Pending Murphy's election the New York democracy now has two well defined heads, two well defined tails and two distinct bodies all the way down. It still calls themselves one, however.

The revolutionary war which has been hanging over the Mexican border has ceased to be visible. It is now reported, with some aspect of credulity, that the movement was merely a grand smuggling expedition, and was instituted to distract the attention of officials from the real operations.

Honeyman, DeHart & Co., of Portland, owners of the Rogue river valley railroad, have leased the road between Jacksonville and Medford to W. S. Barnum. The lessee pays $8 per day for the road, and has given $20,000 bonds for the faithful performance of the service. The contract begins on Friday.

The plan of blowing up the ice gorge at the Cincinnati railroad bridge by dynamite was temporarily abandoned Saturday as dangerous. A sudden rush of ice was feared. Negotiations are being made to have the ice split up by tow boats. Reports from the lower river regions indicate that much damage has been done in the last twenty-four hours. A coal train containing 200 tons arrived yesterday. It will be sold to the poor today. The bankers and insurance men met, and about $4,000 was subscribed for the poor.

On starting from Iowa in 1846 for Oregon, Henderson Lewelling planted some hickory nuts in a box, and they sprouted while on the way, and were transplanted to a corner of what is now block fifteen, in Milwaukie. There the pioneer hickory tree stood until last September, when it was felled to clear the way for the electric railway line from Portland to Oregon city. A mallet fashioned from its wood was presented to the state horticultural society by Seth Lewelling as an enduring souvenir of the first nursery on the Pacific coast.

A pretty mess is brewing between the S. P. R. and the traffic association. Commissioner Blanchard has issued a circular announcing the action of the central traffic association lines in the matter of rates on transcontinental traffic. The action is a point-blank refusal to participate in the rates proposed by the S. P. R. on certain commodities from California to the east, and the S. P. R. is notified that the lines in the central traffic and trunk line associations will continue to demand on the commodities named their full proportions of the rates quoted in the last transcontinental tariffs.

The Torrey bankrupt bill, which is a good measure and one badly needed, may become a law at this session of congress. It is in the interest of honest insolvents, and business men all over the country welcome its adoption. It will make more secure the property rights of the whole people and release hundreds of thousands of earnest, honest men from the hopeless bondage of debt. It will bring about uniform bankrupt laws and lessen commercial failures. It has strong support, being much simpler and more direct than the present laws on bankruptcy.

In Mr. Ladd's will he gave the sum of $450,000 in trust to be invested in revenue-producing property, either real or personal or both, and shall be kept so invested, for educational or charitable uses, or both, for the benefit of the people of the state of Oregon, or the people of the city of Portland, Or., or of both. In the selection of the beneficiaries, the will says, "I suggest, but do not direct, and will here indicate only an asylum or home for old and indigent ladies to be established in the city of Portland, Or., in addition to the institutions which I have already indicated as proper beneficiaries of this bequest at their discretion."

W. W. Sanders, who is serving out a life sentence in the Oregon penitentiary, in a letter to the Corvallis Gazette says: "When a convict comes here he surrenders to the law for the time being his every right and privilege—he is a mere machine, under the absolute government and control of his superiors. This is one day of our convict's life—one day in the pattern of all. The same daily routine of march from cell to work, from work to cell again. This goes on and on in the same dreary monotony. The months come and go, the seasons succeed each other, new years follow the old, but never a change to the convict, unless he should be sick, and that, thanks to the efficient sanitary arrangements of the present administration, is rarely the Hits the nail on the head—one of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They do the right thing in the right way. They cleanse and regulate the liver, stomach and bowels—thoroughly and effectively, but mildly and gently. They persuade, rather than force. One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet's a gentle laxative; three to four act as a cathartic. They're the smallest, but the best. There's less to take, but there's more good in it, when it's taken. They're the original Little Liver Pills, and they've never been equaled. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved, and cured. They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

WINANS

THE NEW TOWN has been platted on the old camp ground, at the Forks and Falls of Hood river, with large slightly lots, broad streets and alleys, good soil, pure cold water and shade in profusion, perfect drainage, delightful mountain climate, the central attraction as a mountain summer resort and for all Oregon, being the nearest town to Mt. Hood. It is also unparalleled as a manufacturing center, being the natural center for 150 square miles of the best cedar and fir timber, possessing millions of horse power in its dashing streams and waterfalls, easily harnessed. Where cheap motive power exists, there the manufacturing will center, surrounded by soil and climate that cannot be excelled anywhere for fruit and agriculture, and with transportation already assured you will find this the place to make a perfect home or a paying investment.
