the Indian land will be laid off also."

Herr Natchauer, of the Vienna corn exchange, thinks Europe only hope for successful competition with the wheat growers of America, lies in the digging of a network of canals in Central Europe. Thus does the advantages of water transportation crop out over the civilized world.

After dinner, if you have discomfort and suffering, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, or Anti-Bilious Granules. They're made to assist Nature in her own way—quietly, but thoroughly. What the old-fashioned pill did forcibly, these do mildly and gently. They do more, too. Their effects are lasting; they regulate the system, as well as cleanse and renovate it. One little Pellet's a gentle laxative; three to four act as a cathartic. They're the smallest, cheapest, the easiest to take. Unequaled as a Liver Pill. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You only pay for the good you get. Can you ask more?
