JUDGE NELSON'S DECISION.

Speaking of patent medicines, the Judge says: "I wish to deal fairly and honorably with all, and when I find an article that will do what it is recommended to do, I am not ashamed to say so. I am acquainted with Dr. Vanderpool (having been treated by him for cancer), and have used his blood medicine, known as the S. B. Headache and Liver Cure, and while I am 75 years old, and have used many pills and other remedies for the blood, liver and kidneys, I must say that for a kidney tonic in Bright's disease, and as an alternative for the blood, or to correct the action of the stomach and bowels, it is a very superior remedy, and beats anything I ever tried."

THE KANSAS ROBBERS

Held up Another Train on the Missouri Pacific Railway.

NOTORIOUS COFFEYVILLE GANGS.

Express Messenger Wounded but Nobody Killed in the Scrap.

DISAPPEARED IN THE DARKNESS.

Conflicting Statements as to the Amount of Money the Robbers Got Away With—Other News.

WINFIELD, Kas., Oct. 14.—A Coffeyville dispatch last night says the east-bound Missouri Pacific train was held up by two robbers at Caney station. The robbers boarded the engine, compelled the engineer to pull out two miles, then uncoupled the express car from the rest of train and pulled it half a mile farther. Express Messenger Maxwell had blown out the lights and barred the door and refused to open it. The robbers fired through the door, wounding him in the arm. He then surrendered and opened the door. The robbers covered him with revolvers and compelled him to give up the express packages. All the express money was transferred at Congress Springs, so it is not thought the highwaymen got much. The identity of the robbers is unknown, but they are believed to be the same men who last week held up the station agent at Sedan, Kan. One of the robbers entered the car, while the other remained on guard outside. The messenger's safe was opened, and the robbers hastily grabbed the packages and envelopes containing money, placed them in a small sack and jumped from the car. They then ordered the engineer to back the car to where the train was left standing, and, after firing a few more shots as a warning, disappeared in the darkness. Both robbers wore heavy black mustaches, and their clothing was spattered with mud, indicating that they were mounted and had ridden hard. The express messenger claimed he does not know the value of the booty secured. Express officials and railway men at different points along the line claim that the robbers did not secure $500, if, indeed, that amount. It is pretty certain, however, that the robbers secured several thousand dollars, as the train connects with the St. Louis, Kansas City and Southern's lines. When the train reached Tyro, the watchman was told of the robbery, but no effort was made to get a posse and pursue the robbers. This morning the railway people sent a squad of officers to Tyro, and will begin active search for the men.

The Notorious Kid.

TOMBSTONE, Oct. 13.—News of the killing of a man by Kid and another Indian in the Swisshelm mountains yesterday was brought to town last night. Two wood-choppers at Moore's camp had lost their horses and started out to find them. They saw two Indians some distance away, and, thinking they were scouts, one of them started toward them to inquire if they had seen anything of the stock. When within a few rods of them the Indians stepped behind a rock, and in less than ten seconds the unfortunate man was lying on the ground with a bullet through his heart. His companion witnessed the deed and ran back to camp and told his comrades. After much persuasion he consented to go to the scene with a posse. They found the dead body with the head nearly beaten off with rocks which lay near by. From a description given by the survivor it is positive that the Apache who did the killing is no other than the notorious Kid. After the killing they rounded up about 80 horses and went toward Sonora.

The Chestnut Crop.

GUAYMAS, Mex., Oct. 13.—News of the transactions of Evans and Sontag, the California train robbers, has reached Guaymas, and copies of San Francisco papers received here containing accounts are more eagerly pursued from the fact that two strangers, resembling the printed descriptions of Evans and Sontag, have been seen here by a number of persons, including United States Vice-Consul Hale, during the past week. On observing that their movements were being watched, the two men disappeared and are believed to have taken passage on the steamer Korrigan for Santa Rosalia, Lower California.

THE EDITORS VISIT.

What our Fraternal Brothers Have to say About the Dalles Convention.

Heppner Gazette. On Tuesday morning, promptly at 7 o'clock, a. m., the Regulator sailed from The Dalles, with one of the merriest crowds that could have been conveniently gotten together, among which was your representative. The day was a beautiful one. The air pure, the atmosphere clear, the world-renowned scenery of the Columbia never looked grander. The boat arrived at the Cascades at 11 o'clock where a landing was made, the ladies and gentlemen at once proceeding to the depot, where they met the members of the association, who had just arrived in a special car. They then proceeded to the government works to observe for themselves the locks and canal, when after a thorough examination of the work that had been done by the government, all expressed themselves in favor of an open river, and it is needless to say that they will urge same at the earliest date.

