LOCAL BREVITIES.

Kennedys new steam launch has gone into winter quarters.

Council meeting under the new roof tomorrow evening.

Drs. Whitcomb and Vanderpool of Dufur, are in the city.

Leave orders for Thanksgiving Turkeys at J. H. Cross' Feed Store.

Wanted by a lady: A position as nurse. Inquire at CHRONICLE office.

Fresh bread of the Geo. Ruche bakery, for sale at the Columbia Candy factory, Campbell Bros., daily.

Mrs. Polk Mays and two little sons from Joseph Wallowa county, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Kelsay, at Fossil.

One solitary d. d., of a mild type, was all that approached his Hon. Frank Menefee meekly saying guilty this morning. He still languishes.

Mr. Thomas Kay, the Salem woolen manufacturer, is in the city looking after the fleeces. He is hale and hearty, and is not losing any sleep over the result of the elections.

Mrs. Geo. Johnston and Mrs. Balch of Dufur are at the European house today; also Dr. Howatt of Warm Springs agency, Wm. Whiter of San Francisco, Messrs. Dicken Bros. of Kentucky, and W. R. Price of Portland.

Rocks, mud, trees, etc., have again blocked the railroad between The Dalles and Portland last night. Trains due at The Dalles at 11:55 last night and at 1:05 p. m. today had not yet arrived when THE CHRONICLE went to press this afternoon.

Rand and Oliver, the United States mail clerks on The Dalles and Albany runs, alternate nightly and get in about 2 1/2 hours sleep here. It seems as though a race must yet be born to work all hours and no sleep, the way our wise Uncle Sam puts his men at it. Especially in the P. O. D.

Mr. I. B. Courtway, living 7 1/2 miles east of Goldendale, has raised the banner crop of potatoes this season. He sold a few bushels to Mr. Carlock, of which his wife cooked one potato for dinner for six persons; enough of the potato remained for supper for eight persons. It is said that all ate heartily of it.

Part of the show in Portland tonight will be the huge tin hat that was used in the big republican procession in Portland, on the 3d. It has been captured by the democrats and banged into an almost undistinguishable mass of tin. The democrats will place a papier mache rooster on it, place it in a wagon and haul it through the streets in old Roman style.

Business is so demoralized by the frequency of traffic interruptions between The Dalles and Portland that even some of the secret enemies of the Regulator line admit openly that the only certainty of a trip over the route now is by The Dalles, Portland and Astoria Navigation company's boats.

Robert E. Bybee, the well known turf man of Portland, is lying at the point of death in San Francisco. For some time past Mr. Bybee has been in rather poor health. His many friends in this city and elsewhere, will learn with deep regret of his dangerous illness.

The health of Judge Stearns, of the Multnomah criminal court, is yet so precarious that it is possible he may be obliged to retire from the bench. Judge Bradshaw of this circuit has been asked to go to Portland and complete some important business before Judge Stearns. He may do so after the present term in this county.

The Chrysanthemum Exhibit.

Nothing of its kind has been seen in the Pacific northwest to surpass the Chrysanthemum Exhibition by The Dalles ladies, in the Baldwin buildings for the benefit of St. Paul's Episcopal Guild. It may be told that such an extensive collection exists here, but few would be found to receive the statement without misgivings and doubt. Seeing is believing, and we are pleased to be informed that the collection is to be photographed by Miss Lang, to carry conviction farther, for "all things bright and fair must fade," and this exhibition, like a railroad ticket, is good for one trip only, unless perpetuated by photography. Aside from the ladies there are multitudes of people who would be delighted with a visit to this exhibition, and the paltry 25 cents admission should not be considered for one moment, by any person within reach of the Baldwin buildings today, and this evening. Nor should any person stand upon their order of going to see it. Home and state pride, if nothing more, should prompt the visit. It is a glorious advertisement for The Dalles, the Inland Empire, the Pacific northwest. It is at once convincing of our admirable climate. There are varieties of chrysanthemums there from out door flower gardens, in The Dalles, upon the culture alone of which vast sums of money have been expended in other states only to meet with failure. Often in our rambles through The Dalles, has the beauty of our flower gardens, a beauty seemingly not realized by one half the population, reminded us of the loveliness of this city as a home. The Dalles is at a crucial period in its history, and the citizens of the present, aided by nature, can make it for all time to come the most beautiful or the most unadorned municipality of this land. That the spirit of beauty shall prevail, the ladies should be encouraged by your presence and patronage.

