

To Our Friends and Patrons.

WE HAVE rather neglected our Advertising of late, not because we had nothing to sell; but we had nothing especially new to offer, and preferred to wait until we could say something of interest. We are, and have been for some time, busily engaged in placing our orders for Spring and Summer Goods and feel justified in announcing that we shall have the FINEST ASSORTMENT and the BEST GOODS in all our lines that has ever been seen in The Dalles. We have secured some genuine novelties in the Dry Goods Department, and the ladies will certainly consult their best interests by deferring their purchases until after their arrival, of which we shall give you due notice. Keep both eyes on this space and we will certainly surprise you, not only with the goods, but the prices at which we shall sell them. We mean business and propose to have your patronage, if LOW PRICES and the BEST GOODS will accomplish it. Yours Respectfully,

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A train arrived from Portland at 6 a. m. today.
A train will be up from Portland this afternoon.
Mrs. E. G. Sylvester of Grants, is in the city on business.

Tacoma spurns the generous act of congress naming the reservation of Rainier. She wants the name Tacoma or nothing.
In the senate on Saturday the judiciary committee reported Cross' senate bill No. 50, providing for the payment of salaries of sheriffs, clerks and recorders. The report was adopted and the bill ordered to its third reading.

The ice gorge has raised the Columbia fully ten above the dalles. Messrs. Winans Bros., were busy today preparing against the impending break of the gorge, and consequent expected overflow of heavy masses likely to wreck their large fish wheel at the Narrows.

Last Friday Will Condon and another gentleman from the city were upset from the sleigh they were riding in, and as the team didn't wait for them to get in again, they walked six miles to The Dalles. The team got in ahead of them, and caused consternation until the real truth was known.

In the house on Saturday, Gullixson's house bill providing for the equipment of the Oregon National Guard was read first and second times and referred to military. Croeno's bill creating the county of Bay was read a third time, the name changed to Lincoln and the bill passed.

Thirty inches of snow has fallen at Hood River last week greatly prevented Messrs. Winans Bros., from putting up ice. They had six teams scraping snow all day Thursday, and expected to pack ice Friday and Saturday but snow continued falling so as to nearly make it impossible to get clear ice. It is about ten inches of clear ice in the Columbia there, but the snow spoils it for the trade.

Mrs. Fon Sing, who married Tom Lee November 13, 1891, at Salem, has sued her husband for a divorce in order to escape possible punishment for bigamy. The woman was formerly married to Bot Gee, who sold her and her marriage certificate to Tom Lee, which, according to Chinese customs, is lawful, but learning that the laws of this country do not permit such liberality Fon Sing proceeds to "quiet title."

A Michigan man who has located in The Dalles, hands us the following from a Michigan paper with the request to say that it is false in every particular: "A lot of Michigan people who invested money at The Dalles, Ore., are now kicking themselves and yearning for the fool killer to come around. It is said that many who invested thousands of dollars in lots found them in a sandy desert. Others who went there to accept promised positions with business firms found that such concerns existed only in the imagination of real estate agents." The Dalles isn't a sandy desert, the item must refer to Washington's Grand la dalles.

PEST RIDDEN ORCHARDS.

The Man Who Keeps a Clean Orchard in Oregon is the One Who Suffers Most.

Mr. O. Lownsdale writes to the Oregonian from Lafayette to make some self-evident and striking facts public, respecting the pest-ridden orchards of Oregon, from which we quote:

"In your report of the house proceedings at Salem on Monday, I note with surprise the remarks of Mr. Upton criticizing the Coon horticultural bill. Mr. Upton is reported as saying that the bill would cause three-fourths of the orchards in the state to be dug up and burned. It would seem, if three-fourths of the orchards of the state are in a pest-ridden and diseased condition, that it would be the best thing if they were dug up and burned, root and branch. The man who keeps a clean orchard has nothing to fear from a stringent law against fruit pests. All others should be compelled to abate the nuisances they maintain. It would be simple justice to those who have planted large orchards and who are striving to keep them in a healthy condition were these pest-ridden hotbeds put out of existence. And it would entail little loss on any individual; for of what use are the old lousy orchards about which Mr. Upton is so solicitous?

