The Dalles Daily Chronicle.

Entered at the Postoffice at The Dalles, Oregon, as second-class matter.

Weather Forecast.

Official forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 5 p. m. tomorrow.

Saturday, Sunday general rain and slightly cooler. PAGUE.

SATURDAY, FEB. 25, 1893

FEBRUARY FANCIES.

Crispy Sayings and Doings of Local and General Import.

"Who is the belle tonight?" asked she, As they stood on the hall-room floor; He looks around the room to see, And she speaks to him no more.

Pruning is now in order.

Now is the best time to spray trees.

The river is two feet above zero and falling.

The Regulator will make a round trip tomorrow.

A light fall of snow was discernable on the Klickitat hills this morning.

Another man shot this morning—at Flowerday's; patient well pleased and both satisfied.

Many farmers are in town today. Nearly all say they will begin plowing in a few days.

The granite to be used in the locks will be cut at the contractors, quarries, Rocklyn, Calif.

"Runnem & Rollem" is the title of a prospective real estate firm to do business down the river.

The roads and the streets in the city are drying fast under the influence of the chinook winds and warm sun.

After tomorrow the D. P. and A. N. Co.'s steamers will run on their regular advertised schedule between this city and Portland.

The "only newspaper published in Multnomah county outside of Portland" presents another claim for popularity by publishing a lot of school children's essays.

The old chestnut about gold being found in a chicken's crop is again revived. The original story was founded in a dream of a newspaper fakir some 6,000 years ago.

Notices are posted for a meeting of school directors the first Monday of March. One director and one school clerk will be elected, and a tax levy will be ordered.

Mr. C. W. Emerson, of 15-Mile, is in the city, and informs us he has been plowing and sowing spring grain during the week, and the ground is in fair condition in his section.

I. J. Norman purchased of F. W. L. Skibbe, a pair of thoroughbred Langshams yesterday, which are very pretty fowls. The price paid was $5, and Mr. Skibbe says he got a Brahma "two feet high" to boot.

The suit of A. S. Collins and Mrs. A. S. Collins vs. H. Herbring came to a termination yesterday afternoon, the jury rendering a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs. Mr. Herbring considers his defeat as a fait accompli and is now more than ever convinced that he has to stick to his old rule and motto—to sell dry goods cheap and for cash only.

Little time is left for Oregon to make an exhibit, but if that little is profitably employed, the exhibit may be made creditable. Wasco county will be looked by the whole state, to take a prominent place in this and there should be no dallying on the part of our citizens in the matter. Do not wait for some one else to start the ball rolling, but "pitch in."

Chrisman Bros. delivery team indulged in a lively spin this morning, running up into the foothills back of Ward's stable. It was strange that the wagon was not overturned, for their route included places where there was hardly more than room enough for a bicycle. They stopped of their own accord after reaching a point where they could not go ahead.

The steamer Regulator will leave her dock at the foot of Court street in the morning at 7 o'clock sharp, for the Cascades, and will connect with the Dalles City for Portland, as the Regulator will return in the evening. A fine opportunity is offered to those who would like to take in the scenery along the Columbia at this season of the year. The round trip fare is $1.50.

The parties engaged in killing deer about the forks of the river are doing so deliberately, knowing it to be against the law. We give them notice that when the next grand jury meets every one of them against whom the evidence can be procured will be prosecuted. The deer are poor, unfit for food, and on account of the deep snow are helpless. Their killing is wanton cruelty and will no doubt be punished as it should by the guilty ones being sent to jail for from six months to a year.—Glacier.

The Bonita.

The wrecked steamer Bonita, which was carried down the Columbia from Bridal Veil by the ice last week, was secured a few miles below that point and safely moored to the bank, where she will remain for the present. The Ocklahama, which went out to save the derelict, was caught in the ice, and the Reed had to go to her rescue. In the meantime the Bonita drifted in shore, and some farmers in that vicinity put a line to her and hauled her in. The wreck will eventually be brought to Portland and the upper works removed. The engine, boiler and smoke stack were brought down soon after the wreck, and stowed away in the boneyard.

Hungry Coyotes.

The Grant county News says: Coyotes on Grant county's southern border are suffering for food. Jack rabbits outrun them and escape over the crusted snow; rabbits remain on top while the wolves break through and howl. The city of Burns, when paid a flying visit by the News man last week was wallowing in several inches of snow, and was dull from a business standpoint. City government, however, has aided the place in making numerous improvements, and when spring opens up in that section the metropolis of Henry valley bids fair to outstrip any inland town in commercial importance.

Remarkable, Indeed.

We published recently the remarkable literary announcement of an edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, for $20.00, the genuine, illustrated, large type, cloth bound work. A sample volume can now be seen at this office; it is certainly the most astonishing bargain ever offered in the book world. We propose to order a set, and if any of our friends want to join us they can do so, and save a little in trouble and expense. See the advertisement elsewhere and come in and see the book. There is an installment plan for securing the work on payment of only five cents a day, or $1.00 every twenty days.

THROTTLE AND CAB.

Meaty Morsels of News and Gossip for Trainmen.

All trainmen are respectfully asked to contribute to this column, the editor reserving the right to reject anything which, in his judgment, would be detrimental to the interests of the paper.

Geo. Landreth is reported on the sick list.

J. S. Brown of 387 has taken a sixty-day leave of absence.

Wilkes, of 384, contemplates a visit to friends in California.

Chas. Johnston resumed his position on the 360 this morning.

J. A. Christian and lady have returned from Roseburg. Johnnie has reported for duty.

The work train was ordered out again Thursday. Engine 520 was sent out from here, James Nickle engineer, Joe Wilson fireman, and Joe Gorrell watchman. The boys were all glad to get back on the work train. They say Viento is not the most desirable place on earth to live, but they prefer it to work on the Sandy.

