TUESDAY - OCTOBER 4, 1892

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Harry Clough is at the St. Charles, in Portland this evening.

U. R. Johnson, the hedge builder of La Grande, is in the city.

Mr. Polk Butler and H. E. Moore of Nansene, are in the city.

D. W. Collins and his three daughters, of Goldendale, are in the city.

Mrs. Fish, mother of Chief Judd S., returned to Portland this a. m., by Regulator.

Max. A. Vogt left for Spokane last night to attend his sick brother B. F., confined by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Green of Dufur, were in the city yesterday. THE CHRONICLE acknowledges a call.

Mr. D. L. Cates and family left by the steamer Regulator yesterday for their new home at Cascade Locks.

Sprague landing had three passengers on the Regulator this a. m., Messrs. R. and A. Tillotson and Wm. Thurston.

There are at the Cascades today fifty-five or sixty editors who will be in attendance at the annual session at The Dalles.

Some people who did not read THE CHRONICLE last night lost an hour's sleep this morning endeavoring to take the Regulator at 6 a. m.

Mrs. Chase late of 3-Mile, but who now resides in the city, has been very ill for over a week, but is now recovering under the kind care of friends.

Senator J. M. Dufur will address the people of The Dalles Thursday evening. A large audience will doubtless hear him.

Hon. A. J. Dufur returned from his visit to Portland Saturday, and after a pleasant reunion with his family connections and friends in The Dalles, left for Dufur on the stage yesterday morning.

The Dalles public school enrollment for the past month is reported by the principal as 428. The largest enrollment for the month of September in any previous year is that of last year, when 384 were reported.

Isaac Driver came in last night with a small team of four horses, loaded with wheat. There is nothing unusual about that, but as he made affidavit to it we have to believe that the load weighed 6,800 lbs, and he came over Tygh hill without doubling up.

Folk & Co., the extensive, and exclusively correct, directory publishers in the Pacific Northwest, are about to issue a Directory of Baker City. The Dalles will have a Polk directory when the town is ripe for one. Mr. H. M. Clinton, the manager of this firm, is an old resident of Oregon, well known to many citizens in all parts of the state as having been for a number of years connected with the press, his last effort in this line being that of manager for five years of the Evening Telegram at Portland.

THE HUNT ROAD.

The Hunt road, as it is known in the Inland Empire, is now the Washington and Columbia river railroad. It is perhaps the only railroad in the country without bonds or stock. It is the personal property of Mr. C. B. Wright. The road has 167 miles of track, and will be nearly 200 miles long by the time it reaches the Snake river. It is now operated by the U. P. R. Co.

Mr. A. M. Patterson, of the weekly Heppner Gazette, was the first of the Eastern Oregon delegation to reach The Dalles. He arrived on the 4 p. m. train yesterday, and proceeded with the committee by steamer Regulator this morning to meet the delegations at the cascades from Portland and beyond.

A newspaper man in Scott valley has, it is said, invented a hand press remarkable for its capacity in turning out papers. Now if some other genius will add an attachment that will increase a circulation with rapidity, the country editor will call down blessings upon his head. We submit the proposition to the convention.

One of those foundationless reports that obtain currency sometimes without any source traceable, recently reached here to the effect that Ben Pratt, a former resident of this county, had been hung in the Okonogan country. Letters to friends on 15-Mile, from a son of Mr. Farrington, says the report is wholly untrue. Mr. Pratt is alive and well, and is engaged in carrying the mail out of Waterville, Wash.

Scarcely did a runaway horse ever fix things up for a first class local, better than the old gray gelding that draws the cart of a Portland box factory did a few days ago. About 12:10 p. m., he stood by the curb on Morrison street nibbling his nibble of oats, hanging in a feed sack under his nose, when the Telegram says: "Something started him," and he made a graft down the street. At the intersection of Second he collided with a delivery outfit, which he proceeded to climb over. He turned his wagon upside down, threw the driver out, dragged the outfit half a block and nearly stamped the horse to death. Then he turned around, and described circles, semicircles, parallelograms, and, finally, struck a hypothenuse with his feet based on the other horse's stomach. In the fray both cart and wagon were smashed all to pieces; the delivery horse was nearly killed, and the driver was shaken out of his boots, but the box factory horse which caused all the trouble settled down at last to finish his oats.

MARRIED.
At the Catholic church, Oct. 4th, by Rev. A. Bronsgeest, Miss M. Meyerhoper of The Dalles and Mr. C. Gropper of Nelson, Wash.

Attention Company A.

Members of A company, O. N. G., Third Infantry, will assemble at their armory Oct. 4th at 7:30 p. m. sharp. No excuses will be granted whatsoever.

Saved His Child's Life.
A. N. Dillerbough, York, Neb., says: "The other day I came home and found my little boy down with cholera morbus, my wife scared, not knowing what to do. I went straightway and got a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and gave it according to directions. You never saw such a change in a child. His limbs and body were cold. I rubbed his limbs and body with my hands, and after I had given him the second dose he went to sleep, and as my wife says, 'from a death-bed he was up playing in three hours.' It saved me a doctor bill of about three dollars, and what is better, it saved my child. I can recommend it with a clear conscience." For sale by Blakely & Houghton, druggists.
