MONDAY - - OCTOBER 10, 1892

LOCAL BREVITIES.

U. R. Johnson left this afternoon for Antelope.
Be prepared to attend the fair tomorrow.
Mr. and Mrs. Schenck returned from Portland yesterday.

C. J. Smith formerly of The Dalles marble works, is in the city.
J. H. MacLafferty went to Portland by the Regulator this morning.

Postal Inspector Boulette paid The Dalles office a visit on Saturday.
Pools will be sold every evening during the races at the Snug by auctioneer Butts.

THE CHRONICLE, has fallen here to the tall corn stalks from Hon. J. H. Mosier's place.
Secretary MacInnis has moved his office up to the pavilion on the fair grounds.

Do not forget the Chautauqua meeting this evening at the house of Mrs. G. C. Blakeley.
The Dalles horses arrived from La-Grand last night covered with fine blankets and glory.

Some of those choice peaches raised in The Dalles by Mr. Houghton, have been preserved for exhibition at the fair this week.
Farmers in the Palouse country are suffering from another blockade of wheat. No cars to carry it away. Open the Columbia.

The weather clerk telegraphed to his assistant Mr. S. L. Brooks, that we may expect rain with nearly stationary temperature up to noon tomorrow.
In October 1892, flour was selling at $56 per barrel, bacon $1.25 per pound. A man with a team of cattle made from $8 to $11 a day hauling wood and chips, and doing odd jobs.

B. Wolfe is beginning to think that he will have to cut a second crop of wheat off his field on Second street this year. The wheat is now about thirty inches high and heading out.
Auctioneer W. H. Butts will commence the sale of city lots tomorrow, according to advertisement in another column, and the sale will be continued from day to day until all are sold.

The body of a Klickitat Indian, drowned some weeks since, was found floating in the Columbia above the cascades last night, and was turned over to his people today without an inquest.
Prof. Smith of the State Reform school is in the city, on track of two escapes. One is a boy named Cofer, from Pendleton, and the other is a boy named Nelson, from Portland. He will return by the Regulator.

While in Chicago last week, Captain W. P. Gray, while taking a stroll along the lake front, was held up by three footpads. When he told them he was from Pasco, they gave him a quarter and told him to go and eat.

Dr. F. Wortman and Mr. John R. Duff, of Portland, are at The Umatilla.

Next Wednesday, the 12th, is the last day to pay city taxes without costs added. "A word to the wise," etc.

The Wasco county board of equalization is now in session, and will remain in session this week, at the Court house.

The John Day Sentinel has been brought up by the Alliance Publishing company of Grant county, and will hereafter be run in the interests of the Farmers Alliance and Peoples party.

Mr. D. Van Horn, the piano tuner, arrived on the noon train. Mr. Van Horn is ready to repair and tune pianos, and guarantees first-class work. Orders may be left at I. C. Nickelsen's music store.

Four samples of four kinds of minerals for assay, went forward for the east today in packages securely put up by Linus Hubbard. Something is going to drop hard, with a metallic thud; in and about The Dalles some of these moons shortly.

Pendleton, Walla Walla and all points passed in daylight, greeted the Oregon Press Association all around the circuit as they went by. The Walla Walla Statesman scribe suggested that "so much brain on one car must have been quite a strain on the springs." He must have been the least bit jealous.

Gold is found in paying quantities this fall on the banks of the Columbia above Arlington. Two men have located a claim on the Washington side near Castle Rock, and are taking out from $3.50 to $4 per day to the man, by the primitive process of panning. The Columbia river bars have long been known to be impregnated with fine gold, and were profitably worked many years ago.

By courtesy of Linus Hubbard, our show window has a picture of the fastest modern steamer of the day, the Richard Peck, which beat the Paritan on Long Island Sound last Saturday. A river steamer, with sufficient draft of water, of this construction can be run with one-third the fuel, handles better, carry more freight and would be far more comfortable and convenient for passenger travel than any stern-wheel boat ever built on the Pacific coast.

Statistician L. P. McCarty is in the city today with his 16th annual. It is an almost invaluable book, and is yearly enlarged in its scope. That life is too short for the attainment of desired knowledge is a common complaint. He, therefore, who sifts from the vast mass of obtainable information those facts whose novelty or importance makes them a valuable basis for either thought or action, offers help to any man, and confers a boon upon overtaxed humanity.

A man who has invented a portable dam, to be used in clearing sand bars out of the river channel, has turned his invention to other uses. He offered it to Frank Dekum in Portland last week, to help him d— a numbskull for defacing his beautiful new building on Washington street. The fellow was an awning-maker and he had, to Mr. Dekum's intense disgust, drilled several holes in the stone near the corner without permission, in order to fasten up a ratchet for raising the awning. As the holes had been made, he was allowed to go ahead with his plan, but when he found that he had got the holes in the wrong place and started in to drill some more, Mr. Dekum happened along, and only for the portable dam he could not have done the subject justice.

THE EDITORS VISIT.

What our Fraternal Brothers Have to say About the Dalles Convention.

