DOUBLE TAXATION.

We do not believe that the courts of Oregon will sustain the decision of any tax twice on the same property vitiates by Snipes & Kinersly, druggists. the whole assessment roll. This is contrary to the constitutional requirement that all taxation must be equal and uniform, and contrary to the spirit of the statutes. Taken in connection with the repeal of deduction for debt in the same law, the plain intent of the repeal of the mortgage tax law is that mortgages upon land which has already paid full tax shall not be taxed at ali.

Any double taxation is unjust. Taxation of the same person on the same property twice is outrageous. This is the effect of all taxation of credits. It is the plain effect when the owner of the land covenants in a mortgage deed to pay all taxes upon the loan for which it is security. It is none the less the effect when there is no covenant. In that case, the lender of the money simply adds enough to the interest or commissions to cover all possible taxation.

Great service has been done the people of Oregon by the law authorizing the borrower of money to covenant to pay taxes on the debt in the mortgage deed. This makes it clear to the dullest mind that tax levied on a debt is paid by the borrower. This principle is no more true of the loan carrying such a covenant than of all loans. The borrower in the former case merely agrees in set terms to do that which he does in all cases; he merely pays direct to the taxcollector what, in other cases, the bor- it's recommended, the "Favorrower pays through the lender in form ite Prescription" is guaranteed of added interest, bonus or commission. It is a fixed and universal principle that to give satisfaction. If there's every tax laid upon a debt is paid by the borrower. The covenant in the mort-does all that's claimed for it, gage deed simply makes the operation of this principle plain to the mind incapable of close reasoning. Since deduction for debt is abolished. it is unjust to tax any form of credit, whether a mortgage note, a bank note, bills receivable or a book account. In bills receivable or a book account. In every case, the tax so levied upon the creditor is passed on to the debtor, in form of greater charges for the loan. This is double taxation, because the security on which the credit was granted, whether land, collateral, personal property or a commercial business, has been taxed already as property. It is alike unjust to tax all forms of credit, but the injustice is made glaring and palpable where the bond itself which secures the loan bears evidence that the borrower, who has already paid tax on the property, agrees to pay whatever tax may be levied on the debt. We believe the courts will sustain those assessors who refuse to levy this double tax, in violation alike of the requirement that all taxation shall be equal and uniform, and of the spirit of the new law repealing deduction for debt and the specific provision for taxation of mortgages.-Oregonian.

A man has been arrested in Fortland for stealing a turkey 20 years old. The anthorities intend to send him to iail. What's the matter with an insane asylum?

Hurry up the Columbia River Glass Works. A firm of glass bottle manufacturers in Salem, N. J., has accepted an English order for its wares, the first shipment consisting of 1,000 gross of long necked bottles ordered by Lea & Perrin, manufacturers of Worcestershire sauce.

A reaction has set in against pugilism, which will tend, if continued, to rid the arena of fistic encounters. Two deaths within a year caused by "punishment," and the general disreputable character of prize fights, with all the accompanying license to kindred vices, will cause public opinion to be directed against them. The great and glorious nation can afford to lose this feature of its amusement.

That part of the Lord's prayer reading "lead us not into temptation" does not apply to the Oregon way of catching prisoners for selling whisky to Indians. This is our way: Select some povertystricken wretch, driven almost to desperation for the want of a dollar or two: send to him an Indian with a $5 bill in one hand and an empty bottle in the other, pleading for him to be a gobetween between the Indian and the drugstore, telling him he can have what is left after buying a pint of whisky; when he comes out with the liquor, nab him and bring the Indian and the Address all communication to "THE CHRON-ICLE," The Dalles, Oregon. nesses. This is a beautiful way to en-OREGON AT THE WORLD'S FAIR. courage innocent people to engage in a life of crime, for rare is it that he who after being once branded with the stigma of being a "jail-bird," has the moral hardihood to break away from a course of wrong-daing forced upon him. "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil "is thus rendered "Lead us into temptation and encourage us to evil."

Mining Commissioner C. W. Ayer is showing commendable zeal in preparing for the mining exhibit at the world's fair. His example is infectious, and he reports that from one mine he received $200 worth of ore, which is simply wonderful to look at. Two hundred and fifty pounds of similar ore yielded $5,000, and this is fully as rich. Also that a man went up in the Siskiyou mountains on snowshoes to get some coal and will office hours 9 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M. on snowshoes to get some coal, and will bring it down on his back.

A. A. Brown,

The New Town has been platted on the old camp ground, at the Forks and pure cold water and shade in profusion, perfect drainage, delightful mountain climate, the central attraction as a mountain summer resort and for all Oregon, being the nearest town to Mt. Hood. It is also unparalled as a manufacturing center, being the nearest town to Mt. Hood. It is also unparalled as a manufacturing center, being the natural center for 150 square miles of the best cedar and first timber, possessing millions of horse power in its dashing streams and waterfalls, easily harnessed. Where cheap motive power exists, there the manufactories will center, surrounded by soil and climate that cannot be excelled anywhere for fruit and agriculture, and with transportation already assur you will find this the place to make a perfect home or a paying investment.

See me on the ground, or address me at Hood River, Wasco County, Oregon.
