JUDGE NELSON'S DECISION.

Speaking of patent medicines, the Judge says: "I wish to deal fairly and honorably with all, and when I find an article that will do what it is recommended to do, I am not ashamed to say so. I am acquainted with Dr. Vanderpool (having been treated by him for cancer), and have used his blood medicine, known as the S. B. Headache and Liver Cure, and while I am 75 years old, and have used many pills and other remedies for the blood, liver and kidneys, I must say that for a kidney tonic in Bright's disease, and as an alterative for the blood, or to correct the action of the stomach and bowels, it is a very superior remedy, and beats anything I ever tried."

BOGUS TICKETS OUT.

Reported That 50,000 Union Pacific are in Existence.

CONFLICT OF OPINION ABOUT IT.

Passenger Rates Badly Demoralized all Over the Country.

EVERY LINE IS CUTTING RATES.

What the Scalpers Think of the Alleged Bogus Tickets for the Union Pacific --- Minor Mention.

A dispatch received from Chicago to the effect that there are 50,000 counterfeited and manipulated Union Pacific tickets in the hands of scalpers was a leading topic of discussion among railroad passenger men today. In Portland according to the Telegram, the prevailing impression among passenger officials, seems to be that these tickets, as issued by the Union Pacific, can easily be both counterfeited and manipulated. At the Union Pacific passenger offices, Mr. Hurlburt was reported out of the city, and the only statement that could be obtained was that nothing was known of it here. No one could be found who would say anything about the probable action of the company in the matter. The usual method of meeting such cases is to reduce the rates to the prices quoted by the scalpers and freeze them down to the price paid for the ticket, but in this case it is supposed that the tickets were in a large measure counterfeited outright, although many have been found of genuine issue which have been raised from short to long distance points. Should the Union Pacific abandon the tickets and refuse to honor another one, the company would undoubtedly become involved in a number of damage suits, brought by innocent holders of the tickets; but if the complication is as bad as reported, railroad men generally are of the opinion that this is the only way to prevent a widespread demoralization. Portland scalpers say it is an improbable story. Passenger rates all over the country are in a badly demoralized state, and every line is cutting the established rates. It looks like the Union Pacific had issued these tickets, which were placed in the hands of the brokers at low rates, and now, to clear themselves of the charge of cutting rates, they set up a cry of stop thief, and lay it all to the scalpers. The brokers are not taking any chances of resorting to criminal methods in a matter of this kind, and very few of them would knowingly have anything to do with counterfeited or manipulated tickets. It is simply a scheme of the Union Pacific to cut rates, and shoulder the blame on some one else. Inquiry developed the fact that there are more than the usual number of Union Pacific tickets in the hands of local brokers, and several methods of manipulating tickets were unfolded to the Telegram man, which, it was stated, positively could not be detected, if artistically done. The general feeling of the scalpers seemed to be that the story was a hoax, inspired either to shield the company's officials or to advertise a certain patent, mentioned in the dispatch sent out.

Mrs. Lease Truthfully Spoken.

As the democracy have disputed the fact that Mrs. Lease has declared in favor of Harrison, we copy a part of the interview with her in Kansas in which she made a sensation. While accompanying General Weaver through the southern states Mrs. Lease as well as the General was subjected to several indignities, and she believes that a party capable of visiting unmerited contemptuous treatment upon representatives of an honest American party is not deserving of American votes. "If a vote for Weaver is in reality a vote for Cleveland," she said, "then my desire is that the people's party scratch their ticket and vote for the Harrison electors." Next to Jerry Simpson, Mrs. Lease is the strongest leader of the Kansas populists, and her expressed wishes have caused great consternation in the democratic camp.

Mrs. Lease is showing that she has more common sense than she was supposed to possess. When she was down in Georgia with General Weaver she told the Cleveland democrats that they were hurting their fat prophet by their ill behavior, and that every decayed egg thrown at Weaver meant a gain in the west of a thousand votes for Harrison. She appears now to have made the further discovery that every vote for Weaver is an indirect vote for Cleveland; that every elector taken from Harrison and given to Weaver is merely one given to Cleveland, while every elector seemingly taken from Cleveland and given to Weaver is still a Cleveland elector, and that the democratic game is to use the Weaverites to prevent Harrison's election and throw it into the house, where the democrats control thirty state delegations out of 44. There is no possible chance of electing Weaver. The choice lies between Cleveland and Harrison. If the populists prefer the Buzzard bay prophet they should vote for him directly, and not in the indirect way of voting for Weaver in order to throw the election into the house, where Cleveland has a dead sure thing of it. If they prefer Harrison they should vote for him. They should have too much self-respect to figure in history as mere stool-pigeons for Cleveland.

Very Close Call.

