hute Miks Threekoon Busy of New York, was a drew intend of in the long, long ago days and ward of Matthew L. Dawis, the in timate associate and biographer of Burr, she had a store of anosdates of men who figured prominently in national affairs eeventy or eighty years since; but this one-which I shall repeat as nearly as possible in her own words-interested me most of all

"I was a schoolgirl of fourteen, spending a short vacation at Uncle Matthew's house in the city when one day I heard him calling to me from the hall below and went to the head of the stairs. Come down, he said. There is a gentleman here who wishes to see you. I hesitated, held back by some undefinable fear Again he said 'Come down, and in such tones that I dared not disobey He led me into the parlor and there on the sofa sat an old man whom I had never before seen Very old he looked dressed in the costume of the last century, with his snow white hair drawn back and ried in a cue behind But his eyes-they were not old Large, dark and deep, they flashed with all the fire of youth 1 never saw such eyes in man or woman. They fascinated while they frightened me.

'My uncle led me forward and said Colonel Burr, this is the child of whom I spoke I need not tell you whose name she bears. The old man rose, took my hand in his and held me out at arms length and looked at me-looked at me with those eyes which seemed to see into my very soul Only a moment, but the moment was an hour. Then he dropped my hands and exclaimed in a voice trembling with emotion: 'Take her away. Matthew, take her away! I cannot bear it!' I saw him only once afterward; it was on Broadway, and I tried to slip by him unperceived But when I turned to look back he was standing still, following me with those wonderful, wonderful eyes They haunt me still, and will, I know, while memory lasts."-St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Macaulay as a Host.

Macaulay was a pattern host. On his own account, it is true, he was no epi cure, and his nephew tells us that at any time he would have been amply satisfied with a dinner such as is served at a decent seaside lodging house. This was a sad moral defect, but happily his conscientions views of the obligations of hospitality prevented his guests from suffering by it. He generally selected by a half conscious preference dishes of established character and traditional fame. His Disseuting friends he treated to a fillet of yeal, "which he maintained, to be the recognized Sunday dinner in good old Nonconformist families." On

Introduction of a New Train Signal. The bell used in the roof of the locomotive cab to signal the engineer when to stop and start will soon be a thing of the past. A new air train signal is fast taking the place of the bell or gong and already all the passenger coaches on the Lake Shore and Wabash railroads are equipped with the air signal instead of the bell. The air signal is worked by means of a small rubber or iron tube that runs under the coaches, like the air pipes to work the air brakes. In the comotive cab there is an iron whistle and when the conductor desires to stop the train he pulls on a short rope or lever that allows the air to escape and the whistle in the cab sounds the signal it is claimed that this is much superior to the bell arrangement, for the reason that it works better on a long train. The bell sometimes failed to respond on long trains, and serious accidents occurred on that account. The bellrope was also a handy thing for train robbers to cut in order to prevent an alarm while they were looting the wealth of the pas sengers. The other leading railroads of the country will adopt the air train sig nal as soon as they can get it attached to their coaches. The New York Cen tral, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and the Big Four are having the new system of signaling the engineer attached to their trains. -New York Tele-

Went to Church Once. A Maine woman who had an irreli gious husband kept driving at him until she finally got him to go to church. Now mark how she was rewarded. Instead of following the service he looked at the congregation and noticed how much more handsomely the other womon were dressed than his wife. This fact pricked him to the heart as no words of the minister could, and the next day he gave his wife $500 and told her to go and buy some clothes. Need we enlarge on the moral of this story? We think not -New York Tribune YOUR ATTENTION

On Michaelmas day he would have been wrstched had no goose snicked on the board. At Christmas he never forgot the old historic turkey.

If he was entertaining a couple of schoolboys who could construe the fourth satire of Juvenal, he would reward them for their proficiency with a dish of mullet that might have passed muster on the table of an augur or an emperor's freedman. With regard to the contents of his cellar, Macaulay prided himself on being able to say with Mr. John Thorp, "Mine is famous good stuff, to be sure," and if he were taken to task for his extravagance he would reply, in the words used by another of his favorite characters in fiction, that there was a great deal of good eating and drinking in £700 a year, if people knew how to manage it .- All the Year Round

The Senlors in War.

One marked difference divided the generals of Frederick William III from those of Napoleon. The Duke of Brunswick was seventy one years old, Prince Hohenlohe, sixty and among subordi-nate commanders were men of sixtyeight, seventy and seventy-four. Lefebyre, the oldest French general, was barely fifty-one. Angereau, forty-eight; Bernadotte, forty-two, Napoleon, Ney, Soult and Lannes, thirty-seven; Murat only thirty-five Excepting for the intervention in Hol-land in 1787 and the Duke of Branswick's ill starred invasion of Champagne in 1793, the Prussian army-like that of Great Britain in 1854-had suffered from a long peace, one of the results in each case being a certain disbelief in young commanders. Von der Decken. writing in 1798 under the title "Is it necessary that we should only have young generals, decided the question in the negative, and in the British army today an officer of the same age as that of Napoleon or Murat at Jena may find his energies confined to the command of