Com. Review. The people of The Dalles and Spokane were unstinted in their hospitality and gave the editors a welcome that could not have been exceeded in cordiality. The visit to The Dalles has been productive of good. It gave them a view of the importance of the Columbia river. They were all impressed with the necessity of an open river and learned this from actual observation. They examined the unfinished cascade locks. Now that they have seen for themselves what ought to be done by the federal government in opening the Columbia river, we hope to see them make some attempt by their influence in demanding the completion of the same and also for the state to make an appropriation to build a portage railroad from The Dalles to Celilo.

Eugene Register. The Oregon Press Association, which met at The Dalles last week, has finished its labors and the editors have returned to their respective homes. From all accounts they must have had a good time, whether they accomplished any good for themselves or not, as they were entertained and banqueted almost every place they went. After their stay at The Dalles they went to Spokane and met the Washington Press Association, and here they were given a grand reception, after which they took the Northern Pacific to Tacoma. The best they have in the town, and the annual meeting is more of a picnic for the editors than anything else.

Daily Dispatch. To convince a man that there has been something rotten in the construction of the locks at the cascades, let him go up there and take a view of what has been done with the two million of dollars already expended. It is simply an outrage that the locks have not long since been completed. The money has been worse than squandered, and we understand that the new plans under which they are now to be completed requires the destruction of most of the work done.

All Serene Again.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Oct. 13.—The military espionage, kept over this city 95 days, came to an end this morning. Almost the entire population of the town gathered to witness the departure of the militia, but there was no demonstration of any kind. At 10 o'clock every vestige of camp was removed and then the men marched to Munhall station and embarked on a special train in waiting. After the departure of the troops the crowd dispersed and the town took on its wonted quiet. General Wylie said to a reporter that, while he anticipated no further trouble, the troops would be held in readiness and if circumstances required they would quickly return to Homestead. Sheriff M. Leary's force of deputies now numbers 30 men. Frick visited the works this morning, but declined to be interviewed.

More Salt Found.

WARSAW, N. Y., Oct. 14.—At the Gainesville salt well in this field, salt was found at the depth of 2,455 feet. The drill having gone through a 30-foot bed again reentered the rock with a prospect of another salt stratum being found below. The first bed of salt is of sufficient depth for manufacturing purposes.

A DAY FULL OF GLOOM.

It is Said Mrs. Harrison's Death is Only a Question of Time.

THE THREAD OF LIFE PARTING.

Weakness so Great That Any New Complication May be Fatal.

LOST THE USE OF ONE LUNG.

What Dr. Gardner Says of the Case—Losing Rather Than Gaining Ground Faint Hope.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The impression is general tonight that Mrs. Harrison's condition becomes graver with the passing of every hour. The day has been full of gloom to the White House family, and the shadow has even sunk deeper. A member of the household said today that it was not expected that Mrs. Harrison would see another Sunday, and that she was still alive was simply remarkable. Her weakness since Sunday has been extreme, and, if possible, has increased today. The thread of life is kept up by stimulating nourishment every little while. Today at intervals of three hours she was given a raw egg fixed up in a palatable way with a little wine. Eggs and malt extract are about the only things she can take. The doctors visit last night was between 7 and 8 o'clock, and before 9 o'clock the massage treatment was given the patient. Her weakness is so great that it is not thought possible she can not survive any new complication, no matter how slight. The president went out for his usual drive yesterday afternoon, remaining away an hour. Dr. Gardner, Mrs. Harrison's physician, frankly acknowledged that Mrs. Harrison is in a very precarious condition. He is equally frank in saying that the distinguished patient is losing rather than gaining ground. Continuing, he said: "Her condition fluctuates from day to day. That, however, is not unusual in diseases of this character. She may live for a couple of months. She slept a good part of the day, but she has lost the use of one lung and the other is involved to such an extent that it renders her condition critical. In my opinion, however, there is no immediate danger of a fatal termination. There is liable to be, at any time, an effusion of fluid in the cavity of the pleura. This has already taken place once and is liable to occur again."

Let Him Escape.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 13.—Miss Lena Scholler, daughter of Christopher Scholler, of this city, awoke this morning just in time to discover a burglar in her room. With remarkable coolness she drove the intruder from the house, and saved the other members of the family, who had been chloroformed. It was shortly after midnight when Miss Scholler was aroused by a noise in the room. The figure of a man crouching behind a curtain was plainly outlined in the moonlight. Seeing he was discovered, the burglar made a break for the stairs and disappeared. The young woman tried to arouse her sister, but failed. She rushed to the room occupied by her mother. She found the latter and a young sister motionless, and to all appearances dead. Hastening from the house, Miss Lena aroused some neighbors. When the neighbors arrived she was coolly applying restoratives to the other members of the family, who were soon revived.
