Prof. T. L. Washburne, of the experiment station of the state agricultural college at Corvallis states that, during the season just passed, they have saved at least 85 per cent. of the apples with three or four sprayings. Twenty cents per tree for old and full grown trees will cover the expense of spraying for the season. By this it is seen that the expense of spraying is really nothing. In this town today a bushel of apples free from the codlin moth will sell for twenty cents more a bushel than in which the codlin has done his work. The difference on one bushel of apples will pay the expense of spraying the entire tree through the season. Our fruit growers must adopt this means of extermination of the pest or our market must be supplied from some other territory. Hundreds of apple trees can be found in this county on which the entire crop has been destroyed by the codlin moth. Another method of killing them is to tie a band around the tree, leaving loose flaps under which they will congregate, and occasionally remove the band and kill the pests gathered there. This is quite highly recommended and is a simple treatment.

The London Finance News yesterday says the long expected boom in American railroad shares may come at any time. American speculators, it declares, have not yet grasped the potential sources of traffic expansion that will be afforded by the Columbian exposition. There is nothing extravagant in the estimate that $250,000,000 of foreign money will be left in America as a harvest of the exposition. The Americans will be literally buried with money seeking investment. The New York Post London dispatch says settlement was made yesterday, facilitated by abundant money at 2 per cent. Excitement of the markets is confined to South Africa. The English speculative public is still lethargic.

The report comes that General Master Workman Powderly will retire from the headship of the Knights of Labor and urge the name of Lecturer Wright as his successor. It will hardly be denied by any one who has met the two men that Wright has a much superior mind and a great deal wider range of information than Powderly. His ability to hold together and re-build an organization composed of so many perplexing elements as the Knights of Labor is another question. Powderly, however, has been too tenacious in holding to the master workmanship of the order in the past for any great confidence to be placed in the rumor.

The visible supply of wheat in New York today is reported to be 2,488,000 bushels over what it was a week ago today. There is a decrease of 16,000 bushels of rye, and 60,000 bushels of oats. Corn has fallen off 168,000 bushels. Barley has increased 579,000 bushels.

The stockmen of eastern Washington have no cause for complaint this fall says the Review. Their cattle are in great demand at good prices, and a great deal of money is accordingly flowing into that section. Not so here as to prices.

An attempt will be made to run the steamer Nelson on the upper Columbia this season and her hull is to be covered with iron to protect it from the ice.

The Alabama legislature meets today. The members claim they have perfected means to seat Kolb as governor.

Ingalls on Election.
ATKINSON, Nov. 15.—"The majority has the right to rule," John J. Ingalls said this morning, and when the majority expresses an opinion the verdict should be accepted by every good citizen promptly and cheerfully. Just now I am not making any autopsies or post-mortem statements. It is known that during the coming winter Ingalls will deliver 50 lectures in different parts of the country, and that "The Causes and Consequences of the Recent Election" will be one of his subjects.

THE NEW TOWN has been platted on the old camp ground, at the Forks and Falls of Hood river, with large slightly lots, broad streets and alleys, good soil, pure cold water and shade in profusion, perfect drainage, delightful mountain climate, the central attraction as a mountain summer resort and for all Oregon, being the nearest town to Mt. Hood. It is also unparalleled as a manufacturing center, being the natural center for 150 square miles of the best cedar and fir timber, possessing millions of horse power in its dashing streams and waterfalls, easily harnessed. Where cheap motive power exists, there the manufacturing will center, surrounded by soil and climate that cannot be excelled anywhere for fruit and agriculture, and with transportation already assured you will find this the place to make a perfect home or a paying investment.