Pacific Farmer. The scenery along the Columbia was arrayed in its best "bib and tucker" for the special occasion. The boat made one stop of fifteen minutes at Menaluse island. This barren rock and sand pile lying in the middle of the Columbia has been made famous by the fact that it is an old burying grounds of the Indians, and also by the tomb of the late Victor Trevitt, an old time printer and eccentric character of an early day of Oregon. The tomb and monument of this man will perpetuate his name for long years after the great men of our present day are forgotten, situated as it is on that lonely rock, surrounded by the mighty waters of the Columbia and guarded by the decaying bones of hundreds of the natives who were inhabitants of the land in his early day. From this island of bones to The Dalles was but a short run, and here the delegates were met by the band and escorted to the Umatilla house where they were made to feel at home and were entertained by Col. Sinnott's famous story of George Francis Train's trip across the Columbia river by walking on the backs of salmon in an early day.

Arlington Record. Much valuable work was accomplished during the session, notably among which was the thorough consideration of the temporary portage question, resulting in the passage of a unanimous resolution, pledging the earnest support of the journals of this state in favor of a temporary portage from Celilo to The Dalles, to be constructed by appropriation from the state by its next legislature. The members visited this point in a body and were readily convinced that the time is now and had long been ripe when, in justice to the people of the Inland Empire and the state in general, the matter should no longer be delayed.

Hillsboro Independent. At 6 o'clock p. m. the boat touched at The Dalles dock, where the visitors were met by a great company of citizens and escorted by a brass band to the Umatilla house, which is to be our home while we stay. The house is a large one, well managed and in every way comfortable. Notwithstanding the sudden arrival of over a hundred guests they were each assigned rooms within a space of twenty minutes. The dining-room is a large one, capable of seating two hundred guests at a time. To us who have for a lifetime, say thirty years, lived in the Willamette valley, this visit is a wonderful revelation. The Inland Empire has been written about, but to realize what it is, one must visit it, or read figures. It is a wonderful region undeveloped. But of its capabilities another chapter must be written.

The Oregon editors were banqueted at Spokane, and are expected in Portland from the Sound tonight.

A few days ago a neighbor democrat intending to squelch Boss Sinnott with a poer said: How is it Boss that the wool growers of Ohio are crying out for an increase in the tariff on wool, while Sherman, Foster and McKinley are declaiming away in the east not to tamper with the tariff as it unsettles trade? The Boss promptly replied, the tariff on wool is all right it is the tariff on rags that must be raised. The Yankees are so smart they have learned to make clothes out of rags in one season.

The Lord is Lucky.
Klamath Star. Instead of developing the fact that this is a bad year for calamity, the democratic leaders are cussing Peck, the man who proved that fact so clearly in his report. But the good Lord, who kept the calamity away from our doors, has thus far escaped spiteful treatment at the hands of these leaders.

It was Mr. Emerson who said "the great wealth is health," and it was a wiser than the modern philosopher who said that "the blood is the life." The system, like the clock, runs down. It needs winding up. The blood gets poor and scores of diseases result. It needs a tonic to enrich it.

A certain wise doctor, after years of study, discovered a medicine which purified the blood, gave tone to the system, and made men—tired, nervous, brain-wasting men—feel like new. He called it his "Golden Medical Discovery." It has been sold for years, sold by the million of bottles, and people found such satisfaction in it that Dr. Pierce, who discovered it, now feels warranted in selling it under a positive guarantee of its doing good in all cases.

Perhaps it's the medicine for you. Your's wouldn't be the first case of scrofula or salt-rheum, skin-disease, or lung disease, it has cured when nothing else would. The trial's worth making, and costs nothing. Money refunded if it don't do you good.

A Cholera Scare.
A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera but a violent dysentery, which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent merchant of Jamesburg, two miles from Helmetta, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things ever made." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

Portland Exposition.
The Dalles, Portland and Astoria Navigation Co. will sell round trip tickets from The Dalles at $3, including admission to the exposition. Tickets on sale daily at the office or on board the Regulator. W. C. ALLAWAY, Gen'l Agent.

On October 7th the U. P. R. Co. have arranged for a cheap excursion to Portland for train leaving The Dalles 3 a. m. and 4 p. m. at the very low rate of $3.50 for the round trip, including admission to the Exposition. Tickets will be good returning up to and including October 9. For detailed information inquire at ticket office. E. E. LITTLE, agent.

A Cure for Cholera.
There is no use of any one suffering with the cholera when Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can be procured. It will give relief in a few minutes and cure in a short time. I have tried it and know.—W. H. Clinton, Helmetta, N. J. The epidemic at Helmetta was at first believed to be cholera, but subsequent investigation proved it to be a violent form of dysentery, almost as dangerous as cholera. This remedy was used there with great success. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

The Portland Exposition.
The Union Pacific system will extend to its patrons the usual reduced rates on round trip tickets which will include admission to the exposition, selling on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays of each week. Detailed information can be had by applying to E. E. LITTLE, agent.
