MARCH MELANGE.

Stray Bits of News Gathered From All Sources.

If you would see the spot, Where perfect quiet is,
Where men set up in business,
But do not do the bit,
All covered o'er with dyes, Just look into the store of him,
Who does not advertise.

Beautiful weather.
Four below freezing last night.

Mr. Prall, the purchaser of the John Irvine place, will move upon his property this week.

We have received a communication by "One of the Jurymen," which we would publish if the writer would make known to us his identity.

Joseph Folco is about to add another story to his East End confectionery store. His soda fountain is now in running order; also the ice cream parlor.

Portland has several cases of small-pox within its limits. The board of health think they have it under control, and there is no fear of an epidemic in the city.

The city council will not meet until some evening this week, as the business which was to be done required further time than was supposed at the last regular session.

The anti-option bill passed both houses, but was killed by a refusal to suspend the rules and agree by a two-thirds vote to the amendments put on the bill by the senate.

Another rumor is to the effect that a paper factory is to be started at Grand Dalles. What is needed there more than glass works, a paper mill or a shoe manufacture is a population factory—even if it would be an infant industry.

The blacking of stoves is a discouraging task, in many instances, but our better-half has discovered that soap mixed with the stove blacking is a great saving of labor and it produces an excellent polish, and is lasting. Try it.— West Side.

Yesterday was a balmy Sabbath, and brought out a very large share of the populace on the streets and out on the hills in quest of early flowers, which are in bloom. We noticed crocuses, polyan-thus and daisies in bloom in some places during our stroll about the city.

The peach crop will be very short this year. Reports from the Walla Walla country, and the Pendleton region show that the peach crop was ruined by the recent cold weather, while the news so far received from the country around The Dalles will show a great decrease occasioned by the cold of the winter.

Stockholders' Meeting.

THE DALLES, Or., March 3, 1893.
Notice is hereby given that there will be a stockholders' meeting of The Dalles, Portland & Astoria Navigation Co. at THE CHRONICLE hall on Tuesday, April 4th, 1893, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing seven directors, and transacting such other business as may properly come before said meeting.
By order of the President,
S. L. Brooks, Sec'y.

Why Not?

The question of operating a canning factory at The Dalles has from time to time been discussed. It would seem that if a factory is profitable anywhere it should be made to pay handsomely here. The Dalles is the central market for a large area of fruit-producing country and it is well known that fruit suitable for canning purposes can be obtained here cheaper than in Portland.
Outside of fruit, there is corn, tomatoes and the like to be considered. A garden in an adjoining county has given out the following on the subject that dovetails into this enterprise exactly: A factory will employ from 100 to 150 people, men, women and children, at from 40c to $2.00 per day, and will use from $100 to $200 worth of raw material per day. It is estimated that an acre of ground, planted in tomatoes will yield the producer from $40 to $180 per acre.
The factory will save during the season $5,000 or $6,000 worth of fruit that would otherwise bring the farmer little or nothing. Two good men can pick and deliver 120 bushels of tomatoes per day.
An average crop per acre is 450 bushels, which, at 20c per bushel is $90. Corn, peas and fruit pay equally well compared with the amount of labor expended. The season between planting and receiving the cash for labor expended is comparatively short, being only about three months. Every patron is paid cash for his product as delivered.
Experience has proved that such a factory properly conducted, of ordinary capacity, is a lasting benefit to the town and community in which it is located.
Farmers and gardeners may ponder these facts and profit by them.

Winter at Fairview.

FAIRVIEW, Or., March 4th, 1893.
EDITOR CHRONICLE:—We people living in this upland country have had some experience with a good-sized winter.
And at present writing we have a good chunk left. The snow is all the way from one to two feet deep, will average about sixteen inches. Our first snow fell here on November sixth, and up to the present it has snowed thirty-three days and rained four, with a total fall of snow of ten feet, three inches. At present it has all the appearance of spring and the snow is going slowly. We have not had any wind to speak of, or the snow would have been gone some time ago. But it is all for the best, as the ground is not frozen and is getting the full benefit of all the moisture, and as it freezes more or less every night if the snow was all off it would be a great damage to the winter wheat. If we do have a good crop this coming season it will not be for the want of moisture. I have lived up here eleven years and I have never seen a failure of crops. Vegetables and fruit of all kinds do well on this high land; in fact better than the most of places on the lower lands and creek bottoms, although the temperature has been as low as ten degrees below. There is no fruit hurt, not so much as a bud. The attention of those looking for homes is called to take a look up here, as there is a chance for a few more settlers who are not afraid to work and make a home, and there are also a few places for sale, cheap, with moderate improvements on them. As our major-domos have returned to their respective homes, after their reign of forty days, quite a shower, not a sufficient flood to mar the commerce of the inland empire, but quite a flood of bills to lay on the table for two years hence. We will give them due notice that they need not lose any time in figuring on the probable cost of an open river, but advise them to figure on the column of loss, as they have lost the support of the people of Eastern Oregon. We will attend to this matter ourselves the next time.

