A Syracuse woman has been arrested for stealing a pair of trousers. Now the dress reformers can see to what their agitation is leading.

The postoffice department is smart. After one of those new Columbian stamps has been affixed to some letters another stamp has to be put on for over-weight.

Judge Gresham explains that he voted for Cleveland as a matter of principle. But there are many who will still believe that he did so as a matter of prejudice—prejudice against President Harrison.

A man who reaches the age of 63 has been admitted to the bar at York, Pa. He was 61 years old when he became a student. If he can live for 60 years more he has a chance to become eminent in his profession.

The big comet, which frightened so many people into fits last fall, and then didn't show up to any great extent, is said to be coming our way again with its head toward the earth and tail in the air. A wise astronomer figures out that there will be a collision between the old globe and his fiery nibs, the comet, about the 4th of July.

Ex-King Milan of Serbia and his divorced wife, Natalie, have become reconciled, and a dispatch from Belgrade informs us that, in consequence, there is great popular rejoicing throughout that country. It is difficult to understand what cause for congratulation could be found by the people of Serbia in the fact that a woman whose good character has never been questioned has again fallen a victim to the blandishments of a notorious blackguard.

The western Oregon legislators who were so anxious to kill and did kill the Raley bill, have now a taste of their own medicine, by the legislature refusing to appropriate $250,000 to purchase the Willamette locks. They may now perceive, notwithstanding their density of intellect, that Oregon's eastern boundary line is not defined by the Cascade range; but too late to taste further glory as representatives of their people, for from henceforth they will be shelved.

What a sad commentary on the honesty and honor of Oregonians, if so many of them, as has been asserted, assumed a fictitious indebtedness, under the old assessment law, in order to escape taxation on the full value of their property. The same person will doubtless find some flaw in the new law by which they can evade full payment of their taxes. Unfortunately no law can compel men to be honest from principle. It is consoling to believe, however, that the majority of people are not so bad as they have been pictured, says the Dispatch.

We are led again to inquire, will Cleveland smash the democratic party? His acts and words since the election go to show that he has designs in this direction, and his latest move, the appointment of Gresham as chief adviser, if true, will go to strengthen this belief. Gresham, when he supported Cleveland last fall, said he was not a democrat but simply an independent voter. If he goes into the cabinet as secretary of state on that platform, it looks as if the Cleveland administration was going to be run on a very liberal plan, and moss-backism must take a rear seat. Next we shall probably hear of Major J. S. Clarkson's appointment as secretary of war.

It is pitiful to think of old Ferdinand DeLesseps being arraigned before a court of his country and sentenced to a fine and five years' imprisonment. Of course if the sentence should be carried out he would die in prison; he would die an ignominious death, notwithstanding the fact that perhaps he has conferred more glory upon France than any man, except perhaps three of his generation. France remembers Thiers, Gambetta and a few others as political glories; Victor Hugo was a great intellectual giant, but DeLesseps was one man strong enough to lay his hand upon the ocean and beat back its waves; strong enough at the same time to hew a water-way for great ships through the shifting sand of the Isthmus. Had he died at the completion of that work, his statue would have been in every city in the republic now. As it is, carried away by his own egotism, he probably brought his mind into the groove to consider, first, that he was invincible against nature's forces, and second, that success would silence success as to the methods employed to win success. The unfortunate part of it for him is, the attempt failed, and nothing remains for him except such punishment as is meted out to common criminals.—Salt Lake Tribune.

What is lacking is truth and confidence. If there were absolute truth on the one hand and absolute confidence on the other, it wouldn't be necessary for the makers of Dr. Sago's Catarrh Remedy to back up a plain statement of fact by a $500 guarantee. They say—"If we can't cure you (make it personal please,) of catarrh in the head, in any form or stage, we'll pay you $500 for your trouble in making the trial." "An advertising fake," you say. Panny isn't it, how some people prefer sickness to health when the remedy is positive and the guarantee absolute. Wise men don't put money back of "fakes." And "faking" doesn't pay.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50 cts. Sold by Snipes & Kinerly.

Joseph V. Dory, of Warsaw, Ill., was troubled with rheumatism and tried a number of different remedies, but says none of them seemed to do him any good; but finally he got hold of one that speedily cured him. He was much pleased with it, and felt sure that others similarly afflicted would like to know what the remedy was that cured him. He states for the benefit of the public that it is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.

When Charlemagne and his "Knights of the Round Table" were making war on the Saracens, in Africa, it frequently happened that Knights on either side would fight in single combat for the honor of their respective armies. The Saracens had been, for many years, the scourge—the dreaded invaders—of Europe, and all waged war against this common enemy. But in these days the worst scourge that threatens us, is that dread invader, Consumption. Consumption fastens its hold upon its victims while they are unconscious of its approach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured thousands of cases of this most fatal of maladies. But it must be taken before the disease is too far advanced in order to be effective. If taken in time, and given a fair trial, it will cure, or money paid for it will be refunded. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Asthma, severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an unequalled remedy. For all diseases that arise from a torpid liver and impure blood, nothing can take the place of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Nothing will, after you have seen what it does. It prevents and cures by removing the cause. It invigorates the liver, purifies the blood, sharpens the appetite, improves digestion, and builds up both strength and flesh, when reduced below the standard of health. Sold by druggists, everywhere.

THE NEW TOWN has been platted on the old camp ground, at the Forks and Falls of Hood river, with large sightly lots, broad streets and alleys, good soil, pure cold water and shade in profusion, perfect drainage, delightful mountain climate, the central attraction as a mountain summer resort and for all Oregon, being the nearest town to Mt. Hood. It is also unparalleled as a manufacturing center, being the natural center for 150 square miles of the best cedar and fir timber, possessing millions of horse power in its dashing streams and waterfalls, easily harnessed. Where cheap motive power exists, there the manufacturing will center, surrounded by soil and climate that cannot be excelled anywhere for fruit and agriculture, and with transportation already assured you will find this the place to make a perfect home or a paying investment.