THE HIGH TEA.
 Next door to the chrysanthemum exhibition the ladies have elaborately provided another surprising feast—"for the inner man." At handsomely decorated tables, presided over by charming young ladies, you are invited to refreshments of the best and daintiest, at nominally no cost. The surroundings are cheerful, and one will be made to feel very much "at home." The ladies have, in the decoration of this room, certainly displayed the most happy combinations. It is hoped that they may not be disappointed in the results, as they are worthy of the most satisfying success. The High Tea, as well as the chrysanthemum exhibit, will close at 10 o'clock this evening. "A word is worth a picture." Don't miss the opportunity.

TWO NEW PICTURES.

What the Science of Photography is Doing For an Open River.
 Pictures are an attraction which cannot be overcome. It has become the universal custom, when one wishes to draw, in any line, to adopt a system of illustrations; and the more artistic and elegant the designs produced, the greater the attraction and its consequent benefits. From Astoria to Utah there have been this year models of beauty and finish innumerable, to be admired while the admirer perused comments accompanying which "speak louder than words," to form desirable impressions of the subjects treated.

Of such as these are two handsome photographic views laid on our table this week with the compliments of Mr. Linus Hubbard, The Dalles.

The first of these photos, is 11x14 inches in size, and contains a view of the steamer Regulator at The Dalles wharf taking on wheat. It is a waterscope and a landscape together, taking in the Columbia from the ferry landing to a point about 1 1/2 miles above, including Grand Dalles, from the old Rockland court house to the new factory building just completed. The top title to the card reads as follows:
 For an open river from the Inland Empire to the sea.
 Shipping wheat from The Dalles, Or., to Liverpool, England. All water route. Steamers Regulator and Dalles City, and Clipper ships via Astoria and Cape Horn.

Under the photo, is the following:
 Producers of the Inland Empire, note the following: Water transportation, per bushel of wheat:
 Lake Steamers, Duluth to Buffalo, 1025 miles, 25c
 Canal boats, Buffalo to N. Y., 495 " 25c
 Ocean vessels, N. Y. to Liverpool, 2800 " 5c
 Totals 4500 105c
 Railroad transportation per bushel of wheat, Union Pacific railroad, The Dalles to Portland, 88 miles, 12 1/2 cents. (Before the Regulator line of boats was established.) See that no man represents you in the United States senate or house of representatives, who will not work for an open Columbia river, from the Pacific ocean to Idaho.

The lowest possible rates of freight from the valley of the Columbia river to all seaport markets insures the highest possible prices for the products of the Inland Empire.
 The second photo is 10x12 inches in size and presents a similar view, of the same steamer loading wool for Boston, by the all water route, steamers Regulator and Dalles City, and ship Tillie E. Starbuck, via Astoria and Cape Horn. The water transportation route is represented on one side of the photo, at 14,800 miles, the freight per ton $25, and the time three months, with the following comment: "After completion of the cascade locks this rate will be reduced by avoiding two handlings at the present portage railway."

On the opposite side of the photo the railroad transportation, Union Pacific system, from The Dalles to Boston, is given; distance 3,262 miles, freight $52, time one month.
 Under the photo is the following: "After completion of the cascade locks, wool, wheat, stock, minerals and fruit, and all the products of the Inland Empire will command full market values. Vote for no man for senate or congress, who will not work for an open Columbia river."

