A RACE FOR LIFE.

A gun is heard at the dead of night, "Lifeboat ready!" And every man to the signal true Fights for the place in the cager orew:
"Now, lade, steady!"
First a glance at the shuddering foam, Now a look at the loving home. Then together, with bated breath. They iaunched their boat in the gulf of death.

Over the breakers wild. Little they reck of weather. But tear their way Thro' blinding spray. Hear the skipper cheer and say, "Up with her, lads, and lift her

They see the ship in a sudden flash, Sinking ever.

And grip their oars with a deeper breath.

Now it's come to a fight with death—

Now or never!

Fifty strokes and they're at her side,

If they live in the boiling tide.

If they last thro' the awful strife; Ab, my lads, it's a race for lifel Over the breakers wild. Little they rock of weather, But tear their way Thro' blinding spray Hear the skipper cheer and say "Up with her, tads, and lift her All together!"

And loving hearts are on the shore, Hoping, fearing. Till over the sea there comes a cheer Then the click of the ours you hear Homeward steering. Ne'er a thought of the danger past, Now the lads are on land at last; What's a storm to the gallant crew Who race for life, and who win it too?

Over the breakers wild. Little they reck the weather But tear their way Thro' blinding spray Hear the skipper cheer and say "Up with her, luis, and lift her

All together! -J. L. Malloy in Tablet.

Too Late.

During my second year at the Jefferson Medical college, in Philadelphia, I had for a classmate a regular lunkhead. One of the professors was in the habit of taking the boys unawares and quizzing them. He said to this chap one day. "How much is a dose of --?" giving the technical name of croton oil.

teaspoonful." was the reply. The professor made no comment, and the fellow soon realized that he had made a mistake. After a quarter of an hour he said, "Professor, I want to change my answer to that question. "It's too late, Mr. ---," responded the professor, looking at his watch, "your patient's been dead fourteen minutes. -Cor. New York World.

The Quickest Way to Cure a Cold. Do you wish to know the quickest way to cure a cold? We will tell you. To eure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has become settled in the system. The first symptoms of a cold is a dry, loud cough and sneezing. The cough is soon followed by watery ex-pectoration and the sneezing by a pro-fuse watery discharge from the nose. In severe cases there is a thin white coating on the tongue. What to do? It is only necessary to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in double does every hour. That will greatly lessen the severity of the cold and in many cases will effectually counteract it, and cure what would have been a severe cold within one or two days time. Try it and be convinced 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

becurned After Seven Years About seven years ago the village of Forest City, Pa., was excited over the mysterious disapperrance of William Doolittle. One morning William left the house to buy some meat for dinner. During the forenoon the meat was brought to the house by the butcher, but William failed to appear when dinnor time arrived. Months went by, but no trace of him could be found. Every one thought that he had been foully dealt with.

Saturday afternoon Doolittle arrived in Canondale, after an absence of over seven years. His mind had become deranged. The past was a blank to him. except at two or three intervals, when he could for a short time remember something of his house and family. Four years ago he found himself in Omaha, and then for the first time in three years remembered his name and that he had left his home in Forest City to buy some meat for dinner. He could not recall anything that occurred after he bought the meat. His wife and two children, who live in Canondale, greeted him as one from the dead. He left Omaha four years ago, and has been on the road working his way homeward ever since.

How a Morocco Town Received Its Name. One of the best known towns in Morocco derives its name from a curious circumstance. The place is Tetnan which has about 20,000 inhabitants, and is noted for its manufacture of a large variety of Moroccan wares. Centuries ago the inhabitants were in deadly fear of the wild Berber tribes, who inhabited the Er Rif mountains. They kept a watchman upon a lofty minaret, and whenever he saw indications of approaching danger he cried at the top of his voice, to arouse all the inhabitants, "Tet-Taguen! Tet-Taguen!" (Open your eyes! Open your eyes!) In course of time the settlement was renamed, and it derived its new appellation from this warning cry. -Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine.

ITS TERRITORY. It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles. The Largest Wool Market.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here. The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS. The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future. The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH. It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed, Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these
