THE IDAHO CAMPAIGN.

In the absence of anything at home interesting in campaign work, it may not be inappropriate to call attention to the vim displayed at the beginning in Idaho. The campaign opened on the part of the republicans at Sand Point yesterday, and our dispatches show that it was rightly opened. The point made that the peoples party is a part of the product of anarchism is rightly taken, and it is curious to know whether the farmers of this country are prepared to receive its dictation in the future. Farm strikes would indeed be some-

Farm strikes would indeed be something new; and they may be looked for if the third party succeed in placing a few anarchists in power. That is what it is intended for, beyond doubt.

The democrats of Idaho are totally demoralized politically. There has appeared on the scene in Idaho democratic politics a lot of political adventurers who have combined for the purpose of retiring the old party workers whom they term mossbacks. Such men as Hailey, Ainslie, Stevenson, Wilson and others who have sacrificed the best days of their lives in advocacy of what they term Jacksonian democracy, have been sat down upon, and Tammany methods are to be substituted. Certainly the friends of these gentlemen who have been so [ruthlessly retired do not feel very sympathetic toward those who are in the combination. Then again the action of the recent democratic house in the firm of the recent democratic house in the combination. Then again the action of the recent democratic house in the firm of the same place, with proper vouchers, on or before above the firm must be closed up without further delay. Respectfully.

Lot 1 in block 82, 10c 1 in block action of the recent democratic house in repealing the tariff on lead has not had important step. He has filed a notice of withdrawal from the western traffic association. This was not unexpected, as his contempt for that organization has always been evident, and his ultimate withdrawal at a time when he was fully able to hoe his own row was regarded as a matter of course. A glance at the railroad map and a knowledge of rate-making will show that the Union Pacific cannot remain a member and be hampered by the association rules when the Great Northern and the Northern NONE BUT WHITE LABOR EMPLOYED Pacific are free lances. It is confidently believed that the Union Pacific will withdraw this week. When this inevitable result occurs, there can be no further thought of continuing the association in its present form, nor in any other so far proposed. Chicago officials see no hope of any new agreement until the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific come to an understanding. Until then through traffic will go by the board, and every energy will be bent toward fostering local business.

Yesterday began what promises to be the best state fair ever held in Oregon. The exhibits are varied and complete and more fine stock is shown than ever before. The races also promise to be an excellent feature of the fair. But it is the aid of a little home production printers ink.

The East Oregonian cites as an instance of what thrift and industry will accomplish in Eastern Oregon, the case of a farmer near Pendleton who came to that section nine years ago a poor man. He now owns 1,000 acres of the finest farm lands, not more than one acre of which is unfit for plowing. This is but one instance among hundreds in the Inland Empire.

There are some very queer things found in the Cascade mountains. Near the summit of the range, east of Roseburg, were recently found porphyry boulders that so closely resembled watermelons in size, shape and color, that it would puzzle an expert to tell the difference without putting his hands on them.

So Far. So Good.

Major Handbury's John Hancock appears in the advertising columns of the Oregonian today under a call for bids to be submitted in duplicate until Novem ber 15, 1892, for completion of the Cascade locks.
