Miss May Booth of Portland is in the city, visiting Miss Nellie Brown.

Phil Smith, who was taken to the hospital recently very ill, is slowly recovering.

T. A. Hudson now has the noblest sign on Washington street, at his new office.

The Baldwin has a fat 30-lb turkey hung out today, signifying that every day is Thanksgiving at that restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hanna of Olex, were in the city yesterday, en route to their new home from Benton county. It is Mrs. Hanna's first visit.

We acknowledge a social call from James L. Easton and son, of Boyd. Mr. Easton has been a resident of Wasco county fourteen years. He belongs to the argonauts of '49, at which time he landed in California.

A drove of 130 head of fine flat Berkshire porkers were driven in today for the Columbia Packing company, from the Klickitat farm of Mr. W. Lord. They are all about equally proportioned and very nearly marked alike.

At a recent meeting of the official board of the M. E. Church a resolution was unanimously passed tendering a vote of thanks to Prof. M. W. Smith for his splendid present of ten elegant high back chairs for the use of the choir.

Balfie Johnson, the worthy operator of the W. U. T. Co. at The Dalles, met with his 23d annual reception in Life yesterday and duly observed the event by making a call last evening where he was considerably surprised by the customary flogging; with an unusually pleasant aftermath.

The carrier boys' appeal to the city subscriber is to have boxes placed at the gates to keep the paper dry, assure prompt delivery and preserve the paper in readable form from the storms of winter. The CHRONICLE would be pleased to see this appeal acted upon.

Sherman county fares no better, since she left Wasco, if as well as formerly. Assessments of the value of the lands are fully 20 per cent. greater, and taxes much higher than previous to the creation of the new county. "Let well enough alone," is a pretty fair motto in times like these.

Rev. W. H. Wilson of this city has an apple which he picked a year ago this month from a tree on his Mill creek farm, now owned by the Columbia river fruit company. It is solid good fruit, but Mr. W. does not know the name of it. He purchased the tree in Missouri, and on coming out, with other trees, the tag was lost. It shows, however, how fruit will keep in this climate.

Our New Railway.

The Telegram claims that the Tacoma, Lake Park and Columbia river railway is a scheme of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and will build through Cowlitz pass to a connection with the Hunt system. It is said the Great Northern and C. B. and Q. have a perfect understanding. If they build west from Wyoming to Boise, there verging to connect with the Hunt system on Snake river, and the Oregon Pacific via Albany and Astoria, they will thus have three outlets to the coast. One on the sound and two in Oregon. The C. B. and Q. is a wealthy and independent corporation, but it is too conservative for unlimited extensions.

The Bergfeld Case.

The court room was densely packed last evening to listen to the testimony in the case of the State v. Wm. Bergfeld. The evidence of Capt. J. H. Fisk, Miss L. V. Hampton and her brother, W. H. Hampton, was completed. The analysis of the stomach of Mrs. Rogers, submitted at the preliminary examination, was made by Capt. Fisk and Miss Hampton; on the 16th the balance of the contents of the jar was delivered to W. H. Hampton, and he was engaged by the prosecution to make another analysis. His testimony last evening showed that a large quantity of zinc had been taken into the stomach of deceased, when the proportions of the body and the conditions are considered in connection with the small quantity of the fluid analyzed. It is expert testimony and may perhaps not be sufficiently plain to be clearly understood generally, except as to the particular point that there is evidence in the trace of a considerable quantity having entered the stomach.

At 10 o'clock Mr. D. L. Cates was called, when the question was raised as to the admissibility of his testimony, and counsel argued the matter until the adjournment, 10:45 p. m.

On convening court this morning Mr. Cates again took the stand, and the argument continued on the admissibility of the evidence he was about to give. Finally it was admitted, the statement made, and afterwards stricken out.

The next witness called was Mr. Bert Rogers. It is thought the prosecution will not close their testimony before Monday.

Telegraphic Flashes.

The N. P. R. No. 1, was held up sixty-three miles east of Tacoma on the 24th, and passengers were relieved of about $1,500 in money and valuables.

Fire in a New Mexico coal mine at Blossberg makes it possible for 100 men to meet their fate in death. It is possible they may escape from another shaft.

Great floods are reported in China; many people have been drowned.

James G. Blaine's physical condition is reported to be serious, and his friends are fearful of the result.

Dying From Hydrophobia.

DANVILLE, Va., Nov. 25.—A little son of J. A. Lee, of North Danville, was bitten by a dog September 15th. The dog also bit forty or fifty other persons and five days later died, showing symptoms of madness. Two days ago young Lee was taken sick and today developed a genuine case of hydrophobia. He is not expected to live. As so many others were bitten by the same dog, North Danville people are in a state of great excitement tonight.

"Clever Detective Work."

THE CHRONICLE reporter was on Thursday intrusted with some "clever detective secrets;" but as we do not believe in the policy of trying a case until it gets into court, nor revealing facts to a culprit fugitive until he is safely behind the bars; we do not propose to give away any of the secrets of work intrusted to our keeping this week; and whatever we may say here now has been picked up on the street. There is no longer any secret about the arrival here of twenty-one armed men; of how they chartered teams and loaded themselves and their beds (blankets covering Winchester), and baggage (satchels filled with cartridges), and took their way out of town in different vehicles, each appearing to be a stranger to the other. They drove into the Inland Empire and separated, temporarily; a part of their party returned to The Dalles with Cal. Hale, who has been identified as the man who struck Mr. Abernathy over the head with a revolver in the Roslyn bank, and was one of the cow boys implicated in that robbery. They also, by this clever piece of detective service, captured another man (Klmsey), implicated in the same robbery, and have got an eye on others. This is all news picked up on the street today.

