Senator John P. Jones, now in New York city, says that he does not expect to see harmony exist during the next assumed enormous proportions. The year between the administration and largest shipment in this line ever made the senate regarding the financial question. He said: "the treasury department and the United States senate do not agree on the gold and silver questions, and naturally I look for friction. I am not familiar with Mr. Cleveland's financial policy, but I do not think that he is especially pleased because the senate finance committee has a majority in favor of silver. The committee is in favor of a silver policy, and after carefully looking over the ground I do not think that the next congress will pass the Sherman repeal bill. The gold scare we had recently was a newly manufactured article; it was of a kind I never before heard of. Heretofore all financial scares have been brought about when money was scarce, and the panie did some harm. The recent gold scare was shouted about and forced upon the people when money could be had in abundance, and no harm was done. There was no occasion for a scare. One kind of money is as good as another to the American people so long as we are not on a single basis. If we come to a gold standard, of course we shall need more gold, but it would not cause much relief to issue a few bonds. All we want is plenty of money to carry on business and pay good wages, and we have that money in silver."

The bodies of one or two of the cholers patients that died on the infected steamers in New York bay last autumn were buried in quicklime. The bodies were placed in a pine box; the box was filled with quicklime, slaked with water. By that means the infection germs were destroyed and the corpses rendered harmless. If bodies of those dying from such diseases as smallpox, typhus, cholera and diphtheria were disposed of in a similar manner, the poisoning of air and soil through deadly contagion would be greatly diminished. Such burial would not shock the sensibilities of those having a prejudice against cremation. Eminent medical authorities have decided, however, that cremation should be the method of disposition of such corpses, in all cases, if possible. The burial in quicklime would be an effectual means of getting rid of the bodies of animals that had died of contagious diseases, such as glanders, pleuro-pneumonia and swine plague.

Robert Louis Stevenson, the famous novelist, is dying, despite his trip to Samoa in search of renewed health. He has consumption, and it is said that his excesses in cigarette-smoking have greatly aggravated the disease. He is a Scotchman by birth, and is now about 43 years of age. His affection for his native land is shown by reference to boyhood incidents in his book "Edinburgh: Picturesque Notes." He was educated at Cambridge, and studied law, but never practiced. His father is Thomas Stevenson, an inspector of lighthouses, and to him one of the author's books is prettily dedicated. "The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," familiar to all readers of fiction. is considered a masterpiece in that lineof literature. It is much to be regretted that he should sacrifice his bright, original genius to so pernicious a habit as that which has ruined his health.

Since Uncle Sam may take Hawaii under his wing, the question is asked: "What is a protectorate?" To this the New York Sun replies: "So far as we can make out it means that the United States shall take the responsibility without the power of governing the Sandwich islands. If the Hawaiians get into a rumpus with England or Germany or France or Japan or among themselves, the United States will do the fighting and pay the piper. The protectorate seems to be somewhat one-sided.

It Should Be in Every House.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, that, it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of "la grippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for lung trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at Snipes & Kinersly's. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

A Movable Sidewalk.

An experimental sidewalk is now in operation in Chicago. It consists of two movable platforms, 300 feet long, moving side by side in the same direction, one at a speed of three, the other at six miles per hour. It has carried 500 persons at one time, and seems to be a success. It will be used at the World's fair -New York Times.

Shut the door against disease. Danger comes oftenest through impure blood. Keep your blood in order, and you keep in health. For this, nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood, and rouses every organ into healthy ac-tion. By this means it cures. Every part of the system feels its saving influence. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Scrofulous, Skin and Scalp Diseases—even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula) in its earlier stages, all yield to it. It's the only Liver, Blood and Lung Remedy that's guaranteed to benefit or over or the money is refit or cure, or the money is re-funded. Trying terms to sell on -but it's a medicine that can carry them out.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol to inebriate, and no syrup or sugar to derange digestion.

It's a concentrated vegetable extract; put up in large bottles; pleasant to the taste, and equally good for adults or children.

EXTRACTS FROM THE DAILY PRESS:

From the Daily Chronicle of Feb. 18th. Of Interest to Merchants.

The suit of A. S. Collins and Mrs. A. S. Collins against H. Herbring of this city, which was to come before the jury yesterday morning, was again postponed. This suit against one of our oldest and best-known dry goods merchants creates considerable comment in commercial circles. It appears that Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Col-ilus obtained under false pretenses and promises at the end of the year 1891, goods to the amount of $50.80 from the defendant; but instead of paying the bill, as agreed, they shortly afterwards left the city by night and moved to California. Last spring Mr. Herbring learned that all their proceedings were not technically legal. The razor-edge technicalities of law, we presume, will always remain, but it works great hardships on creditors, in many instances, to be de-barred from collecting their just claims from the commission of a clerical error or the misiaterpretation of a dubious statutory provision.
