About the time Blind Tom started out to show his wonderful gifts Macon developed a musical prodigy, though in a different line. In the alley back of Eads, Neel & Co.'s store was a blacksmith shop owned by a man named English, a quiet sort of a man and very popular in his business. One day he bought his three-year-old boy a drum-it might have been a gift from Santa Claus-and great was his astonishment when the baby rattled away on the drum with the skill of a professional. Of course such a precocious boy soon became known to Macon, and a mention of it fell under the eye of P. T. Barnum, who was then in his prime. The great showman sent an agent to Macon as fast as steam and coach could bring him. After a good deal of parleying the agent succeeded in securing young English, it being understood that his mother would accompany him. Then the New York papers were filled with mention of "The Infant Drummer," and for years he was one of the features of Barnum's museum.-Macon (Ga.) Telegraph.