The World's Changes.

A gentleman residing in Pendleton wears as a watch charm a couch shell picked up by a herder on the top of one of the highest buttes in the John Day mountains, far distant from any human habitation and about 5,000 feet above sea level. The shell's presence there is a mystery.—East Oregonian.

On the top of some of the high peaks of the Rockies in Utah are found not one, but millions of impressions of fish upon rocks, showing perfectly their entire anatomy. (The proof is conclusive that the ocean covered them at some time in the world's history.)

PERSONAL MENTION.

Winans intends to construct a new

THE SCHOOL MEETING

The Board's Report Eminently Satisfactory All Around.

THE EAST END SCHOOL HOUSE

S. B. Adams Re-elected Director, Despite His Protest and E. Jacobsen for Clerk.

The upper room of the brick school house was filled with citizens this afternoon at the meeting to elect a school clerk and director, and to listen to the report of the board. S. B. Adams, chairman of the board, made a verbal report eminently satisfactory in all respects. He began by saying: "The board have done all we could do, and that is all there is of it. We have not only been able to pay off the note held by Mr. French to the amount of $2,500, but have reduced the indebtedness from $7,000 to $1610.05. There have also been unusual expenses, the fire of 1891 destroying much school property. We have been under the necessity of taking up considerable pipe and connecting with the new water mains, a cost amounting to $107.05. We have replaced all the trees burned, or nearly so.
The committee have been enabled to make a rate of 7 per cent interest (a very low rate) on the remaining debt of the district, amounting only to $1,600.
We believe that a three-mill tax levied the coming year will be amply sufficient to pay all indebtedness for the year, unless some unexpected indebtedness occurs of which the committee now has no knowledge, or a vote is made on some additional indebtedness."

Replying to the question of a new school house in the East End, Mr.
Adams said: "At the last session nothing was done except to refer the matter back to the committee. I have read the law in regard to this matter and it expressly states that the directors have no power to act in the matter unless sanctioned by a vote at the meeting. They must not only determine as to having a school house, but must say just how much money shall be expended for same; if you are to build must say how much and levy a particular tax. I have heard complaints that some of the children could not attend school on account of the distance, and to these I have said if they would procure a list of such children and raise enough funds to employ a teacher, I would take it upon myself to furnish a school house for them."

Election of officers being announced next in order, Ernest Jacobsen, I. I.
Barget, A. O. Sanford and J. N. Huntington were placed in nomination for clerk. The vote resulted in the election of Jacobsen, who received 41 votes.

For director Mr. S. B. Adams was elected by a unanimous vote, and over his own vigorous protest. A motion was then put by Mr. Jack Elton that the clerk be instructed to call a special meeting for the purpose of levying a tax for building a new school house for the East End; amended by Mr. Mays that the meeting be called to consider the propriety of doing same. The amendment carried but the motion was lost.

A motion then prevailed to levy a 3-mill tax to meet the expenses of the coming year.

Ruch introduced a resolution empowering the directors to borrow money to meet expenses of maintaining schools if necessary. Adopted on motion of Bayard.

On motion of Mays, decided to have nine months' school for the coming year.

Mosier Gleanings.

MOSIER, March 4, 1893.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:—We are having lovely weather down here among the mountains. The wild flowers are popping their little heads up making obeisance to the beautiful spring.

The snow is most all gone, and people are thinking of making garden, planting peas, setting hens, etc.

Messrs. Jas. Brown and James Lewis are in The Dalles on jury.

The people here are generally comfortably well, as far as we know.

Those who were anticipating a crop of peaches will be disappointed, and will have to lay their anticipations by for another year, for they are mostly killed for this year.

A Heroic Engineer.

An article in the Buffalo Evening News describes a terrible wreck caused by a collision recently on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg road, in which Herman Reck, a freight engineer, was travelling, and was killed so fast that the debris that it was necessary to chop his arm off to release him. "He could have saved himself by jumping," says the News, "but like a hero stood by his post, and in consequence received such injuries that he will probably die." The wounded engineer is a brother of Harry C. Reck, of Pendleton.

Death of a Pioneer.

Dr. H. Smith, a pioneer dentist of Salem, and interested from early days in the Santiam mines, died suddenly Saturday morning in that city, aged 79 years.

Another Pioneer Gone Over.

Stanley Umphlett, an old pioneer of Yamhill county and a resident of Amity, died Tuesday morning. In point of age Mr. Umphlett was one of the oldest persons in the county. He came to Oregon in 1850.

DIED.

In this city, March 5th, of spinal meningitis, May Jane, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ferris.
