LOCAL BREVITIES.

Common council meeting tonight.

Eastern on the half shell at the Baldwin restaurant.

Marshfield and Coquille are having a siege of smallpox.

Mr. McLafferty is home from a hurried business trip to Walla Walla.

The roads are splendid and driving is exceptionally good this week.

Mrs. H. Taylor returned yesterday from a visit to friends in Portland.

Mr. Frank Brown of Grant is in the city. He reports grain active but declining.

Mrs. S. L. Brooks returned last evening from a very pleasant visit with friends in Portland and the valley.

The second girl in the Woods family died of paralysis following diphtheria, today, aged about ten years.

Hon. John W. Meldrum, court Judge of Clackamas, was in the city on business before the land office yesterday.

W. B. Hays of Grass valley, in the city today, reports everything in the highest state of cultivation in that region.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Spear and Miss E. H. Black, of Wapinitia, and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wilhelm of 10-Mile are at the Umatilla.

At the Congregational church vestry at 7:30 this (Thursday) evening services will be held preparatory to holy communion next Sunday morning.

The Dalles railway yard was so jam full of cars this morning that every side track was filled, and about forty were backed on to the main line crossing Mill creek.

Old baggage car 1360 came up at noon today looking as fine as The Dalles mercantile company's new wagon. It has had about $500 worth of new paint added to it.

Recorder Menefee had three d. d.'s this morning. One paid his fine, one did not; and one is held for further action because of an assault upon W. C. Rice, the officer making the arrest.

Mr. Geo. Ruch is refitting his premises on Washington street, opposite THE CARONABLE office, and intends to occupy the bakery himself and resume business. Messrs. Thornbury & Hudson will occupy the office next door.

Referring to shipping on the Great Lakes, commissioner O'Brien notes an increase in tonnage from 711,259 tons in 1882 to 1,183,582, and says it now embraces a fleet of large steam vessels, models of beauty and efficiency.

Mrs. Ferris of Portland, who is in The Dalles for relief from the asthma, is a guest of Mrs. Frazer at the European house.

Some thief stole a horse last night out of the Riverside pasture; a saddle from Lockheads feed store, and an overcoat from August Buchlers. He got away with all of them.

Everybody who went to Dufur yesterday was delighted with the trip, the reception, the speeches, etc., etc., and everybody who did not go were disappointed, and sorry that they did not or could not go.

Mr. Lyman Chittenden, for eighteen years assistant postmaster in Portland, and who has for two years past filled the same position in The Dalles, leaves tomorrow for Moscow, Idaho, to take a similar position in the office there.

A leading Weaver man informs us that Chairman Murphy has the mortal sinch on the democratic nominees for electors in Oregon, and they will be obliged to step down and out before Tuesday. A vote for either of them is a vote thrown away.

Thos. Shaw of North Yakima, says the fields and orchards of that region have bountifully rewarded the husbandman this year, but if the voters vote next week to adopt the new state constitution, good crops will be needed to satisfy the rapacious tax gatherer.

The telegraph informs us that an Esquimaux baby was born to two members of the colony from Labrador, now quartered on the worlds fair grounds. Murat Halstead is called upon to decide whether it is to be called a "snucker" because of the accident of birth in Chicago.

A leading business man in the blacksmithing line up town, who has always voted the democratic ticket intends to vote for Harrison electors on Tuesday. He says you may coax a democrat sometimes, but you can never drive him, to vote as you please unless it suits him.

J. W. Atwell is in the city from Cascade Locks. Residents down there begin to realize that soon after the contract is let for the canal they will be in the condition of Micawber. If the work is completed in one year, as contractors say it may be, a whole lot of tenements in that once flourishing borough will be tagged "To Let."

Duke I. H. Taffe who returned from Portland on Thursday, reports that city very dull, the general public being impoverished by real estate speculations from which at present, people cannot realize a dollar and what is worse, as things look, will not be able to do so for years. It is the old tale, people have to grow gray before boom speculations become profitable.

The remains of Captain Marshall B. Short, who met with an untimely death at Astoria by the sinking barge Columbia, were placed in the family burial ground at Pleasant Hill, Oregon city. The deceased was a brother of Capt. Sherman Short of the Dalles City, and Capt. Pen. Short, steamboat men well known on the upper Willamette.