Engine 547, which was wrecked at Reed's geyser some time ago, is out again. She made her first trip the middle of the week, manned by Engineer Evans and Fireman Garson. She is a noble looking engine, and to look at her you would not think her to all appearance a total wreck so short a time ago. This completes the list of passenger engines of the same build on the flowery division, well equipped and well manned with as noble a set of fire boys as you can scare up on any road.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Geo. B. Leach and Frank Mixer of Portland, are at the Umatilla.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Wallace, of Annapolis, are in the city, returning from Moscow, Idaho, where they have been visiting their daughter.

Mr. Arthur Kennedy, of the Arlington Record, is in the city visiting his family and friends. Arthur frequently has urgent business (?) in our city, where he is welcomed by more than one.

A. A. Rust, of Franklin, Oakland county, Mich., is in the city. He has been a merchant of that city since 1861 and postmaster since 1889. He is very favorably impressed with this country. He is an old friend of E. N. Chandler and a nephew of J. C. Pratt, of Waukegan, who have not seen him now for forty years. He will go to Waukegan tomorrow.

J. T. Lucas was in from Centerville today and made us a call. He says there is an abundance of moisture in the Klickitat valley to insure good crops for the coming season. He is going up to Eastern Washington to introduce a new gang plow that he has just received a patent on. He has made and tested five of these in the Klickitat valley which have given the best of satisfaction.

TRIALS OF HOMESTEADERS.

A Case Deserving of Sympathy and Assistance.

"Uncle Sam is rich enough to give us all a farm," but to many homesteaders the blessing is a dubious one, and too often a deserving man, overcome with the burden of supporting a family, at the same time expending his energies in developing his place, fencing, clearing and plowing virgin land, sowing, tending, reaping little or nothing the first harvest, money constantly outgoing, credit exhausted, nothing coming in, too often the burden proves greater than he can bear, and he succumbs to a dire fate that in the beginning promised so much. Bright prospects of a happy home, shaded with beautiful trees, well-filled barns, stock grazing on the hillside, children swinging in the orchard, all fade as a dream before the present reality that he has failed, has devoted his best energies to naught, poorer than when he began!

Last fall a family consisting of husband, wife and child, Custer, by name, came from Astoria, and settled on upper Mill Creek, about nine miles distant from The Dalles. When the family arrived here they were spoken to by Mr. Fisher. Asked by him where they would stop he was told that he did not know, that he was destitute of means. Mr. Fisher invited them to his house, where they stopped previous to moving to their homestead.

Nothing was heard of them, until in midwinter, when the cold and snow was at the height of its fury, Mr. Custer arrived in town, his feet being clothed only in gunnybags, and appealed for aid to Judge Blakeley. His tale was pitiful. His family were destitute, and for want of sufficient food, his wife and child had first become poor, then weak, and were now actually starving. Immediate help was given and for several weeks and up to the present time, but not perhaps sufficient. The poor woman is now in a deplorable condition. She is sick from the treatment he has undergone, and cannot recuperate until she is supplied with proper food and medicine. Custer has been unable to find work here, but states a willingness to do anything.

Here is a case deserving of aid, and no doubt our kind-hearted people will see to it that the family will have no further need of the necessities of life. The Dalles people are noted for their charity.

DIED.

"Leaves have their time to fall, and flowers to wither at the north wind's breath; But thou hast all, all seasons for thine own, Oh! Death."

Died, at 8-Mile, Feb. 18th, 1893, of la grippe, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. John Furgerson, aged 13 days.

WORD OF COMFORT.

As with saddened hearts we gather, Round the form of one so dear; Rudely taken from our circle, What has left our hearts to cheer.

Kindly words in vain are spoken, Mingled tears assuage not grief; Lovely flowers and sweetest music To our hearts bring no relief.

For we see our loved one lying Silent in death's cold embrace; And where 'ere we look with sadness, We behold his vacant place.

In our hearts one vital question, Which with words we dare not frame; On it all our hopes are centered, Shall we ever meet again?

Who can answer this great question, Only one, our heart replies; He who burst death's bands in sunder, He who reigns above the skies.

From the book by God inspired, Come these words our hearts to cheer; Marvel not, the hour cometh, When the dead shall all appear.

For our Lord will come in triumph, And the trump of God proclaim Liberty for all our captives, Life for those whom death has slain.

Then the dead in Christ 'tis written, Shall be raised no more to die; And with those who have long waited, Meet their Saviour in the sky.

Pledge of God, a resurrection; This alone our hearts can cheer; And we hail with joy the tidings, That the day is almost here.

—By J. M. Baker.

Mignonette Festivities.

The Mignonette club was not completely demoralized by the flash light photo of a week ago last evening, for a sufficient number had recovered to come forth last evening, when the time for the weekly meeting came around and pay their addresses to Terpsichore with all the ardor of the former meetings. A very pleasant evening was passed by those present.

Degenerated.

To one who does not occupy a judicial position it would seem to be good common sense to make the punishment fit the crime in the case of those selling liquor to Indians, by fining them at least enough to pay the costs of their arrest. This however is not the opinion of his honor, Judge Deady, who limits the fine to $10, while the expense of the arrest will average ten times that sum. The whole business, says the Glacier, has degenerated into a scheme to make fees for the deputy U. S. marshal.

Messrs. Saltmarsh & Co. will ship tonight, one car load of fat cattle brought in by Mr. Gilpin, and five cars of mutton sheep, bought by Mr. A. R. Thompson of this city.
