Senator Morgan of Alabama, who left New York Saturday for Paris where he will represent this government in the Behring sea controversy, said in relation to the Hawaiian question: In speaking of the Pacific ocean and our duty in connection with it, I still say that I do not want to see repeated what was perpetrated when we acquired our independence. Though the power of France was back of us, we did not have the foresight or persistency to acquire all that belonged to us. We did not take in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Bermuda, the Windward isles, Jamaica and all that territory down to Yucatan. Why should that power, with 35,000,000 people of the same race as our 65,000,000 people, and with no greater history and no superiority, own all those islands from Newfoundland to Yucatan, upon which they have spent $4 for every inch of ground they now hold, and we cannot help it? Great Britain never gives up anything good. I am not criticising them. I admire them and wish America to follow as far as possible the same policy, only a little more so. "Great Britain has already placed herself in Australia and New Zealand, and is now approaching the Sandwich islands, that Gibraltar of the Pacific ocean. She already has one. Only a short time ago she raised her flag over one of the islands, and at the present moment the Hawaiian and our own government are protesting against that occupation. When she gets firmly established there and completes the chain around us, including Vancouver, Victoria and Hawaii to Hong Kong, New Zealand and Australia, let me ask you if we will not see repeated in the Pacific that miserable, despicable folly which was perpetrated in the Atlantic, when we had gained the fight, and there was nothing to do but to put the islands of the Atlantic in the bill of sale treaty, which we so signally failed to do? Just at the time when the two great questions, the Nicaraguan canal and the Behring sea arbitration are pending, Hawaii, like a ripe pear, drops into our lap. Shall we not then exercise at this time in the settlement of these great questions that spirit of American manhood and pluck so splendidly developed when we were fighting each other, with 1,000,000 men in the field? Now we shall see the outcome of the power and spirit of a great people on a great occasion. Let us move to the front."

A Cordial Reception.
Early one morning, recently, I called to see a gentleman who had not yet left his bed. I was met at the door by a woman whose sleeves were rolled up, who wore an ample apron upon which were various spots of flour and whose face was not entirely free from similar spots. It was "bake day," but she did not embarrass me by any reference to the fact or any apology as to her appearance. She asked me into the parlor and after sending one of the children upstairs to notify the father of my presence, re-entered the parlor and chatted until her husband appeared about various topics in an entertaining, easy manner, quite as though she had been expecting and was all fixed up to receive me. It was simply delightful and my great grief is that I have no sufficient excuse to make another early morning call at the same home.—Detroit Free Press.

A Way of Cooking Rodents.
The negro slaves of Jamaica used to regard rats as a dainty, their masters not providing them with any other meat. Their method of cooking the toothsome rodents was to impale each one on a long wooden skewer, after cleaning the animal and cutting off the tail, turning it briskly around over a fire until the hair was all burned off. Then it was scraped until free from fur, and finally the end of the skewer was stuck into the ground, inclined toward the fire, until it was toasted dry and crisp, thus being made ready for the meal.—Washington Star.

A Train of Elevator Cars.
From an elevator point of view the new Masonic temple building in Chicago will be the most important in the world. It will have twenty-four cars built in a circular shaft having a 250 foot rise. There will be express elevators, wayward freight trains. The first will go to the top floor without stopping, while the others will stop either at every floor, or at the fifth, tenth, fifteenth and so on. They will not run at full speed, probably because passengers do not like the sensation of flying.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

A Solid Silver Dinner Service.
Probably the most magnificent complimentary present ever received by a European sovereign is the emperor of Austria's silver wedding gift to the czar. It consists of a dinner service of solid silver, superbly wrought and chased, each piece bearing an imperial eagle. The service is for twenty-four persons, and there are 280 pieces.—London Truth.

Cotton Seed Oil Generates Fire.
The recent losses by fire in the cargo of ships carrying cotton has shown that cotton seed oil, when held in the cotton on the outside of the bale, rapidly oxidizes and generates spontaneous combustion.—New York Journal.

Even in Japan the desire for higher education is evidenced by the number of Japanese students in our colleges and their alumni. Only in Germany, Austria, Hungary and Turkey are the women excluded from university study.

An alloy which adheres firmly to glass and can therefore be used for joining up glass tubing is said to be made by adding 5 per cent. of copper to 95 per cent. of tin. The tin is first melted and the copper added subsequently.

Slate land was once so little valued that the tract upon which the famous Chapman quarry in Pennsylvania is situated was sold for a pint of liquor. Its subsequent owners have taken millions of dollars from it.

Dr. Charles Page says in an article in the Arena that the prevailing treatment of typhoid fever by drugs, and feeding the patient, is like the playing of a stream of petroleum on a burning building. The patient should fast until the crisis is past, and, next to fasting, Dr. Page recommends frequent cold-water baths. The water should be about 65 degrees, and the bath given when the temperature of the patient is from 101 to 103. Rubbing is also an essential part of the treatment during the bath, which should continue fifteen or twenty minutes. The system has been adopted with excellent results in the hospitals of Philadelphia and Baltimore.

The president has issued a proclamation convening an extra session of the senate March 4. This action is probably taken at the instance or with the consent of President Cleveland. The proclamation is as follows: The public interests require that the senate should be convened at 12 o'clock on the 4th day of March next to receive such communications as may be made by the executive. Now therefore I, Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States, do hereby proclaim and declare extraordinary session of the senate of the United States, to convene at the capitol, in the city of Washington, the 4th of March next, at 12 o'clock noon, of which all persons who shall at that time be entitled to act as members of that body are hereby required to take notice. Given under my hand, etc. This is the usual course pursued at the outgoing of an administration, so as to enable the senate to advise and consent to the cabinet selection by the incoming president. It is also customary at the same session to send in the names of those selected for the most important foreign posts and the leading offices at home.

WINANS

THE NEW TOWN has been platted on the old camp ground, at the Forks and Falls of Hood river, with large slightly lots, broad streets and alleys, good soil, pure cold water and shade in profusion, perfect drainage, delightful mountain climate, the central attraction as a mountain summer resort and for all Oregon, being the nearest town to Mt. Hood. It is also unparalleled as a manufacturing center, being the natural center for 150 square miles of the best cedar and fir timber, possessing millions of horse power in its rushing streams and waterfalls, easily harnessed. Where cheap motive power exists, there the manufacturing will center, surrounded by soil and climate that cannot be excelled anywhere for fruit and agriculture, and with transportation already assured you will find this the place to make a perfect home or a paying investment.
