Buyers are paying 64 cents for wheat at the Regulator wharf today.
Hills were white with snow this morning in sight of The Dalles.
Skibbe is painting his hotel red, with white stripes. It will look fine.
Engineer Wycke has put on a substitute so that he can attend the fair.
The funeral of Bernard H. Vogt was largely attended yesterday at the Catholic church.
Mr. R. Gilhouse of Clackamas county, is in the city, renewing old time acquaintances.
Miss Grace Riddell of 8-Mile was a passenger to Portland, to attend the exposition, Wednesday.

In consequence of the inclement weather yesterday, ladies were admitted free today at the fair.
The board of equalization find so little to do this week that the members are thinking of taking in the fair.
The forecast for the next twenty-four hours is for rain, and cooler weather. Snow may be expected on high altitudes.
Hon. B. Hermann will soon address the people at The Dalles on the political issues of the day. The date has not yet been fixed.
Hon. J. D. Lee is in the city preparing to plat a portion of his property and put it on the market as Lee's addition to The Dalles.

Mr. Joseph MacEhron, of Portland, a former resident of this city, passed through yesterday en route to Prineville on business.
The new Congregational church in The Dalles will be dedicated on Sunday. This edifice is a very handsome one, built at a cost of $7,000.
Mr. A. Gehres has bought out C. L. Phillip's soda works and being a practical man at the business will keep up its reputation and will try to improve. He will continue at the old stand.

Mr. J. P. Benton and Miss Mamie Donovan, of The Dalles, were married by Rev. Father Bronsgeest in St. Peter's church yesterday, and left on the train for Portland.
The last outfit of the summer outings sauntered into the city yesterday afternoon with a wagon load of tents, poles, sheet-iron stove, pipe, and other evidences of a real good time spent in the mountains.

The finest picture by all odds, of Columbia river scenery "where rolls the Oregon," by D. C. Herrin, is a view of Multnomah falls taken from the deck of the steamer Dalles City, coming up the river. With our autumnal hues transferred by an artist to canvas, this picture will command a place in any gallery in the universe.

Gov. Moody was in the city yesterday. Notice is to be given for a sewer on Washington street.
Senator Mitchell is confined to his bed with illness in Portland.
Sidewalks are to be built in the burned district of the city.

M. J. Anderson and T. J. Johnson, of Dufur, are at the Umatilla.
Progressive solo has been introduced in social circles at Pendleton.

Taxes remaining unpaid after November 1st, will be declared delinquent.
The levee is filled with wheat teams every night, below the Regulator landing.

Mr. Whealdon has shown us the first glass jar made from materials mined in this region.
The body of an unknown man was found in the Columbia near Rowena yesterday.

A man who wanted to run a fake in The Dalles on a special license was told no by the council.
Deeds have passed to the city for the C. L. Phillips property on Second street. Consideration $2,500.
The Regulator had a big freight list yesterday, including sixteen head of mules and six vehicles.

In addition to gents furnishing goods H. C. Nielsen has a very large and well selected stock of clothing.
Mrs. Judge Blakeley and her mother, Mrs. Gorman, arrived safely in San Francisco on Wednesday.

Communication between Denver and eastern cities was completely cut off by a very violent storm yesterday.
Eighteen lots were sold yesterday, none today, twenty-four in all so far, at a slight advance on appraisements.

Mr. Hugh Glenn has interested parties in this region lately, whose coming among us will lead to some very desirable investments.
Mr. O. Kinerly has the most valuable collection of Indian relics in the Pacific Northwest. Some of these are now on exhibition at Snipes & Kinerly's show window.

The railway to The Dalles from Puget sound is pushing ahead. Thirteen miles is finished and bonds have been floated for $20,000 per mile on one division of the proposed line.
Mr. J. W. Messenger, of Erskenville, was in the city yesterday. He says crops were short with him and some of his neighbors this year, but they are sowing a larger acreage than ever for the harvest of 1893.