They are worth simply what they would bring for firewood, and wood is very cheap in the country. If Mr. Upton is a horticulturist he knows that from a financial view-point such orchards are utterly valueless, as they produce absolutely no sound fruit. They are intolerably and injurious nuisances that render impotent the efforts of energetic planters who strive to keep their orchards on a healthy and profitable basis. The remark of philanthropic Ford that the farmers should be protected from "these horticultural fellows" was characteristically cheap. Farmers have no contentions with fruit-growers, and have nothing to fear from them. "These horticultural fellows" are the leading fruit-growers of the state. They are the men who are striving to build up an industry which will shortly rank every other industry in the state; and which it is the duty of the state to foster.

The millions of trees that will come into bearing within the next five years in Oregon will add millions of dollars to the product of the state. It would seem, then, that the planters of new and clean orchards, who comprise nine-tenths of the fruit-growers of the state, are entitled to some consideration. As a fruit grower having a young orchard of 300 acres, which I wish to preserve in a healthy condition, I know that I speak the sentiments of the horticulturists when I ask a recognition of their right to a judicious protection of their industry."

The Idaho supreme court have decided an interesting Union Pacific tax case. Last year the state board of equalization reduced the assessment of the Union Pacific in Bingham, reducing the company's taxes in that county from $61,492 to $45,925. The matter got into the courts, pending which the Bingham commissioners rebated the excess of $15,567 and accepted the balance as payment in full. This they had no legal right to do, and the taxes must be paid in full.

Senator Butler had one more man to burial of his Monmouth Normal school appropriation bill than we of the Inland Empire had to the death of the Raley portage bill on the 25th. Notwithstanding Cogswell's spirited support of the measure it was lost 17 to 12.

Horses were crossing over the ice bridge this forenoon opposite The Dalles.

Rev. Mr. Jenkins was called to Cascade Locks this forenoon to preach a funeral sermon.

H. H. Riddell went up to Grant on the afternoon train to take the testimony in a law action pending there.

The senate passed Northup's joint house resolution depriving all unable to read the constitution of the United States of the elective franchise, excepting those voting before the passage of the act.

Some leading republicans of high standing view askance Geer's bill to make the railroad commissioners elective. The result will be, they say, to ring railroad companies into the state conventions and eventually to the polls with money to defeat a candidate inimical to them.

The funeral services over the remains of Frank Shontell were held this afternoon at the M. E. church, under the direction of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, of which organization he was a member. Rev. Whisler pronounced a touching mortal of poor Frank, alluding to his christain experience, and the certainty of his spiritual salvation. He was laid to rest in the Sunset cemetery, there to sleep until the morning of the resurrection.

At last a steamer has been sent out from San Francisco to search for the city of Peking, now eleven days overdue from Yokohama. The great steamship had when she sailed 200 persons on board, and her cargo was an unusually valuable one. Unprecedented storms have swept the Pacific ocean during the past two weeks, and the probability that serious disaster has overtaken the steamer increases with each hour. Prudence and humanity should have dictated the sending out of a search vessel a week ago.

President's Message.

On Thursday President Harrison sent to the house a message dealing with the importation of foreign goods to the United States across the Canadian border under consular seal. The president discussed at length the treaty obligations which affect the subject growing out of the provisions of article 29, treaty of Washington, and arrives at the conclusion that article 29, treaty of Washington, has been abrogated, and even if in force there is no law extant to execute it.

When in force the treaty imposed no obligation upon the United States to use such a concession as to transmit by way of Canada and no limitation upon the powers of the United States in dealing with merchandise imported for the use of our citizens through Canadian ports, or passing from one place to another through Canada upon the arrival of such merchandise at our border.

