WHAT WILL BE DONE?

People of Hawaii Are on the Anxious Seat.

OPINIONS SOMEWHAT DIVERSE

How the Queen's Government Fell to Pieces--The Opinion of a Confidant.

HONOLULU, Feb. 13.—The all-absorbing topic of discussion in Hawaii at the present writing is the question of what has been done by the commissioners headed by L. A. Thurston, who were sent to Washington by the provisional government at the time of the dethroning of Queen Liliuokalani to treat for the annexation of these islands to the United States, and what has been accomplished on the other hand by Paul Neumann and Prince David, who went on in the interest of the deposed queen. Opinions as to the course that will be taken by the United States in the matter are as diverse as the many factors in Hawaiian politics. It may be stated as a general proposition, however, that American and German interests in Hawaii strongly urge upon the government at Washington the necessity of protecting the business interests, at least, of the islands by annexing them. Native Hawaiians are divided on the proposition, on one side being an innate love for royalty, affection for Princess Kaiulani, now being educated in England, and pride in the native institutions. On the other side, a desire for greater prosperity and greater enfranchisement which would follow the inauguration of republican rule as one of the American states.

"The queen's government," said Minister Jones, "fell to pieces through sheer weight of its corruption." It is not known who drew up the new constitution which the queen sought to promulgate, but it is stated that she proposed therein to disfranchise the white residents of the islands, that she proposed to abolish the present system of electing nobles on property qualifications, substituting therefor her own power of appointment, and that she proposed to have the supreme court composed principally of Hawaiians subservient to her will. The original draft Minister Jones stated he believed to have been destroyed, for, though strenuous efforts have been made to find this constitution, none but the old ministry had seen it.

Barnes Pleased.

Governor Pennoyer has just received the following from Geo. W. Barnes, of Prineville, which tells its own story: "Hon. Sylvester Pennoyer: Snow blockades have almost isolated us this winter, but it chinked long enough the other day to open a passage for the news that Oregon's cranky governor had vetoed the world's fair appropriation bill and we want to reach across the snow drifts and shake. During the last five or six years nine-tenths of the boy babies born in this county were named Sylvester Pennoyer. When we came to the fork of the roads and you refused to go on with the democratic procession, but poked off in a by path all to yourself, we seriously thought of petitioning the legislature to pass a general bill changing the names of our boy babies, but it is all right now, Sylvester Pennoyer, Brown, Jones, Smith, or whatever else it may be goes. Darn your political gumption, but hurrah for your business sense!"

Federals Defeated.

VASFARAISSO, March 6.—The victories of the federal party in Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, are reported less frequently now and the truth is gradually coming to light. The seizure two weeks ago of a ship laden with arms and ammunition for the federals by the Uruguayan authorities, has so crippled the revolutionists that they have not been able to take advantage of their earlier successes. The federal army, encamped outside of Santa Ana, has been compelled to retire quietly because it has not ammunition and can not take the Castilhistas' stronghold. Meanwhile the Castilhistas are concentrating a large force at Bage and General Tavarez is leading the federal army forward to attack them. If he is successful in this movement against Bage, he will turn his army back and reinforce the besieging forces at Santa Ana. General Saraiva with 1,000 men is marching against San Gabriel, where the Castilhistas have entrenched a strong force. General Tello left Porto Allegre yesterday for Pelotas, and from there will proceed to San Gabriel to assume the command of the government army. He will be in command when General

Saraiva's army begins to attack, and a hot engagement may be expected. It is reported that in an engagement near San Borja, the federal forces were defeated, and that their commander, Col. Simon, was killed.

Earthquake at Umatilla.

UMATILLA, Oregon, March 6.—At three minutes past three o'clock yesterday afternoon an earthquake shock lasting several seconds passed over this section of country. One side of a large stone warehouse tumbled down, and the building was so badly cracked on all sides that it will have to be torn down. D. Harris, agent for the Union Pacific, who was passing the building at the time, barely escaped being buried in the debris.

A Miners' Victory.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—In an opinion delivered by Justice Blatchford, for Chief Justice Fuller, in the case of George A. Pattibone and other striking Coeur d'Alene miners in Idaho against the United States, the court decided in favor of the miners, and directed that the indictments against them be quashed.