In addition to the above we are informed by one who was told by a detective, that the "pointer" which put them on track of the robbers was a couple of horses captured from them at the time the citizen's posse was chasing the band in the mountains near Roslyn. The Roslyn robbers belong to a gang extending from Mexico to British Columbia, and they steal horses in one place, running them to another place, reversing the order for security and sales. The captured horses had been stolen from Eastern Oregon, in the vicinity of Fossil, and taken as a clue, lead to the discovery of the rendezvous.

There are a number of stories floating about, one of which sniffs out the light cast upon the rendezvous of Sontag and Evans as pictured by the San Francisco Examiner man who pretended to visit them recently in the mountains of California. Our informant says a "detective" told him that a hostler in a stable was told by a tramp who got it from a Harney sheep herder that Sontag and Evans are up this way, and that the latest recruit at the rendezvous is Burdette Wolfe, whom they are after because of the reward. It is said the other thugs, thieves and murderers in camp make it hot for Burdette, and if he only could be assured that his penalty might be imprisonment for life, he would gladly surrender. But his chums are watching him now, and he is, so to speak, "placed between two fires."

All jokes aside this is a serious subject. Officers in pursuit of criminals deserve the support of the press and the public; and that justice may be done they usually have such support; but when they destroy the very influence they are most in need of, and tell Tom, Dick and Harry this and that item, which forms the web of the web they are weaving, it must be expected that their plans will be frustrated. This article is compiled wholly from current rumors on the street today. Had The CHRONICLE been disposed to do so, the story might have been published on Thursday, but we preferred to keep silent and give the "detectives" a chance.

Okanogan Smith, the pioneer prospector, died last week of typhoid fever. He was chosen a member of the Washington house of representatives at the last election. For the past quarter of a century he has denied himself the benefits of civilized life, in his devotion to the mining interests of Okanogan. His death will be regretted more because of the apparent dawn realization of his "long deferred hopes."

The cost of good roads is discussed considerably of late. The graveled streets of East Portland are the worst in the world, both for the animal and the tax payer. Good country roads, dry the year round, may be made at $7,000 to 2,000 per mile, and even less according to location, and the expenditure pays. To pull a ton on macadam costs just half as much as on hard dirt, and one-fourth as much as on sand. It is estimated in England that improved roads have made it possible for three horses to do the work formerly done by four, thus saving $100,000,000 annually. It is also stated that with improved roads, the farm produce could be hauled for $15,000,000 per annum less than now, and that $160,000,000 would be added to the value of the farms.

A worse land slide is reported in Fairhaven than anything in Oregon yet. It was an avalanche which came down the mountain on the east side of Lake Whatcom sweeping the house occupied by Warren Burgess and his wife, together with his entire farm, into the lake. It seems that they were asleep in bed when the avalanche came down and awoke to find themselves 500 feet out in the lake on a pile of debris. Mr. Burgess had his leg crushed in a jam of trees, but managed to swim with his wife to the shore. There they lay in a terrible storm without clothing for seven hours before help reached them. Mr. Burgess is well known here, having formerly lived in the Inland Empire. Some years ago he removed to the sound, and had by hard labor cultivated and improved a farm on the bank of Lake Whatcom. The house stood on a little plateau about fifty feet from the lake shore. Every vestige of the improvement which his toil wrought was swept away by the terrible landslide.

The Quickest Way to Cure a Cold.

Do you wish to know the quickest way to cure a cold? We will tell you. To cure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has become settled in the system. The first symptoms of a cold is a dry, loud cough and sneezing. The cough is soon followed by watery expectoration and the sneezing by a profuse watery discharge from the nose. In severe cases there is a thin white coating on the tongue. What to do? It is only necessary to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in double doses every hour. That will greatly lessen the severity of the cold and in many cases will effectually counteract it, and cure what would have been a severe cold within one or two days time. Try it and be convinced. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

The Parting of the Ways.

Wilkins and Watkins were college chums and close friends. They had been hard students and had taken little out-door exercise. When they shook hands and said good-bye at the end of their college career, they were in impaired health. Both had dyspepsia, liver troubles and troublesome coughs. Wilkins had plenty of money, and decided to travel for his health. Watkins was poor. "I must go to work for my living," said he, "but I'll try the remedy that Robinson talks so much about—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

In less than two years Wilkins came home in his coffin. Watkins, now in the prime of life, is a bank president, rich and respected, and weighs 200 pounds. "The 'Golden Medical Discovery' saved my life at a critical time," he often says. "Oh, if poor Wilkins had only tried it!" For weak lungs, spitting of blood, all lingering coughs, and consumption in its early stages, it is an unequalled remedy.

American Cholera.

From the DAILY REVEILLE, Whatcom, Wash. T. C. Burnett, the democratic candidate for sheriff, was taken violently ill at Clearbrook. He had all the symptoms of Asiatic cholera, and for an hour or two it was feared he would die. They finally gave him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which revived him until a physician arrived. That is precisely what the manufacturers of that medicine recommend for cholera. Send for a physician but give their medicine until the physician arrives. If cholera become prevalent in this country next summer this preparation will be in great demand because it can always be depended upon. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.