Therefore, treaty or no treaty, the question of sealing cars containing such merchandise and the treatment of such sealed cars when they cross our border is, and always has been, one to be settled by our laws according to our convenience and our interests as we see them. That such practice is inconsistent with the safety of the revenue statutes relating to the transportation of merchandise between the United States and British possessions should be subject to revision.

The treasury regulations had given these laws a construction and scope the president did not think was contemplated by congress. A policy adapted to the new condition growing in part out of the construction of the Canadian Pacific railroad should be declared and business placed upon a basis more just to our people and to our transportation companies.

PASSED THE HOUSE.

The Combined Repeal of Mortgage Tax and Deduction for Indebtedness.

SALEM, Feb. 3.—The house today passed a combined repeal of the mortgage tax law and deduction for indebtedness clause, and, with the poll of the senate previously printed, it is undoubtedly destined to go to the governor. The question was taken up about three o'clock, Lawton's famous bill having been reached for its third reading. Ford moved to recommit for the purpose of having the committee strike out all provision repealing the mortgage tax law. Nickell and others asked for a call of the house. This was ordered, and the absentees were duly rounded in, excepting Inman, and Brown of Douglas, who were absent on sick leave. The effect was practically a pair, as Brown opposes and Inman favors the repeal. After Ford's motion to recommit had been voted down by a vote of 24 to 34, the vote on the bill was promptly reached, and resulted:

Ayes: Belts, Bishop, Brown, of Morrow, Buxton, Campbell, Chandler, Coon, Curran, Duncan, Durham, Geer, of Clackamas, Geer, of Marion, Gill, Goodrich, Gowan, Gullixson, Hobbs, Jeffries, King, Lawton, Layman, Manley, Mays, Merrill, Myers, Northup, Ormsby, Paxton, Russell, Stone, Toner, Trullinger, Wright, of Marion, Wright, of Union, Mr. Speaker—35.

Noes: Baughman, Belknap, Blevens, Cooper, Cornelius, Daly, Day, Elmore, Ford, Houck, Lamson, Maloney, McEwan, Merritt, Miller, Myer, Nickell, Sheridan, Staats, Upton, Wilkins, Wilkinson—22. Brown, of Douglas, and Inman were absent.

The vote developed several interesting features. Gowan and King, who had originally favored Ford's motion to recommit, now supported the combined repeal, showing that they would have preferred to repeal the exemption clause separately. During the vote some explanations were made. Ford voted against the bill, he said, because, while he favored abolishing deductions for indebtedness, he was opposed to repealing the mortgage tax law, which would deny to taxation one-sixth of the assessable property in Marion county. Geer said he thought the experiment was worth trying, as things could not be worse. His remarks were very felicitous and brought out quite a burst of applause.

Northup thought the time for the law's going into effect was too soon, as the people should be allowed to adjust themselves to the new conditions; but as an amendment of such purport had been voted down in the committee of the whole he should have to vote for the measure in its present form, believing it the best available. Another interesting thing is that three members of the present house were members in 1882 and helped to frame the mortgage tax law. They were Keady, Ford and Nichols. Keady and Nichols now vote to repeal it, and Ford to continue it.

It Should be in Every House.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St. Sharpshurg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of "la grippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for lung troubles. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottle at Snipes & Kinsey's. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.

Some crystallized silicate was found the other day by a well digger near Grangeville, who for a while thought he had discovered diamonds. His disappointment when he became aware of the true value of the find can better be imagined than described.

The people at the World's Dispensary of Buffalo, N. Y., have a stock-taking time once a year and what do you think they do? Count the number of bottles that've been returned by the men and women who say that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery or Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription didn't do what they said it would do. And how many do you think they have to count. One in ten? Not one in five hundred! Here are two remedies, one the "Golden Medical Discovery," for regulating and invigorating the liver and purifying the blood; the other, the hope of weakly womanhood; they've been sold for years, sold by the million bottles; sold under a positive guarantee, and not one in five hundred can say: "It was not the medicine for me!" And, is there any reason why you should be the one? And, supposing you are, what do you lose? Absolutely nothing.
