LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mrs. McNulty is in the city visiting her daughters.

Leave your order for cord wood at Maier & Benton's.

Miss Minnie Michell returned from Portland on the noon passenger.

Mrs. Emma McClure of Mosier is the guest of her brothers in this city.

Mr. O. Kinersly is expected home from a business trip to Goldendale tomorrow.

Jas. A. Crossen was the lucky man at the raffle for the picture painted by Mrs. A. Ingalls.

Abstracts of title and land papers prepared by Huntington & McKinsley, 139 Second street.

Parties having property to sell or rent are requested to list it with us.—Huntington and McKinsley.

Balliff Jackson will have no composure of mind until the county puts a telephone in the court house.

Capt. J. W. Lewis is still confined to his bed, and seems to be threatened with a siege of typhoid fever.

Christman Bros., slaughtered 140 head of hogs at The Dalles last week which were properly cured for the market.

In spite of the muddy condition of the roads considerable wheat continues to come in from both the north and south.

Rev. O. D. Taylor who has been confined to his house with sickness for the past three weeks, is somewhat improved the past day or two.

A horse gets upon his fore legs first, a cow upon her hind legs first. The performance shows that the tiger gets up on all four legs at once.

Passenger trains are on time today, and the blocked freight trains were moving out yesterday at the rate of two trains an hour for Portland.

It is supposed that the lions into whose den Daniel was thrown were society lions. They didn't take any notice of him it will be remembered.

Messrs. Day Bros., who made the successful bid for completing the Cascade locks and canal, have filed their bonds $400,000, and are ready to begin that long deferred work just as quick as the red tape manipulators will let them.

Mr. Snodgrass of Boyd, who came in to testify in a case pending in court between a couple of his neighbors, got the parties together and they finally settled the matter without the intervention of attorneys, and he is on his way home, relishing the blissfulness of the peacemaker.

The matter of using convict labor to improve our public highways is being seriously agitated in this state and it is more than likely the matter will at least be given a trial. It receives general indorsement, as in this way convict labor can be used without coming in competition with legitimate free labor. There is a large amount of work needed on the roads in this state.

And now it turns out that Pete French, the Harney millionaire cattleman didn't die as reported. He is said to be alive and still fencing in with barbed wire, whatever he finds lying around of the public domain loose in his region.

A New York man robbed a woman's pocket of $175 while on a ferry-boat. While extremely culpable for the theft, he is to be congratulated on having found a woman's pocket. Dime-museum managers are said to be hunting for him now.

At no time since January 1880, was the barometer near so low in The Dalles as reported yesterday. Then it was 28.62, on the 9th. The storm indicated by this low reading was the most severe in northern California Saturday and Sunday.

The reported death of Okanogan Smith was somewhat premature. The last word from him is to the effect that he is not now in immediate danger. He had been sick for some time and had recovered sufficiently to attend to his duties when he was taken with a relapse.

The Winquatt Chautauqua circle met last evening at the residence of Mrs. C. J. Grandall. The evening was very pleasantly passed in discussion of the topics for the evening. Those present were Mesdames S. L. Brooks, B. S. Huntington, M. T. Mullen, L. E. Crowe, C. Donnell, A. Grey, Miss Mary Frazier, Mr. H. H. Riddell.

The storm is still furious in California today, and telegraphic communication with the interior is so demoralized that San Francisco and Sacramento are completely cut off. How very few countries there are where the barometer gets down to 28.08, as it was here Sunday, that people don't hunt the cyclone cellar. Yet here comparatively no notice is taken of the incident as anything beyond the ordinary.

Tommy Ogden, a Portland boy who has followed whaling in the Arctic ocean for sixteen years, is on a visit to his old home. Of the catch and value of whales Ogden says: "At the present prices for whalebone, and the scarcity of whajies, three of them is a fair catch for one season. Three whales will ordinarily yield from 5,000 to 6,000 pounds, or more of whalebone, worth about $6.50 per pound and about 80 barrels of oil, worth $14 per barrel. One whale is ordinarily worth about $11,000."

Sheriff Tom Ward is a judge sitting on the bench in the county court room today trying a case against Jim White; who, by the way, is black; for the rights of property. Mr. Ward fills the position with dignity, but he evinces some jealousy toward the court upstairs, because Judge Bradshaw attracts the fair sex more numerously than he does. He only had one woman attending his session this forenoon, while Judge Bradshaw has all the way from 50 to 200 at each session. Judge Ward thinks of having some ladies notified officially that he is holding court himself.

Crook county people are discussing the advisability of offering a bounty for coyote scalps. They are so plentiful that cattle raisers find them killing young calves on the range, and farmers in some localities claim that it is impossible for them to raise poultry on their farms on account of the ravages of coyotes. The sheep men of course are terribly annoyed by these pests and suffer severe loss from them each season. So it seems that all industries of the county are affected by these little marauders, and probably it would be to the best interest of the county that a reasonable bounty be offered for their scalps, sufficient to induce people to exterminate them.

There is one good thing about Boston beans, people who subsist upon them rarely eat much. One dry bean goes a long way, even with a hungry poet.