Hon. A. J. Dufur, now in the city, tells of one of the finest mountain resorts in the world, to within two miles of which a team may be driven now. He intends to lay it off as a park for his suburban Inland City of Dufur.
Another hobo was taken in by Deputy United States Marshal Jameson night before last, for selling liquor to Indians. He had $60 in his pockets when arrested, and it is pretty certain that he will pay his fine, thus breaking the record.

Mr. Phil Brogan jr., has returned from Ireland, bringing with him Mrs. P. Brogan, to whom he was married while absent. Mr. and Mrs. Brogan, after visiting friends a few days in The Dalles, will proceed to the farm near Antelope.
Doc. N. H. Warren writes from Salt Lake city under date of the 12th inquiring for J. H. Wall, who very suddenly and mysteriously disappeared from that part of Utah last month.

Mrs. Powell died last night. She has suffered greatly for several weeks, since the accident which happened to her near Dufur by a runaway horse.
Mays & Crowe had a man at the fair grounds yesterday distributing aluminum medals with unstinted hand. Hundreds were passed around, one man attempted to pay for pools with the coins, but Butts wouldn't have it that way.

An exhibit horse kicked Hon. M. A. Moody's buggy on Fourth street today, breaking a wheel and so frightening the horse which was driven by Miss Lang, that it ran away. Fortunately no person was injured, but the buggy was broken into splinters. Mrs. Lang, who was in the buggy with her daughter, received some scratches.
The Holmes Business College of Portland, Oregon, is now a day and boarding school, so parents who send their sons and daughters away to a business school can feel that they are surrounded by a school atmosphere and home influences. Every young man, and woman as well, should have a business education. It fits them to do business for themselves, and a good bookkeeper or stenographer can always find employment. Send for catalogue of the Holmes Business College, 21w

It may not generally be understood, but it is nevertheless a fact that Hon. A. J. Dufur, Oregon's Centennial world's fair commissioner at Philadelphia, Cal., had retired owing to declining health, and that he was a pupil of Mr. Dufur. We were first told this by Judge and Mrs. Lewis, of Medina, Ohio. Mr. Dufur confirmed the statement today.
From a recent issue of the San Francisco Examiner it is ascertained that Volney D. Moody, president of the Central bank in Oakland, Cal., had retired owing to declining health, and that he was succeeded by Captain J. C. Ainsworth. Few Pacific coast pioneers are better or more favorably known among old Oregonians than Captain J. C. Ainsworth, who for more than thirty years was identified with the navigation of the Columbia river.

A couple of men, who by their dress and manner, were evidently not accustomed to mingle in the daily busy whirl of urban life, came into Melberty's store yesterday, bent on buying a present for their respective girls, and said they "lowed they would get something useful as well as ornamental for them, and wanted to look at some winter dress goods. They were shown the new bolts of cloth and quickly settled on a grotesque plaid pattern, one with a predominance to gray and the other of a darker hue. "How much do you think will cover her, Bill," said one. "I dunno, but taint best to take any chances, she might think you're close if you'd git jest enough!" "I'll take this bolt," and he turned to the clerk with the order. "And I'll take this one," said the first speaker, and soon after they left the store, each lugging about a 200 yard bolt of cloth with which to adorn their fair innamorates.

Capt. John A. O'Brien, the hero of two ocean disasters, said yesterday in Portland: "I came up from San Francisco in connection with the settlement of the loss of the Wetmore. I think the whaleback is a total loss, although she may be raised again in the spring. She will not go to pieces, because she is the strongest vessel ever built. She will not sink in the sand, because the sand is too firm, but the sand may drift over and around her, and if there are any openings in her it may get inside. She lays broadside to the beach and lays firm."

A Badge Lost.
Deputy Sheriff Phirman was presented with a clover badge by his better half recently, and innocently put it in the left lapel of his coat. After he had worn it about a week Officer Jackson, whose democracy could never be impeached, said to him: "Phirman, don't you think the democratic offices in Wasco county ought to be filled by democrats?" "Why yes, of course I do," was Phirman's answer. "Then give that badge to some republican," was Jackson's rejoinder, and Phirman began an investigation which resulted in the disappearance of the badge.