No Change at Olympia.

OLYMPIA, March 6.—On the 94th and 95th joint ballots, 104 votes were cast: Allen, rep., 45; Turner, rep., 22; Griggs, dem., 15; Gilman, dem., 9; Van Patten, pop., 9; J. G. Kinnear, rep., 1; B. F. Shaw, rep., 1; State Senator McCroskey, dem., 1; R. O. Dunbar, rep., 1.

Murdered For Money.

Important to School Interests.

The Oregon State School Journal has been purchased by parties who are organizing a stock company. Its name has been changed to the Western Pedagogue, the state school journal of Oregon. O. Elton Blanchard, a teacher well known on the coast, has occupied the editorship, and the prospects for the paper are better than they ever have been before. Mr. Blanchard is an educator and writer of long experience, and has called to his support some of the best educational writers. The new organization has plenty of capital to push the enterprise to a success never before attained. The paper should and will, without the least doubt, receive the hearty support of teachers and school officials of the state. Under these circumstances the organ will serve the school public to a valuable advantage.

Saltin' Stock.

The Ohio farmer gives a sketch of one way of furnishing salt to a herd of cattle in pasture. Instead of throwing it in handfuls on the ground on certain days of the week, after the old method, take a new, sound barrel out into the field, place it upon its side on some dry knoll, where there is no shade, saw out four or five staves between the large or middle hoops, thus giving the animals access to the salt at will, and at the same time leaving a pretty fair protection from the rain to the contents of the barrel. After half or more has been eaten, saw out another stave or two on each side of the opening, thus making it large enough for them to use all that remains. By this plan all the animals in the herd will help themselves to just the quantity they need, whenever they want it, and the waste is much less than by any other method.

Mr. C. F. Davis, editor of the Bloomfield, Iowa, Farmer, says: "I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all sufferers with colds and croup. I have used it in my family for the past two years and have found it the best I ever used for the purposes for which it was intended. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists."

His Arms Were Too Short.

As the last pale rays of the setting sun were shedding their mellow light o'er all the landscape, and flooding the hills and valleys with a soft golden radiance, they cast their dying splendor upon a young and happy couple as they stood upon the ivied porch of an old mansion, listlessly watching the silent shadows of the murmuring trees as they came slowly creeping, like dark phantoms towards them, casting their weird forms over the solemn stillness of the tomb-like house.

They were enjoying the first blissful hours of their newly-found happiness. "George," she said as a look of agony overspread her beautiful face, "George, will you give me a promise, one that will fill my cup of happiness and chase away this terrible doubting that is gnawing at my heart."

"One! a thousand, my darling," he said as he drew the shrinking form still closer to him and planted the fifty-second kiss upon her upturned lips.

"O George! then you won't think me foolish for wanting you to—"

"To what, dear?"

She nestled closer to him and her ivory arms stole around his neck. "To hold me this way when I wear my new crinoline!"

He withdrew his arms from her clinging form, critically measured their length for one brief moment, and then with a despairing yell he rushed forth into the darkness and the wide, wide world.

Crook County.

Ohoho Review.

There has been but little loss of stock in Crook county this winter, and if fair prices are realized for beef, mutton and wool, this will be a prosperous season.

Cattle raisers feel assured, owing to the great amount of moisture in the ground, that there will be an abundance of grass on the range this coming season, and in consequence a large amount of fat beef. Beef buyers should always bear this in mind and look to Crook county for a liberal supply of beef this year.

A representative of the Cape Horn Telegraph Company has written to parties here for information as to the feasibility of establishing a telegraph line between this place and The Dalles. He requests a subsidy of one-half the cost of the line, and says if proper inducements are offered he will visit this place in the interest of the company. A telegraph line from here to The Dalles would be of great convenience to Prineville, but it is hardly probable that the people here would be willing to donate one-half the cost of the line to get it. They would rather donate the other half and own the line themselves.

Joseph V. Dury, of Warsaw, Ill., was troubled with rheumatism and tried a number of different remedies, but says none of them seemed to do him any good; but finally he got hold of one that speedily cured him. He was much pleased with it, and felt sure that others similarly afflicted would like to know what the remedy was that cured him. He states for the benefit of the public that it is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.
