LOCAL BREVITIES.

Whittier is dead. Wheat begins to come in lively. Mrs. A. M. Williams and family have returned from Clatsop. Graham Glass, jr., the Australian booth man, is in the city. The Klickitat farmer ought to rejoice at free ferrige to The Dalles. A. J. Brigham and J. W. Johnson, of Dufur, are at The Umatilla. J. H. Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. Baker, of Centralia, are in the city. Mrs. Henderson, of Portland, arrived last night, and left for Dufur this morning. Miss Ada Boardman and Mrs. J. E. Lester, of Kansas City, are at The Umatilla. No servants' alarm clock is needed on the early-morning route of a handsome milkman. Have you seen those bargains in towels that Mays and Pease are offering at 5 and 10 and 12 1/2 cts.?

Mount Hood Lodge, B. I. F., have paid Charles Velin $1,500, total disability benefits, because of the accident which occurred to him some time ago on the road. County court is in session today on work which includes the commissioners. It is thus far routine, but there is expected to be a levee tomorrow on the Hood River liquor license petition. Mr. and Mrs. Wyndham have located in The Dalles permanently, and Mr. Wyndham has become associated with Mr. Frazer in the Neptune shaving parlors on Front street. See ad. today. Aside from the county court, there is but one other court in the city in session today. Justice Schutz is hearing an ugly domestic case from the East End, in which the defendant is arraigned for beating his wife. The Wagner palace car wanderer dropped out of the morning passenger at The Dalles today and was attached to the down freight. The tourist party to whom the car belonged took the steamer Regulator for Portland. The water company would make money by attaching meters to the Chinese wash house faucets in The Dalles notably along Front street, where a perfect cataract is flowing continually from Wing Chong's service pipe. C. J. Crandall of this city, secretary of the northwest funeral directors association, officially announcing the annual meeting at Seattle on the 27th, informs members of the great benefits to be obtained from attending, and urges all to be present if possible. The Hood River base ball nine came up on the noon train today to play The Dalles nine. In consequence of a misunderstanding, some of the boys being out of town, and failing to put in an appearance, the game was postponed. We hope to see the boys meet yet this fall. The State Printer Hon. Frank C. Baker, is now very busy issuing the 50,000 edition of the Resources of Oregon, pamphlet of 200 pages. It is calculated that it will take six weeks to complete the work. After that he will start to work on the Resources of Eastern Oregon. Choice grapes, in 20 lb boxes, and good peaches are in such demand in Portland today that dealers are telegraphing to this city for them. The Dalles producers can supply all demands made upon them now, and within five years will be able to ship enough to supply half a dozen states daily. Prof. G. Lorant, who is in The Dalles putting up fruit for the exposition and the Columbus fair, received peaches today from Messrs. Holman, Creighton and Urquhart which will challenge the admiration of the World! Bring on your fruit to beat the World! now, while Prof. Lorant is in the city. He will not remain here till next Christmas. International peace congresses, monetary conferences and the like are being held. The nations of the world, through those agencies, are yearly becoming more unified. In the face of all this, is it not about time that an international sanitation congress was held? Prevention is the best cure for Asiatic cholera; prevention is best secured through proper sanitation; then why not have the leading nations of the world unite in such an effort, and, by so doing, eliminate the danger which now threatens each from the inroads of this dread disease.

Mr. A. A. Jayne of Arlington, met with an accident while out shooting yesterday. Mr. S. G. Hawson telegraphed to Senator Hilton that he would lose his right hand, having shot himself in the arm. The hand was amputated yesterday. Mr. Jayne has many friends in The Dalles to extend sympathies to him in his distressed condition.