Last Sunday afternoon, as W. E. Fowler, cashier of the Arlington First National bank, who had been gunning up the Columbia river, was riding leisurely down the railroad track near and behind the east bound train, and while in a sharp curve of the road he suddenly saw a light engine immediately in front of him and coming at the rate of sixty miles an hour towards him. Although on a rocky embankment, the Record says he and his fancy horse Jock made a sudden leap for their temporal salvation, and landed, he on his feet in a vacant spot, and the horse farther down the grade and lying on his back among some boulders. The engine and tender, which proved to be that of Engineer Patterson on his way from The Dalles, almost brushed them as it passed, leaving an impression which will long be remembered by Mr. Fowler. He was unable to extricate the horse alone, but soon after had the assistance of friends, when the party with some difficulty moved a few boulders and got him up. The horse bore some slight injuries only, while Mr. F.'s shotgun was literally demolished.

Red Tar or Paint.

Heppner Gazette. Frank Lee, who is wool salesman for Christy & Wise, writes to us from Boston, saying: "I am getting a deal of opposition from manufacturers in regard to eastern Oregon wool, on account of sheepmen branding their sheep with tar or red paint. Knowing by the acquaintance that I have had with you, that you are fully interested in anything that would benefit your subscribers, I have taken the liberty to send you two samples of wool by mail. The one marked No. 1, is Australian wool. This is sold to manufacturers, and guaranteed free from any brand. No. 2, represents what came out of one fleece of eastern Oregon wool, raised by one of your prominent sheepmen. I wish you would call their attention to the injury they do both themselves and the commission man, by using such unnecessary brand, and I would suggest to them that if they must brand with tar or red paint, they ought to hire one shearer during shearing time to cut off the branded portion and throw it away, as it injures the sale of their wool at least 1c per pound, here. In San Francisco, also, the minute buyers, who understood their business; strike to see evidence of tar or paint brand on wool, they do it 1c per lb. I have quite a number of personal friends among the sheepmen of Morrow county, and I am desirous of seeing them get all there is in it, especially when they are customers of Christy & Wise."

None of The Extremes.

Telegram. The great season of storms has begun again. States of the central west and far east are to regale the newspapers with stories of cyclones, blizzards, snow blockades and freezing cold. These reports will come from all over the country lying on the east of the Cascades, but the Pacific slope will enjoy a winter free from these menaces to life and limb, and will rejoice in a climate that knows none of the extremes.

PATRICK EGAN MUCH DISLIKED.

A Boston Shooting Party Off for a Cruise in the Pacific Ocean.

TO THE MONETARY CONFERENCE.

Gov. Ireland of Texas "Ineligible" for the Campaign—One Goat Too Many for Him.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The London Times, reviewing American politics today takes occasion to say that England has no reason to be very enthusiastic over the candidates. "Cleveland, while president, distinguished himself by a gratuitous insult to England by demanding the recall of Minister West. President Harrison has not been behindhand in some methods of currying favor with the omnipotent Irish vote. The appointment as minister to Chili of Patrick Egan, whose friendship with Blaine he lately boasted of in public, is enough to indicate the spirit of the administration which elected the financier of the land league campaign for diplomatic promotion."

A Shooting Cruise.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—A shooting outfit, which is probably the most complete that ever left New England shores, will start in a few days for the Pacific. The crack schooner rattler, of Rockport, is to sail for Behring sea in pursuit of seal, walrus and other furs. The Japan coast will also be visited. In addition to the regular crew the Rattler carries 12 men, whose business will be solely to shoot such game as may be found.

To the Monetary Conference.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Henry W. Cannon, one of the American delegates to the international monetary conference, had a conference at the state department yesterday with Secretary Foster in regard to the duties and powers of delegates. Cannon and Senator Jones, another delegate, and Director Leach of the mint bureau, will sail on the 9th for Brussels, where the conference will be held, beginning the 22d. The remaining three delegates will meet at Washington the 10th to receive final instructions from the president through the secretary of state prior to their departure from New York.

Knocked Out By a Goat.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. Oct. 31.—A dispatch from Seguin states that ex-Governor John Ireland has been prevented from entering the state campaign in behalf of Hogg on account of injuries which he recently received from a vicious billy-goat. The bearded animal was kept in a pasture adjoining the governor's home. A few mornings ago Mr. Ireland was crossing the pasture in his usual dignified style, when the billy-goat struck him with full force from behind. The Texas statesman was knocked down and repeatedly struck by the goat. He made vain endeavors to ward off the blows with his feet, but was unsuccessful in doing so. He was rescued by neighbors and taken to his home, where he has since been confined.

Death of Jake Winters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—A Carson dispatch tells of the death of a noted character, Jake Winters, a man who has not washed or shaved himself for twenty-five years, a denizen of Carson valley. When a young man he made a vow that until the democratic party came into power he would go unwashed and unshaved. When Cleveland was elected he was reminded of his vow, but refused to take the necessary steps toward cleaning himself. His neighbors at once attempted to wash him, by force, but he got away and threatened to kill everybody who tried to clean him again. He was about sixty years old.