Twenty years hence such as these pictures are will be treasured in the homes of Inland Empire millionaires yet to be, who will glance back with an unexplainable wonder that the scenes of the present day were ever permitted to exist for a single year as a menace to the development of the most fertile and mild-tempered region of limitless resources that the good Lord ever permitted the sun to shine upon. Then the true inwardness of the cloven footed policy now in vogue here will be clearly understood. But where will Hubbard be? With us and similar co-laborers, perhaps, on the way to the poorhouse.

Campaign Times in Georgia.

The Atlanta Constitution furnishes us with the following sample of songs which were so effective in the campaign of political "reform" in that state: Campaign times in Georgia! dem's de times for me!
 Wish they'd last forever—good as kin be!
 Money, it's just plentiful, dollars bright an' new,
 An' if you walk a hundred yards you strike a barbecue!
 Campaign times in Georgia, best you ever knowed;
 Candidates a-keepen' in de middle of de road;
 Visitin' de people, spekin' at de school,
 Goin' straight to glory, on a mortgaged mule!

Danger in Decayed Teeth.

If the teeth are allowed to decay until the attention required will permit of no further delay, and it is then desired to preserve them for further usefulness, much that could have been avoided by early care must now be submitted to, the time occupied in the dental chair is greatly lengthened, more of the natural tooth is sacrificed (to be replaced by artificial material) and increased pain and discomfort usually attend the operation, while not the least weighty among other considerations is the additional expense incurred.

Neglected teeth are not only unsightly and offensive to others, but frequently occasion painful nerve complications, distressing neuralgias, secondarily injure the eyesight, induce deafness, while cases of resulting insanity are well authenticated. Then the effluvia arising from decaying teeth is not only unendurable, but the air taken into the delicate lung structure (over 20,000 respirations each twenty-four hours) is affected by it, and in time surely has a deleterious effect on the health.—B. C. CORNWELL, D. D. S., in Philadelphia Press.

Arguments for and Against Suffrage.

Once a year in Massachusetts women have the opportunity to take part in a very limited way in the ordering of public affairs by voting, if they choose to do so, for members of the school committee in their respective towns or cities. Once a year, with equal regularity, the legislature is asked to extend this privilege by giving women the right either to vote for all elective local or municipal officers or to take part in general elections with the same powers as men.
 The extent to which the women avail themselves of the limited privilege which they now have is often made the basis of argument for or against an extension of the suffrage; while, on the other hand, the advocates of full suffrage for women claim it as a right founded on the broadest principles of natural justice and not to be impaired by any considerations of our artificial society.—Boston Commonwealth.

Bees Graft a Rare Apple.

Horticulturists who have seen it say that an apple which was picked in E. B. George's orchard, New Franklin, Pa., could only have been produced by a peculiar grafting done by the bees in the apple blossom season.
 Exactly one-half of the apple is golden russet, like the apples that grew on the same tree, and the other half is bright green pippin, such a variety as grew on trees 100 yards distant. In blossoming time a bee must have transplanted a part of a distant pippin blossom into the petals of the russet's flower.—Exchange.

Pioneer Bakery.

Having again reopened this popular bakery and employed the services of a first class baker, I am prepared to furnish the public with the very best of bread, pies and cakes on short notice. Next door to Chrisman & Corson, Cor. Washington and Second streets, The Dalles, Or. GEO. RITCH.

Mild, gentle, soothing and healing is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Only 50 cents; by druggists.

It was Ben Johnson, we believe, who, when asked Mallock's question, "Is life worth living?" replied, "That depends on the liver." And Ben Johnson probably saw the double point to the pun. The liver active—quick—life rosy, everything bright, mountains of trouble melt like mountains of snow. The liver sluggish—life dull, everything blue, molehills of worry rise into mountains of anxiety, and as a result—sick headache, dizziness, constipation. Two ways are open. Cure permanently, or relieve temporarily. Take a pill and suffer, or take a pill and get well. Shock the system by an overdose, or coax it by a mild, pleasant way.
 Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the mild means. They work effectively, without pain, and leave the system strong. One, little, sugar-coated pellet is enough, although a whole vial costs but 25 cents.

County Treasurer's Notice.

 10-31st Treasurer Wasco County, Or.
