THE FIRE IN BOSTON

Not So Many Lives Lost as at First Supposed.

THE VACILLATIONS OF A BARON

He Is First Expelled by the Socialists and Then by the Anarchists - - - Minor Mention.

BOSTON, Mass., March 11. - The three greatest fires in Boston's history, those of 1872, 1889 and 1893, were all rung from the same box, 52. No change is warranted in the estimates of the loss and insurance sent out last night. Of the property loss of $4,550,000, a little over $1,000,000 is on the buildings and the remainder on the stock. This is covered by an insurance - close to $4,000,000. Firemen searched the ruins all day for the dead. One additional body was found, that of Henry Turner, aged 18, who was one of the employees of the Jaquith Rubber company. Lewis Buck, aged 19, of the same company, is missing. They worked on the fifth floor. It is also believed that the body of Chas. O'Diome, traveling salesman for Redpath Brothers, is in the ruins. A thorough search has been made in the hospital and morgues, but no trace of him can be found. The persons employed by Horace, Partridge & Co., in the building where the fire started, are all accounted for. It was generally believed the bodies of 12 or 15 of them had been buried in the ruins.

SOME INDIVIDUAL LOSSES. T. B. Fitz, a member of the firm of Brown, Durrell & Co., says the stock which was not burned is of such a nature as to be easily injured by water and smoke, so that they have nothing left but the insurance. He thinks it will take $1,200,000 to make them whole. The damage to the United States hotel is placed by the management at $50,000.

A Vacillating Baron. NEW YORK, March 12. - Great was the joy of the enemies of Johann Most today when it was learned that a real live baron, who had become an anarchist of the goriest type and was Most's right bower for months, had been expelled from Most's organization. The expelled nobleman was the Baron von Barnekon, who came to this country from Germany about 18 months ago with recommendations from Neidringlup. The socialists received him with open arms and he became a writer for the socialist organ, the Volkszeitung, attacking the anarchists and proclaiming socialism an ideal destiny of humanity. When the baron had been writing for several months, Mr. Gronsig, one of the editors, found several items charged against himself for dinners and beer in saloons and restaurants, which he said he could not account for. A little investigation showed, he says, that the baron had represented himself as Gronsig and had been feeding himself under that name. There were explanations, recriminations and oratorical blue fire at this discovery, and after a very stormy meeting the baron was expelled from the socialist labor party.

He went over to Most and became a writer for Freiheit. He outdid Most himself in his diatribes against socialism, which he described as a concentration of the worst evils of capitalism. About a week ago Most went out to collect some money for advertisements procured by the baron. He found, he says, that the baron had been there before him and collected the money without the formality of accounting for it. This was reported to Most's anarchists organization.

evening what price the agent will name to hold the Australian 48 hours"

Postmaster Backus conferred at once with Spreckles, and the terms named were evidently satisfactory, for the post-office department has telegraphed Mr. Spreckles agreeing to his terms and asking that the Australian be held until Friday.

An Ingenious Prisoner. It is seldom that a convict turns the hours of his enforced confinement to such good purpose as an inmate of a Maryland prison. His term of imprisonment is thirteen years, on a conviction of horse stealing, of which he insists he was innocent. By working overtime he has earned such sums of money as to enable him to purchase books, of which his cell contains over 200. A short time ago, when electric light wires were being placed in the prison, he became interested in electricity and bought some standard works on the subject. The result was the construction of half a dozen different electrical appliances, including a burglar alarm, which he has just completed for the bedroom of the warden of the prison.

Another result of his industry is a lock which is so arranged that hammering on it drives the bolts deeper into their fastening. He exhibited a model of this lock to the warden, who was so pleased with it that it was at once adopted for use in the prison. Castings for the locks were made in the prison foundry, a lathe was set up in the prisoner's cell and he was relieved of all other tasks so that his entire time could be devoted to the manufacture of his locks, with which in a short time all the dormitories of the prison will be provided. - Exchange.

Against the Insurance Company. A merchant who was a member of a mutual accident insurance association was killed, while hunting for recreation, from an accidental shot. The association provided for the payment of sums ranging from $5,000 to $500, according to the occupation of the member. Merchants' certificates call for $5,000; but the company paid the beneficiaries of the man in question only $500, on the strength of a provision that any member receiving an injury while engaged temporarily in another occupation more hazardous than the one given in his certificate, he shall be entitled only to such sum as provided for in the occupation in which he is engaged at the time of injury.

The Illinois supreme court held that the beneficiaries were entitled to the whole $5,000, as the word "occupation" in the bylaw has reference to trade, vocation or profession, and does not preclude a member from the performance of acts which are simply incidents connected with the daily life of men in all pursuits. - St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FOR SALE. One lot, with a good dwelling and out-buildings situated west of the Academy grounds, and fronting Liberty street on the east, is for sale at a bargain. Terms easy. Apply at this office for information. Title perfect.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12. - From Washington arrangements have been made with Spreckles Bros. to hold the steamer Australia, which was to have sailed for Honolulu Wednesday. The following dispatch was received late yesterday from Superintendent of Foreign Mails Brooks by Postmaster Backus: "Please ascertain and advise me this dispatch regarding the Hawaiian treaty, the Washington correspondent of a morning paper says that a gentleman closely connected with the administration is authority for the statement that the Hawaiian matter will be taken up immediately by Judge Gresham, and that a message transmitting a treaty of some kind will be sent to the senate during the present special session. This gentleman, who is in a position to know, said further that the treaty would be an annexation line, although radically different in its terms from the Harrison treaty. The features that would be added, he stated, would leave no possible chance for the sugar syndicate to reap any benefits, which will relieve the United States from any financial responsibility for the support of the islands. In other words, the attitude of this administration is not unfavorable to annexation, but is opposed to the Harrison treaty, because it is thought to have been too hastily drawn, and not full and definite enough in its scope to properly protect the interests of our government.

The Rush Ready. SAN FRANCISCO, March 12. - The revenue cutter Richard Rush is lying in the stream off the foot of Clay street with fires banked and ready at a moment's notice to sail for any port she may be ordered to. The Rush is under special orders from Washington, D. C. What her destination is there is no way of telling positively, but it is more than likely that the revenue cutter is bound for Honolulu, and that besides dispatches she may take down a senatorial committee to investigate matters at the islands. Captain Hooper has been ordered to prepare the Rush immediately for a 2,500-mile voyage to extend over two months, and to hold the vessel under waiting orders.
