THE BELLS BENEATH THE SEA.

The sea is calm, the wind is fair, Nor ever a cloud doth lower— The good ship speeds with the blessed bells. She bears to Boltreaux tower. The pilot crossed his breast, and cried: "Thank God! the harbor's near.

For vesper bells at Tintagel Ring out their music clear.

"Ave. thank the Lord for our good speed Across the doubtful seal"
"Fooll" snecred the captain, "thank thyself:
God holds no belm for thee."

The pilot crossed his breast, and eried, "God pardon thee once more, And grant that we may safely come Unto the Cornish shore."

The captain's oath was on his lips, Or ever the sun went down.

And while the people thronged the cliffs

Above the harbor town. A mighty wave swept o'er the sea. With dull and sullen roar;

he good ship trembled all her length.
As she sank to rise no more. Then o'er the whelming waters pealed (As tolling funeral knells

For those lost souls) the soft, sweet chime Of the Forrabury bells. The moss creeps over Boltreaux church, Where rings no vesper lay: Still waits the tower its blessed bells,

And silent stands today.

For low beneath the Cornish wave,
Where tangled wrecks lie deep,

The Forrabury bells are hid And their sweet echoes keep. But ever 'gainst the billows toss, And storm winds shrick in glee; Their muffled chimes the blessed bells Still ring beneath the sea.

-Lucy R. Floming in Harper's Bazar.

The New Club Member.

I read conscientiously Sunday afternoon at the club the weekly rules and regulations laid down in the newspapers concerning the details of life, that I might regulate my behavior thereby; and I notice that "initials are not considered good form on note paper, not even monograms." This did not particularly interest me, as I have for years used a firm, plain and unruled paper—though I do not delight in two sided letter writing, and the only notes I am punctilious in answering are dinner invitations and the good wishes of Miss Porphyry sent to me at the beginning of each world's year and mine own.

But looking up and across the hall 1 saw young Spriggles busily engaged in the consumption of club paper and envelopes. Letters stood in high stacks upon the table. And I formulated this maxim: The newness of club membership is in direct proportion to the amount of daily correspondence. The clubling parades the club stamp as the newly married man his wife. And 1 should regret this thrusting of such dangerous weapons as pen, ink and paper into the hands of the wise and the foolish, were it not that club paper had occasionally its uses; as when Thackeray wrote that delightful Roundabout in de-genius that fathoms star spaces cannot measure it; the science that weighs the fraction of an atom cannot determine its specific gravity. And yet what an important part it has played in history as well as in romance. It has been the reward of genius-for was not Voltaire publicly kissed in the stage box by the beautiful Duchess de Villars in complibeautiful Duchess de Villars in compli-ance with the demands of an enthusias-line fit in the demands of an enthusiastic fit to thus reward the author of

It has been the bribe of politics, for when Fox was contesting the hard won seat at Westminster the beautiful Duch ess of Devonshire offered to kiss all who would vote for the great statesman. And the inspiration of patriotism, for did not the fair Lady Gordon turn recruiting sergeant when the ranks of the Scottish regiments had been depleted by Salamanca, and tempted the gallant lads by placing the recruiting shilling between her lips for all who would to take it with their own?-New York Sun.

Equine Aristocracy.

"That fellow is awfully stuck up," remarked the cob to the polo company, as he wagged his ears in the direction of the new tandem horse. "He refused to recognize me today in the park. He may be a society 'leader' now, but I reember when his mother used to be driven by the grocer's son."-Harper's

Many years ago a boy found a beautiful snake, so an Indian legend runs. He kept it in a bowl of water and took notice that small feathers dropped into the receptacle became living beings. He experimented and discovered that whatever he put into the water became alive. He rubbed some of this snake water on his eyes and found that he could see things that were actually hidden in the ground. Concluding that he would make the liquid more powerful by putting more snakes into it, he hung up a number of serpents so that their oil dropped into the water. By putting some of the solution thus obtained into his mouth he could breathe fire, and by placing some of it in his eyes he could see in the dark. At will he could transform himself into a serpent, could become invisible and could travel at an incredible rate of speed. An arrow dipped into the liquid and shot at any living being, even if it did not hit its object, would nevertheless kill it. A feather dipped into this snake water and pointed at any game would immediately start for the latter and slay it. This boy became in this maner a great wizard.

A very remantic marriage has taken place in Montgomery county, N. C. A young man obtained the license, secured the preacher, took him immediately to the presence of his intended. He found her in the kitchen making up dough. The young fellow did not give her time to clean her hands and arms, but had the preacher to tie the knot at once. The preacher made quick work of it and sent them on their way rejoicing .- Philadelphia Ledger.

Wasco County, Oregon, The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city. ITS TERRITORY. It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles The Largest Wool Market. The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS. The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be mor than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products. ITS WEALTH.

It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these worner stones she stands.