Pocket map of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming, five states in one cover, handsome, handier, better, than any $1 map yet made; 7 colors, in strong cover; all counties, rivers, railroads, postoffices. Correct to date. Also maps of all states in same style. Agents wanted. Even boys and girls make money fast. We mail agents any samples wanted, on receipt of 25 cents each. Address the Matthews-Northrup Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

If it is such a great inconvenience to the board of U. S. engineers, and the duties are so arduous as to cause them so much trouble, why would it not be a good idea for some one to start a petition asking the Oregon legislative assembly to use its influence to secure the right from the general government to complete the cascade locks as the locks at Oregon city were completed; without any advice from the board of engineers or aid from the public treasury. This great big bugaboo job would very quickly subside into a business proposition, shorn of the red tape and government stringencies used by corporate influence, to hold it back and blind the eyes of the public to the facts as they really exist.

A SALMON FARM.

A Wonderful Large Number of Salmon in the Columbia. Day before yesterday the noon train carried a couple of representatives of THE CHRONICLE to Celilo, on an excursion to the Salmon Farm of I. H. Taffe. Millions of fish are in sight, and it is a sight to beat the sight of Geo. Francis Train, Col. Sinnott, or any other man by a grand sight. The water was so literally black with them, that Mr. Townley became wild, and rushing down to the edge of the water lay flat on the rocks and began catching the whoppers after the manner described by Geo. Francis Train on his memorable visit to the same locality years ago. But the fish were a trifle too slick for him, and rather muscular to be landed without a hook or net, and as it was the close season Mr. Taffe refused to permit us to catch them; so we were obliged to content ourselves with the sight. After feasting our eyes upon the fascinating scene, watching the King of fishes leap the cascade of Celilo Falls, dart into the rapid with the velocity of a bullet, occasionally one falling by the way, we walked over to the wheels. Mr. Taffe has seven of these, four of which has cost him every cent of $15,000, from which he has not had returns this year amounting to a nickel. In view of such hardships; while his neighbors were putting up cases by the thousands, he not putting up a can comparatively; it seemed to us to be tempting almost beyond resistance to see the millions of fish now there so very easy to be caught, not to catch any. But Mr. Taffe is biding his time, which comes at midnight Friday. He is prepared to begin active operations then, with the full force of his establishment, and if he has any kind of luck will be able to "pull out of the hole," as the saying goes, inside of two weeks. His is the finest location in the world for a fishery, and it will be astonishing if he fails to realize his most sanguine expectations.

Dry-Hollow and 3-Mile.

In company with Messrs. Emil Schanno, and H. M. Beall and daughter, we enjoyed a drive up Dry Hollow and across to 3-Mile, to the summit below Creightons. This ride, and what is to be seen, beats all we yet seen about The Dalles. We deviated from the main beaten road at W. H. Taylor's and took a turn through his orchard. Peaches, prunes, plums, etc., beyond calculation, met the eye; and as for size, quality and flavor—none can excel. The next place to attract the eye is the 50 acre melon patch of Mr. Cooper, from which several car load lots are shipped daily, east and west, commanding the highest market prices everywhere. The bright stubble fields and piles of filled grain sacks along the way attest that fruit is not alone the only crop harvested on these high hill lands. Wheat, oats and barley have yielded their stores in bountiful return for the labor of the husbandman. Pondering on the fact that but a few years ago this land was considered worthless for fruit or farming, the results of the past six years ought to be very gratifying to the public, as well as to the hardy tillers of the soil who have certainly made the desert blossom. Citizens of The Dalles can never realize what fruitful resources surround them until they get out and take a look for themselves. This is just what Mr. Schanno keeps a team for. Ask him, if you doubt THE CHRONICLE.

A Traveling Man's Experience With Diarrhoea.

I am a traveling man and have been afflicted with what is called chronic diarrhoea for some ten years. Last fall I was in Western Pennsylvania, and accidentally was introduced to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I ventured to make a trial and was wonderfully relieved. I would like now to introduce it among my friends. H. M. Lewis, 24 Freeman street, Cleveland, Ohio. For sale by Blakey & Houghton, druggists. The regular annual meeting of the stock holders of THE CHRONICLE Publishing Company will be held in the hall over THE CHRONICLE office at 8 p. m., October 14th, 1892. Directors for the ensuing year will be elected, and such other business as may properly come before said meeting will be transacted thereat. V. G. BOLTON, secretary. 9.2td