Years ago the wirtler tried his level best to prevent the Smithsonian Institute from stocking Oregon waters with bass, carp, cat-fish and other enemies of the royal Chinook salmon, the king of all fishes, but to no purpose. Bass from California were put into the Willamette by the late Todd Bingham and Holman, to furnish amusement for Judge Wingard. Now that the spawn is nearly destroyed by these enemies of our salmon the Oregonian says: "Men and boys are catching a great many carp along the docks. Yesterday morning a man landed an 18-pounder. These fish are rapidly ruining the duck-hunting grounds. They eat up the vegetable matter in the sloughs, and as this is the main food of the ducks they do not stay long in a place if they find poor feeding. The carp is a very ugly-looking fish, and the only buyers the men and boys find for them is among the Chinese, although they take in an inexperienced housekeeper now and then. It was a great mistake to introduce them in the waters of the Willamette and Columbia rivers."

It was Mr. Emerson who said "the first wealth is health," and it was a wiser than the modern philosopher who said that "the blood is the life." The system, like the clock, runs down. It needs winding up. The blood gets poor and scores of diseases result. It needs a tonic to enrich it.
A certain wise doctor, after years of study, discovered a medicine which purified the blood, gave tone to the system, and made men—tired, nervous, brain-wasting men—feel like new. He called it his "Golden Medical Discovery." It has been sold for years, sold by the million of bottles, and people found such satisfaction in it that Dr. Pierce, who discovered it, now feels warranted in selling it under a positive guarantee of its doing good in all cases.
Perhaps it's the medicine for you. Your'e wouldn't be the first case of scrofula or salt-rheum, skin-disease, or lung disease, if it is cured when nothing else would. The trial's worth making, and costs nothing. Money refunded if it don't do you good.

Truth, Rare Truth.
Men wonder how the Devil wins, What great schemes he devises; The secret is, when he begins, The Devil advertises.
If godly men, it seems to me, Would stop a bit and think, Their talisman would henceforth be: "Less talk—more printer's ink."

McKinley Club Meeting.
A meeting of special importance will be held at the McKinley Club Saturday evening, Oct. 15, 1892, at 8 o'clock sharp, and every member is invited to be present. By order of B. S. HUNTINGTON, President.

Department of the Interior, General Land Office, Washington, D.C., September 30, 1892.
Register and Receiver, The Dalles, Oregon—Sirs: Referring to office instructions of February 3, 1891, issued under the forfeiture act of Sept. 23, 1890, and of March 5, 1891, issued under the act of February 18, 1891, which so amended the act of 1890 as to cause the time, within which claimants thereunder were required to properly present their claims, to run from the date of the promulgation of the instructions for the restoration by this office, I have now to advise you that Congress, by act approved June 25, 1892, amended section 3 of the act of September 29, 1890, so as to extend the time, within which persons actually residing upon the lands claimed by them might present their claims, to three years from the passage of said act of 1890.

This latter amendment relates only to claimants under section three, of the act of 1890, who actually reside upon the forfeited lands, and the Secretary of the Interior, on September 16, 1892, decided that as to such claimants the time was extended to September 29, 1893, the act of February 18, 1891, by implication. The instructions of March 5, 1891, (supra) will govern you in the cases of all other claimants under said act.

Very Respectfully,
W. M. STONE,
Acting Commissioner.

DALLES CITY, July 6th, 1892.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera but a violent dysentery, which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Willard, a prominent merchant of Jamesburg, two miles from Helmetta, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things ever made." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

NOTICE.
All Dalles City warrants registered prior to October 7, 1890, will be paid if presented at my office. Interest ceases from and after this date.
Dated July 7th, 1892.

A Cure for Cholera.
There is no use of any one suffering with the cholera when Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can be procured. It will give relief in a few minutes and cure in a short time. I have tried it and know.—W. H. Clinton, Helmetta, N. J. The epidemic at Helmetta was at first believed to be cholera, but subsequent investigation proved it to be a violent form of dysentery, almost as dangerous as cholera. This remedy was used there with great success. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

The Portland Exposition.
The Union Pacific system will extend to its patrons the usual reduced rates on round trip tickets which will include admission to the exposition, selling on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays of each week. Detailed information can be had by applying to E. E. LYLE, agent.