"Let us spray!" should be the universal motto among fruit producers in the Inland Empire. An experienced horticulturist of twenty-five years standing in the Willamette valley, tells us that fruit in the valley is doomed to extinction, so far as future profits are concerned, until the old orchards are removed and new ones grown at least, all because of a neglect to spray.

One dollar a dozen is a good price for Winter Nellis pears, yet this is the quotation in New York of this delicious fruit from the Pacific coast. If a man cannot get his fruit into market ahead of most of his competitors he would do well to devote himself to late varieties, for the experience of those who market California fruit at the east has been that the late varieties of pears, peaches and grapes bring nearly as good prices as those which appear first in the summer.

The kaolin deposits in the vicinity of The Dalles are attracting considerable attention East, and a firm of glass manufacturers have written several letters to that city making inquiries. We are creditably informed that within three or four miles of the city there are inexhaustible supplies of the best quality of this earthly metal. Some specimens have been assayed in San Francisco, and the result has been about 98 per cent. of pure kaolin. The glass works at Grand Dalles will be in operation early next year.

A bucking locomotive made things lively at the Albina round house a few days ago. She had been fully restored and run into the round house, preparatory to resuming work on the road. The man in charge of the engine alleges that when he left her at 6 o'clock p. m., she carried 25 pounds of steam, her throttle was closed, her lever reversed and her wheels were blocked. Soon, thereafter, she began moving, and leaped into the air the full length of her boiler. She then tumbled into the turntable pit, splintering her cab. The assigned cause for the peculiar action of the locomotive is that there was an inadequate quantity of packing to prevent the steam from escaping.

Lieut. Frederick G. Schwatka of arctic fame, died in Good Samaritan hospital at Portland yesterday, from the effects of an overdose of laudanum taken for the purpose of relieving pains in his stomach. Thus closes the career of a brilliant man; who, it has been truthfully said, has shed luster upon the state of his adoption. He was in his usual jovial mood the evening before, but complained some about a pain in his stomach. His prospects were very encouraging, and he expected soon to perfect arrangements for going down to Mexico, where he had a scheme with some Mexican land company. He was also very enthusiastic about his plans for having the government make a national park of Mount Hood. He seemed to feel highly encouraged, and believed all his plans would materialize.

The gang of "steerers," who have been operating the U. P. Ry. trains beyond Pendleton is about to be broken up. Sheriff Furnish put a bullet through one of the gang who attempted to get away, and others have been arrested. The sheriff regrets the affair greatly, but feels that he could not have done otherwise in the performance of his duty, and he is supported by public sentiment. He has made several visits to the wounded man, who will be well cared for. The latter, it is said, seems to think he was shot for a light crime, but should recognize his error in trying to escape. He had every chance to give up the race before it became necessary to stop him with a bullet. The warrant accused him of a penitentiary offense, and the sheriff could not allow him to escape. It is reported the patient said he had an opportunity to shoot the sheriff, but, despite the bad things he has been guilty of, never killed a man and never intended to.

There's a patent medicine which is not a patent medicine—paradoxical as that may sound. Its a discovery! the golden discovery of medical science! Its the medicine for you—tired, run-down, exhausted, nerve-wasted men and women; for you sufferers from diseases of skin or scalp, liver or lungs—its chance is with every one, its season always, because it aims to purify the fountain of life—the blood—upon which all such diseases depend. The medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The makers of it have enough confidence in it to sell it on trial. That is—you can get it from your druggist, and if it doesn't do what its claimed to do, you can get your money back, every cent of it.

That's what its makers call taking the risk of their words.

Tiny, little, sugar-coated granules, are what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are. The best Liver Pills ever invented; active, yet mild in operation; cure sick and bilious headaches. One a dose.

National Car Association.