When a preacher alludes to the golden rule these days all the silver men declare that he is dragging the church down into politics and an infernal agent of Wall street.

There is a never-failing test by which you may determine your own moral condition. If you find yourself inclined to believe all the good you hear about others and to discredit the bad you are in no immediate danger. If you find yourself inclined to believe every evil report and to disregard the good you have black devils in you by the bushel.

The Birgfeld Case.

With one or two minor exceptions the time of the court yesterday afternoon, last evening and this morning has been taken up with arguments on the admissibility of expert evidence. There was some fine points of law brought out in the argument, and the court finally admitted the testimony. Judge Blakeley, Messrs. Estabrook, Donnell, Clarke and other druggists were called last night, with the record books of the several drug stores, to show that no poison had been purchased by any of the Birgfelds during the past year, after which court adjourned until 9 a. m. today.

At the appointed hour testimony was resumed on the part of the defense. Dr. Hollister was the chief witness this forenoon. Interest in the case does not flag in the least. The court room was crowded last evening, and will be again this evening to listen to counsel, Messrs. Wilson and Duinir for the state, and Judge A. S. Bennett for the defense.

An application for a couple of Mr. Hubbard's pictures comes from the interior of Ohio. In response to the letter Mr. H. forwarded the pictures, accompanied by a letter saying: "These pictures are not on sale. I got them up for distribution to the press of the Inland Empire, hoping to awaken a more widespread and outspoken interest in the question of an open Columbia river, which above all questions is now the great desideratum with the producers of regions tributary to the valley of the Columbia." On open river insures lowest possible transportation rates to the best markets of the world.

Life And Hope.

Astorian. We are enabled to make the important announcement that a contract has been signed with Col. Blackman for the building of the Goble railroad; that is, the 57 miles of track along the Columbia river that are needed to connect Astoria with the Northern Pacific. Col. Blackman agreed to build the railroad provided the promised land subsidy is made up. Immediate steps will be taken to make up the land subsidy, to comprise about 2,000 acres. According to the terms of the agreement, the construction of the road will proceed as soon as word is telegraphed that the subsidy has been subscribed.

Judge Stearns' Illness.

Telegram. Judge Loyal B. Stearns expects to leave for Southern Oregon next Saturday evening, where he will probably remain about a week and then he may go to California, returning home in about a month. "I have secured a promise from Judge W. L. Bradshaw, of The Dalles, to sit for me for two weeks," said Judge Stearns this morning, "and when he leaves Judge J. C. Fullerton, of Roseburg, will take the bench and remain in my place till I return. I am feeling some better than I did, but find there is plenty of room for improvement."

"Can't Live Without Cooks."

Argonaut. On a celebrated occasion in Vienna, when there was much excitement in all the European courts over affairs of international moment, the French ambassador was suddenly recalled by his government. "It is a very grave affair, is it not?" Prince Metternich was asked by a lady at a court ball. "This recall of the ambassador? Not so very grave, I assure you, madam," the prince responded, "as it would have been if it had been the French ambassador's cook who was recalled. The ambassador can easily be replaced, but not his cook."

A DEAD SHOT

right at the seat of difficulty, is accomplished by the sure and steady aim of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Don't fool around with a pop-gun, nor a "flint-lock" when this reliable "Winchester" is within reach!

Dr. Sage's treatment of Catarrh in the Head is far superior to the ordinary, and when directions are reasonably well followed, results in a permanent cure. Don't longer be indifferent to the verified claims of this unflinching Remedy. The worst forms of Catarrh disappear with the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties effect a perfect and permanent cure, no matter how bad the case, or of how long standing. It's a remedy that succeeds where everything else has failed. Thousands of such cases can be pointed out. That's the reason its makers back their faith in it with money. They offer $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure.

It's a medicine that allows them to take such a risk. Doesn't common sense lead you to take such a medicine? "An advertising fake" you say. Funny, isn't it, how some people prefer sickness to health when the remedy is positive and the guarantee absolute. Wise men don't put money back of "fakes." And "faking" doesn't pay.

The Polysyllabic Pet.

The chrysanthemum would be all right if its name could be abbreviated about seventy-five per cent. Henry Winter tells of his success, at his Columbia river home, in the following note: "In your recent account of the Chrysanthemum show, I see no account of the prize-taking plants. Can you not furnish your readers some of those descriptions? I have one in full bloom that has 1,080 flowers and about half as many more buds. It is of the Puritan variety and was started from a single sprout seventeen months ago. It is three feet high and three feet in diameter, with a rounding top that is almost a solid mass of bloom. The flowers will average 1 1/2 inches across, are extremely double, with a corn-colored center. The petals are uniform, short and spatulate, white as snow, with an occasional flower tinged with purplish pink. The plant is an object of curiosity and admiration for the people of this neighborhood, and I am anxious to know how it would compare with the prize-winners."

Mills Re-Election Sure.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 28.—Eighty-eight members-elect of the legislature have answered the query of the Post as to their choice for senator that they are unqualifiedly for Roger Q. Mills. This assures the re-election of Senator Mills with eight votes to spare. The Post received answers from 96 of the 259 members; of those yet to be heard from a majority, it is believed, support Mills.