The wheat blockade in Chicago and New York is explained in our local market quotations today by an excerpt from Mark Lane Express. Millers of Great Britain are bidding low, confident that our great surplus must go to them. There is a lack of cars for the same reasons that there is a lack of tonnage on the lakes, viz: "the elevators are filled to the eyes." In conversation with a railway traffic manager on this subject he says the only remedy against "car hoarding," which is equally as vexatious in time of a blockade as the blockade itself, is to make a national association for car service, such as the Ross system on the Burlington line. Exactly the same principles could be made to apply between the members of a national association as Mr. Ross applies to the divisions of the Burlington. This would practically pool the cars of the members, but each would benefit largely by guaranteed freedom from a car famine. In this way also no line could be crippled for lack of cars unless all other lines were equally crippled. It would be the duty of the chairman to shift the cars where there is the greatest demand. This would result in an infinitely superior service to the public and the cry of favoritism between shippers in times of car shortages would be forever stopped. It is scarcely believable, but there is an excess of cars twenty-five per cent. above the needs of traffic during any year in the history of railroads. When the lines in one territory are crowded those in another may have their sidetracks full of idle cars. A national car service association would almost completely do away with this difference by finding use for the idle cars. Why the plan has not been adopted is a standing mystery among railroad men. Perhaps it is the Arkansas man's reason for not building a roof.

HISTORICAL INCIDENT.

Reminiscence of an Attack Upon The Dalles and Canyon City Stage.

Hidden away in the musty archives of the State of Oregon is a long curious-looking tin box that contains a 38-caliber Colt revolver, very large and heavy, a bowie-knife made from a butcher knife, two pair of bullet molds, two ramrods and a belt. They are old and rusty, but they are prized as relics of Oregon's early history when Indians were on the warpath and settlers' lives were in danger. In 1887 this historical arsenal was presented to the state of Oregon through Secretary McBride, and since then it has lain undisturbed in the state house. The articles were the property of H. C. Paige when he made himself famous by a desperate conflict with a band of Indians in September, 1886. He was messenger for Wells, Fargo & Co., and was guarding the company treasure box which was being carried by stage from Canyon city to The Dalles. H. H. Wheeler was driver of the coach, and it was near Alkali Flat. There were no passengers and the two were slowly jogging along a very hilly portion of the road, when suddenly sixteen Indians on horseback made a dash for the coach, firing as they approached. Paige sprang to the ground and single handed engaged the savages. So rapid and effective was his fire that three of the Indians fell from their horses and the remainder scattered in flight. But they soon rallied and again surrounded the doomed stage. Meanwhile Wheeler received a bullet near the corner of his mouth which passed entirely through his cheeks. It was impossible to drive faster than a walk, so rough was the road, so Paige and Wheeler unhitched the two lead horses, mounted them and left the scene to the mercy of the Indians. Amidst a volley of bullets they fled to the nearest station and thence to The Dalles. Mr. Paige is now living in eastern Oregon, but he leads a quiet and secluded life and refuses to talk of his brave actions or his valuable connection with the early settlement of the state.

Notice: Sale of City Lots.

Notice is hereby given that, by authority of Ordinance No. 257, which passed the common council of Dalles city, September 3d, 1892, entitled "An ordinance entitled an ordinance to provide for the sale of certain lots belonging to Dalles city," I will, on Saturday next offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, all of the lots and parts of lots situated in Gates Addition to Dalles City, Wasco county, Oregon, not heretofore sold, as previously advertised.

Each of said lots will be sold upon the lot respectively and none of them shall be sold for a less sum than the value thereof as above stated.

One fourth of the price bid on any of said lots shall be paid in cash at the time of sale, and the remainder in two equal payments on or before one and two years from the date of such sale, respectively, with interest on such deferred payments at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, payable annually. Provided that payment may be made in full at the time of such sale at the option of the purchaser.

The sale will begin at the hour of ten o'clock a. m. of said day and will be continued from time to time until all of said lots shall be sold.

Dated this 1st day of November, 1892.

A Cure for Cholera.

There is no use of any one suffering with the cholera when Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can be procured. It will give relief in a few minutes and cure in a short time. I have tried it and know.—W. H. Clinton, Helmetta, N. J. The epidemic at Helmetta was at first believed to be cholera, but subsequent investigation proved it to be a violent form of dysentery, almost as dangerous as cholera. This remedy was used there with great success. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.
